JURY STILL OUT IN OBENCHAIN CASE

LOS ANGELES, July 29—The jury in the second trial of Mrs. Madalynn Obenchain for the alleged murder of her sweetheart, J. Belton Kennedy, a young broker at Beverly Glen still was undecided early today after having had the case since 4 p. m., yesterday.

The five men and seven women who at 10 o'clock last night retired to rooms prepared for them immediately above the courtroom were reported at that time to stand six to six on a verdict.

While the jury was deliberating, Mrs. Obenchain declared she was confident of acquittal but that the strain was severe.

BUDGET COMMISSION HOLDS UP SUPT. DOHERTY'S PAY

Says He Is Not Entitled to Compensation for 17-Day Period From Time of Vote of Removal by Temporary Board to Reinstatement by Messrs. Murphy, Leary and Bowers---Mayor Upholds Action

Superintendent of Streets Harry P. Doherty is not entitled to pay for the period in which he was considered removed from office, according to a vote passed today by the budget and audit commission, the substance of which was sent to Mayor Brown. Shortly after the receipt of the letter the mayor sent a letter to City Auditor Daniel E. Martin in which he said that he would sustain the commission in its action.

Supt. Doherty was removed from office on June 30 by a temporary board of public service consisting of Messrs. Cloantre, MacKenzie and Bowers, with the latter not voting. Just previous, Messrs. Murphy and Leary of the board had been removed by the mayor for their failure to remove Doherty from office.

Later the city council reinstated Mr. Murphy and Mr. Leary, who in turn returned Mr. Doherty to office.

According to the vote taken by the

ASPHALT IN STATE OF COMA

Mayor Refuses to Sign Requisition and Murphy Will Not Change It

May Result in Abandonment of 1922 Asphalt Paving Program

As the situation now stands it begins to look as if the city would have to get along without its sheet asphalt work for this summer, at least. At the present time the mayor and board of public service are at loggerheads over the requisition order which provides for the work being done.

Mayor Brown says that he refuses to sign the requisition as it now reads, while Dennis J. Murphy, chairman of the board of public service, said this morning that the board would not change the wording of the requisition. Mr. Murphy added that the work was only being carried out according to the mayor's wishes and

PIGS IS PIGS SAY THOSE WHO LIVE NEARBY

People who live in the neighborhood of the Chelmsford Street hospital are dissatisfied with the maintenance of a city piggery in that locality and through Councilor Arthur B. Chadwick today filed a petition with the board of health seeking to have the alleged nuisance removed.

The petition was signed by 200 people who claim that the odors emanating from the piggery were most offensive and not conducive to good health.

It develops that a number of years ago, the piggery was established when there were but few houses in its neighborhood. Since that time a number of houses have been built and the section is thickly populated. While there were only a small number of pigs in the piggery at first, there are nearly 200 of them kept there at the present time, one for each petitioner.

The petition will be brought up before the Monday meeting of the board of health and it is probable that it will reach the city council in the near future. The city owns some land farther out and it is suggested that the piggery be removed to it.

MAN CHARGED WITH ABDUCTION

G. W. Tice, of Framingham, Held in Bonds for Superior Court Session

Is Alleged to Have Led 10-Year-Old Girl Away From So. Common

Today's session of district court, with Judge Thomas J. Enright presiding, brought out a number of serious offences, those which were tried on the spot bringing severe sentences. Illegal sale and keeping of liquor, keeping a liquor nuisance and other charges of the same sort were in the majority, but an abduction case involving a ten-year-old girl was the center of interest.

In the abduction trial, George W. Tice of Framingham, a man well along in his thirties, apparently, was charged with enticing a pretty little ten-year-old miss from the South common to the St. Charles hotel in Middlesex street. He was followed, according to the testimony, by an officer, who

Sec. Hoover Discusses Plans for Priorities on Cars to Producing Mines

Henry B. Spencer to Be Known as Federal Fuel Distributor

WASHINGTON, July 29.—All producing coal mines of the country will be given first call on railroad coal cars as soon as the organization of the administration's emergency fuel control machine is completed, it was announced today by Secretary Hoover, chairman of the federal coal distribution committee.

The priorities on cars to producing mines will be passed upon by the distribution committee, Mr. Hoover said so that all coal may be obtained under the fair prices agreed upon to prevent profiteering. The secretary said it would then be up to the states to maintain prices within their boundaries by

ANOTHER LETTER IN THE MUNICIPAL SERIES

Another letter of the series being written back and forth between Mayor George H. Brown and Dennis J. Murphy, chairman of the board of public service, relative to the affairs of the board in general, came today from the pen of Mr. Murphy. It was written in reply to the mayor's letter of yesterday.

Today Mr. Murphy states that the records of the board meeting of July 17 are being furnished to His Honor as the latter requested. The letter, which follows, deals at length with the matter of employment.

Lowell, Mass., July 29, 1922.

Hon. George H. Brown,

Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Your letter of July 28, 1922, received by me from the city messenger late last night, and I beg to acknowledge the same.

Wage Reductions at Tremont and Suffolk and Boott Mills Expected to Come Within Next Fortnight

Wage reductions will be announced at the Tremont & Suffolk and Boott mills within a short time it was learned officially this morning. The amount of the cut in each mill or the date of their announcement could not be learned, but it is expected that something definite along that line will be given out within a fortnight.

The Tremont & Suffolk mills are now going through a period of rushing business, particularly in the blanket departments and for the past few weeks the number of employes has been increased to such an extent that the payroll of the company is now practically normal. It was also learned that business is picking up in the hosiery plant connected with the mill and that additional help are being employed every day.

At the Boott mill business has been at a standstill for a long time, but signs of improvement are beginning to show. A local mill official stated today that irrespective of statements issued at the strike headquarters to the effect that there will be no wage reductions at the Tremont & Suffolk, Boott and Appleton, these companies will have to fall in line with the other textile mills of the city in reducing their production expenses if they wish to continue in business and he also stated that it is fair to assume that orders of a wage cut are expected any day from headquarters in Boston.

Commenting upon textile conditions in general this morning, Chairman John Hanley of the strike committee said if the mill officials are willing to properly feed, clothe and shelter the strikers, they will all return to work. "We are not asking for wages that will eventually make us rich men," he continued, "but we want a living wage, and if the mill officials who have reduced wages 42½ per cent. during the past 18 months believe that we can live on what they are willing to pay us, we are willing to go back to work and not accept one dollar in wages, providing they will serve us good quality food, clothe us properly and supply us with comfortable living quarters. All we ask for is a square deal and here is a chance for the mill managers to show us and the public at large how we can make both ends meet with the wages they are offering us."

It is expected there will be a large gathering at the mass meeting to be held on the South common tomorrow evening. The meeting will be called at 7 o'clock by John Hanley and the speakers will be John L. Campos of Fall River, who will address the gathering in the Portuguese language; Thomas J. Reagan, Charles E. Anderson and the following members of the Boston & Maine Federated Crafts: Walter H. Chandler, Thomas F. Golding and J. Clancy.

Mayor Places Stamp of Approval on Macadam and Sewer Loans Totalling $55,000

Mayor Brown today vetoed the $50,000 loan for additional fire apparatus, which was authorized by the city council at a recent meeting. The veto was signed this morning and sent to the office of City Clerk Stephen C. Flynn shortly before noon. He did not, however, veto the $25,000 macadam loan or the $30,000 sewer loan which were also authorized by the city council at the $220,000 meeting, as previously he had said he would do.

It was only yesterday that the mayor took the three orders from his desk and handed them to City Solicitor Tierney with instructions to prepare veto measures for each one. He took time to explain to Mr. Tierney his reasons for each veto.

At that time he said the main reason for his action was that he thought the departments had plenty of money to carry on work. Today he gave as his reasons for signing the measures that he thought the departments might need the money before the year was out.

While he placed his stamp of disapproval upon the fire apparatus measure he said this morning that he would approve a loan for an order to install a new alarm system here. He estimated that an up-to-date system would cost not less than $140,000. He said he would approve of a loan of $50,000 this year to go towards the new project.

Coal Mining To Be Resumed Aug. 1

CHICAGO, July 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Coal mining will be resumed Aug. 1 in three small fields controlled by the Kentucky-Tennessee Coal Operators' association under an agreement said to be the first reached between the unions and operators since the coal strike began. Miners of District No. 19 did not join the strike remaining at work by agreement. The new contract provides an increase in pay.

LOWELL COAL RECEIPTS HALF OF NORMAL

Due to the coal strike, Lowell has received only 15,000 tons of anthracite coal during the months of April, May and June, according to Fuel Administrator John M. O'Donoghue. Ordinarily the city receives 10,000 tons a month, so that at present the city is getting only one-half of its necessary allotment. The coal year begins April 1, and at that time there were 17,000 tons of anthracite coal at hand throughout the city. Since that time shipments have been received that have increased that amount to 35,000 tons. The greatest shortage is in the stove and nut sizes.

Mr. O'Donoghue says that he anticipates no shortage here as the prospects of the strike being settled by the government in a short time are bright. There is a supply of pea and buckwheat sizes available at present and he suggests that it might be well to put in a stock of these sizes of coal, rather than to wait, in order to offset any emergency that might arise. He also says that it is possible to mix soft coal with the hard and obtain very fine results from such a mixture. He offers this suggestion so that the people might conserve the supply they have in their homes.

FOR RECOGNITION OF LOYAL MEN

N. Y. Chamber of Commerce Appeals for Railroad Shopmen Now at Work

Urges Full Recognition to Men Who Kept Trains Moving During Strike

NEW YORK, July 29.—The chamber of commerce of the state of New York today wired President Harding a request that, in negotiating a rail strike settlement, he "give full recognition to the loyal railroad employes, who, during this assault upon established government and the life of the nation, kept trains moving and have thereby given courage to all who believe in support of the laws of the land and the peaceable settlement of industrial disputes."

The message closely followed an announcement by L. F. Loree, president of the Dalaware & Hudson, and chairman of the Eastern Railway president's conference that he had sent telegrams to United States Senators Wadsworth and Calder of New York, declaring "the president has made no effort to inform himself as to the position of more than 175,000 shopmen now on the railroads' payrolls, whose interests are vitally at stake."

"More than 15,000 of these men are in your own state," said Mr. Loree's message to the senators. "Naturally they will look to you to see that their interests are safeguarded."

Attacks Harding's Plan

CINCINNATI, July 29.—The proposed plan for settlement of the nation-wide railroad strike was attacked today by H. A. Worcester, vice president of the Big Four railroad system, who declared that if the striking shopmen were granted seniority it would mean that the railway executives had "lied" to the new men when they were engaged to fill the places of the striking shopmen.

Mr. Worcester declared that "to grant seniority to the striking shopmen who left their jobs July 1, means that the new men who have been engaged to take their places and have been promised permanent jobs, will have to be turned out."

No Serious Friction

With regard to the reported friction existing between the supervisors of recreational work on the city's playgrounds, and teachers of the school department who were engaged for six weeks to teach industrial subjects, Supt. Hugh J. Molloy of the latter department gives out the following statement: "Any apparent conflict between different city departments is a very simple matter which can be adjusted easily. The school department is co-operating to the fullest possible extent in the summer work for children."

Volleyball Games

The volleyball team of Shedd park, captained by Emma McEntee, defeated the Butler team, led by Alice Wittemore, yesterday afternoon on the Shedd Park grounds by the score of 21 to 8.

GIRLS' BASEBALL LEAGUE

Baseball has assumed an important position on the schedule of activities for the girls on the city playgrounds this year. The young girls have become very much enthused with the game and have formed three leagues. A definite schedule of games has been mapped out, calling for one game at least between each team of the same league, an interleague series; and the city championship on August 10. It is possible that an inter-city championship series may be played with the leading teams of the Lawrence and Haverhill playgrounds at the conclusion of the season.

GERMANY GIVEN 10 DAYS TO SIGN

PARIS, July 29—(By A. P.)—Germany has been given 10 days in which formally to accept the decision of the allied clearing office in refusing to reduce the monthly payments made by the German government to the allies for debts contracted by German nationals with allied citizens prior to the war.

Germany in connection with her recent request for a moratorium, asked that this monthly instalment of £2,000,00 be reduced to £500,000 because of the difficulty in purchasing the foreign exchange necessary to make the payments.

DE VALERA DISAPPEARS

Report Irish Republican Leader on Way to U. S. Seen Carrying a Rifle

NEW YORK, July 29.—There is a well-defined rumor in circulation in this city that Eamonn de Valera has left Ireland secretly and taken passage on a ship bound for the United States. It is known that De Valera has not been seen with the tattered remnants of the republican army in Ireland for several days.

It is believed by many of his friends that he has made his way to an Irish seaport and escaped from the country in order to seek sympathy and financial support in America for the anti-treaty faction.

Seen Carrying Rifle

DUBLIN, July 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Travelers in Dublin today who said they saw Eamon de Valera at Clonmel early this week declared he was carrying a rifle and that he looked worn and haggard.

Today's National army communique announces that Free State troops captured the village of Bruree, two miles from Kilmallock, last night, together with the insurgent occupants of the village and their arms and ammunition. The irregulars had established a strong position there after their retreat from Limerick.

Glenvegh Castle, which for some time has been the headquarters of irregulars in County Donegal and from which they have conducted constant raids by roving bands, was captured by national troops yesterday.

Sean O'Ceallaigh, former Irish representative in Paris, has been rearrested here.

COL. GASTON DENIES HE PLANS TO SHIFT

BOSTON, July 29.—The rumor that Col. William A. Gaston is now a candidate for United States senator from Massachusetts, would withdraw from that contest and become a candidate for the nomination for governor has been heard from time to time in the past few weeks, but Col. Gaston has declared it to be untrue. Even if Col. Gaston had an inclination to change the field of his political fight he would find it difficult to do so now, and there is no reason for supposing that such a plan has entered his mind.

Most of the politicians were greatly surprised when Col. Gaston announced a few weeks ago that he would run for the senate. It was no secret that he had cherished the ambition to be governor, like his father before him, and the general understanding was that he would be a candidate for governor this year. The story is that Col. Gaston and his friends looked into the political situation at the time when Atty. Gen. Allen was on the top wave of popularity, made up their minds that Mr. Allen would be a candidate for the republican nomination for governor, and decided that the attorney general could not be defeated at the election if he won the nomination. Thereupon, so the report goes, Col. Gaston determined to run for senator.

SAYS SEARLES MARRIED LOWELL GIRL

BOSTON, July 29.—Albert Victor Searles, writer and artist, and nephew of the late Edward J. Searles, Methuen millionaire, was married to Miss Charlotte Boulliater of Lowell last November. News of the marriage, which took place in Pennsylvania, was confirmed today by attorney Sherman L. Whipple, counsel for Mr. Searles. Mr. and Mrs. Searles are now on a pleasure trip to Nova Scotia.

Searles several months ago received $6,000,000 from the $50,000,000 estate of his uncle. He was recently made the defendant in a $2,000,000 breach of promise suit brought by Mary Johnson of Rockport.

The Lowell directory shows no Miss Charlotte Boulliater. The name nearest to it is Boulleater, but there is no Charlotte.

STEEPLE JACK FATALLY HURT

Two Men at Work on Chimney Hurled to Ground by Lightning Bolt

Chas. Peters Has Every Bone in Body Broken—Is Dying in Hospital

BOSTON, July 29.—Two steeplejacks were plunged headlong down a 125-foot shaft in Willimansett when the brick chimney was struck by lightning, several women fainted during a panic in a street car hit by a lightning bolt and heavy damage was caused to tobacco crops in the western part of the state, during a severe electrical and hail storm, late yesterday.

Greater Boston escaped with only a slight touch of the storm, the fury of which lashed all the western section of Massachusetts for more than an hour.

Charles Peters of Willimansett and his apprentice, Raymond Tremblay of Chicopee street, Springfield, were working on a staging 125 feet up inside the chimney of the Willimansett branch of the Springfield Brewery company, yesterday afternoon, when a lightning bolt crashed through the brick tower almost at their heads.

Knocked from the staging, the men tumbled down the shaft while workers screamed in horror. Peters' form landed on the hard concrete bottom, most of the bones in his body being broken. He was unconscious but alive when fellow workers got to him.

Breaks Tremblay's Fall

To the daring and presence of mind of one of the workmen, young Tremblay owes his life. As his form toppled down the shaft, turning over and over, the workman, whose name was not learned, reached out to catch the falling youth. His body was falling with too much speed, and the would-be rescuer could not hold it, but the workman had broken the fall of Tremblay and the young man escaped death or frightful injury.

At the Holyoke hospital, where both men were taken, doctors said Peters has only a slight chance for recovery. Tremblay, however, will live, the doctors predicted.

The tower was struck during the height of the storm, which raged unabated for more than an hour, with lightning flashes zig-zagging from one building to another and throwing terror into women and children.

In Chicopee Falls a street car was struck by lightning and a panic among the passengers ensued. Several women collapsed during the stampede to gain the door of the car, which was enveloped in flame. The fire was quickly extinguished and no one seriously injured.

The tower of the Notre Dame church in Southbridge was struck by a lightning bolt and part of the roofing shattered. Great alarm was felt for a time as it was feared the new $50,000 church organ in the tower had been ruined. An examination, however, revealed the organ and the almost priceless collection of paintings in the edifice to be unharmed. Damage to the tower was placed at $500.

Tobacco crops suffered particularly from the hail, while vegetable and fruit gardens were destroyed in many sections.

At Dover, N. H., two men were injured and property damage of $3000 was done, when lightning set fire to and destroyed the barn on the Jacob Young farm here. Roscoe Thompson was severely burned while rescuing horses, one of which could not be saved and was burned. James Mulligan was badly hurt when the automobile in which he and a fireman were going to the blaze skidded and hit a pole. He was taken to a hospital with a severed artery. John Barry, the fireman, was unhurt. Forty tons of hay were burned.

RETAIL MERCHANTS

On account of the small attendance at their last meeting, due to a misunderstanding concerning the date, a second meeting of the Lowell retail merchants will be held next Wednesday, Aug. 2, at 10 a. m. in the rooms of the chamber of commerce. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss coming co-operative sales events and it is hoped that a large gathering of merchants will be on hand.

REED AND LONG WIND UP BITTER CAMPAIGN

ST. LOUIS, July 29. (By the Associated Press).—United States Senator James A. Reed and Breckenridge Long, third assistant secretary of state during the Wilson administration, tonight will close their campaigns for democratic senatorial nomination to be decided at the primary election next Tuesday. Veteran politicians agree their contest has been one of the bitterest waged in Missouri.

The democratic contest has drawn so much attention during the last three months that little significance has been attached to the contest among the six republican candidates.

Senator Reed's supporters are expecting many votes from the ranks of the ex-soldiers because of his fight for the national soldier bonus.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and his record as national food administrator during the war, the League of Nations and other issues opposed in the senate by Senator Reed, have formed the basis of Reed's campaign. Woodrow Wilson felt the sting of the typical Reed wit and oratory when he appealed to the voters of the state to defeat Senator Reed.

CLOUDBURSTS AND RAINS CAUSE GREAT DAMAGE

DENVER, Colo., July 29.—Cloudbursts and heavy rains yesterday sent Cherry Creek and the Platte river several feet above normal stage, drove many families from their homes, caused serious damage and in some instances destruction of bridges and highways and marooned many motorists on mountain roads radiating from Denver.

The cloudburst which caused greatest alarm here occurred late in the afternoon at Parker, Colo., 25 miles southeast. Bridges were washed away and in some section where the creek overflowed its banks, residents sought safety in higher ground.

The greatest damage done in Denver was at Globeville, a suburb, where many homes were flooded and considerable damage done to packing plants.

SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR ECONOMIC TREASON

MOSCOW, July 29.—Four employes of the Nobel Oil company, defendants in a trial for economic treason, have been sentenced to death by the revolutionary tribunal. One of them is Johan Harmsen, a Dutch subject in charge of the Nobel company's Russian interests, who was accused of counter revolutionary activities and also of sending information abroad detrimental to the soviet government.

Four bandits, three of them brothers, who terrorized Moscow inhabitants by looting stores and holding up pedestrians at night last winter, were also sentenced to death.

SMALL WOOL CLIP IN ARGENTINA

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Argentina's wool clip which begins next September is expected to be the smallest in the 20th century, according to a survey issued today by the commerce department. Sheep grazing in Argentina, the department found, has dropper from 74,380,000 in 1895 to 44,865,000 in 1918 and to between 25,000,000 and 35,000,000 at the present time.

It is not likely, the department declared, that this year's clip in Argentina will produce more than 180,000,000 pounds of wool, or approximately 130,000 bales, of which only 13,500 bales will be first class merino. Coincident with the decline in the number of sheep, there has been a steady adoption of cross-breeding, merino in northeastern Argentina having been almost entirely superseded by crossbreds, so that at the present time very little merino wool is produced.

The decline in the clip for next year from the 1921-1923 wool clip, which was estimated at 200,000,000 pounds, was said by the department to be the result of the low price for sheep wool since the autumn of 1920.

At the present time the department stated, Argentina is the second largest wool exporting country in the world.

Missing Submarines Are Accounted For

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—All 12 of the submarines en route from Los Angeles to Hampton Roads, Va., under convoy of the tender Beaver, were said at the local submarine base to be accounted for today. Two of the submersibles are out of commission and are being towed, it was said, but no serious trouble is being experienced. Early reports to the effect that four of the submarines were missing grew out of the statement of Captain Thomas W. Sheridan, master of the liner City of Honolulu, that he had sighted a badly smoking submarine off the Lower California coast.

113 Newspapers Owned by Negroes

WASHINGTON, July 29.—There are 113 newspapers and 14 magazines in the United States owned and directed by negroes, the department of labor announced today as the result of a recent inquiry. Nearly 1300 employes, of which 61 are white workers, manage the publications, which include 96 secular, 23 religious and eight fraternal, published weekly, monthly and daily. Sixty-three of the publications, the department stated, maintain and operate their own press and an additional seven conduct work of a book or job nature.

Search for Bonds Valued at $60,000

BOSTON, July 29.—A search for bonds said to be valued at between $50,000 and $60,000, believed to be a part of the loot of a big robbery, was begun by the police today, following the arrest of Bernard J. McDonald, a stock salesman of this city as he was attempting to dispose of coupons valued at $1100 in a Devonshire street bond house. McDonald was held on suspicion, but the police said he would be charged with the larceny of the coupons on his appearance in court.

NEGRO TAKEN OFF TRAIN AND SHOT TO DEATH

TEXARKANA, Tex., July 29.—Authorities today were without a clew to the identity of the band of 100 men who yesterday shot to death John West, negro, near Guernsey, Ark., after a quarrel between West and Henry Worthington, paving foreman.

West and Worthington came to blows after a dispute over a drinking cup, both using sledge hammers, but neither was seriously injured. West later was said to have been warned to leave town and he boarded a train at Hope, bound for Texarkana. When the train reached Guernsey, half a dozen men went aboard and took the negro off. The men were joined by about 90 others and after taking their captive a short distance from the track shot him to death.

GARLAND FUND TO AID STARVING MINERS

NEW YORK, July 29.—The first appropriation out of the $800,000 given to the new American fund for public service by Charles Garland, young Massachusetts idealist who is giving away his inherited fortune, will go to the relief of starving miners in the Western Pennsylvania coal fields.

The appropriation, amounting to $2000, was authorized by the board of directors yesterday at their first meeting, young Garland being present.

For a time the principal of the fund established by Garland "for the benefit of mankind" will remain intact, only the income being used for appropriations. To determine how best to spend the money, four committees will survey the fields of (1) Periodicals and publications; (2) Educational campaigns for new ideas; (3) Experimental educational institutions, and (4) Research, particularly in industry and economics.

WOMAN CANDIDATE EXPECTS TO WIN

TOPEKA, July 29. (By Associated Press.)—Exercising the inalienable right of women to change her mind—even though she be a candidate for governor—Miss Helen Pettigrew no longer admits that defeat dwells within her camp in the primary election contest for the republican gubernatorial nomination, on August 1. She is one of seven candidates.

"I'll be nominated by 30,000 plurality," asserted the young—and good looking—candidate.

Something of a rude awakening is due staid and puritanic Kansas, according to Miss Pettigrew's prediction, for the main plank in her platform is "the return of beer and light wines." Of course, she admits she does not intend to put this over single handed. She recognizes that as the matter now stands, the issue of staging a come-back for beer and light wines would necessarily be national rather than state.

"But I want to show up the sentiment—right here in Kansas, where prohibition has prevailed for more than 40 years," Miss Pettigrew declares. "I guess with my nomination, then congress will recognize the demand to give the people what they want surely exists even in greater strength in other states.

"The Kansas druggists are prohibited from selling whiskey on prescription. The sick people of Kansas should be allowed whiskey for medicinal purposes, as the people of other states are. I favor the repeal of the 18th amendment or its modification to permit use of beer and light wines, as they are of medicinal value.

"I advocate resubmission of the issue of the sale of liquor in Kansas. I stand for the people and against rapacious prohibition fanatics and blue sky fanatics."

Miss Pettigrew is founder of Kansas City's Anti-War club. She is in favor of a state bonus for soldiers to be voted upon at the November election. Running for office is a most enjoyable diversion, she says, especially making campaign speeches and meeting the people.

PELLETIER FILES NECESSARY PAPERS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 29.—Former District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier yesterday filed with the secretary of state the full quota of names permitted by law for the democratic nomination for district attorney of Suffolk.

In addition to this fight for his old position of district attorney, Mr. Pelletier will fight the law passed this year which states that no man can be elected to the office of district attorney unless he is a qualified, bona fide, practising attorney.

The names for referendum on this new anti-Pelletier law will be filed within a few days, Pelletier says. Because of the tremendous work of certifying names for all of the various candidates, the certification on the referendum has been delayed.

Under the law candidates must file not later than August 4, whereas the names on the referendum need not be filed until two weeks later.

CONGESTION IN PORTS

Interferes With Exportation of British Coal to America, Says London

LONDON, July 29. (By the Associated Press.)—Congestion in British ports is beginning to threaten interference with the exportation of coal to America, which has taken such a boom since the beginning of the strike of the American coal miners. This is particularly true of Wales and Northumberland, where there is a superabundance of tonnage but where the facilities for loading are inadequate.

The loading facilities are limited by the two-shift arrangement which the dock workers imposed upon their employers during the war and which they have since refused to alter, the result being that loading is entirely suspended for six or seven hours out of every 24.

One result of this congestion has been curtailment in freight rates, which in some cases dropped from 16 and 17 shillings to 12 shillings 6 pence per ton between Thursday and Friday, another result is the apparent tendency on the part of American buyers to withhold further orders for a while pending developments in America.

Nowhere is there reported any general support among British miners of the action taken by the Welsh unit of the miners' federation which declared against the exportation of coal to the United States.

FAILS TO FIND HORRORS OF HOLLYWOOD

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors' Association of America, has failed after a close study of motion picture studios here, to find "the horrors of Hollywood", he told the Hollywood chamber of commerce at a dinner last night.

"The one bad influence in Hollywood is talk," said Mr. Hays.

"We must remove the reason for lies about the industry," he continued. "Our's is a duty to youth. We are not so much interested in the millions of dollars invested in the industry, as we are in the millions of children whose morals and education are invested in it."

Jesse L. Lasky told of a visit he made to Europe to view sites from which to choose a possible successor to Hollywood "as a world center for motion picture production."

"When I reported to Mr. Hays," said Mr. Lasky, "I told him that no matter what was said about Hollywood, it was the only place in the world for motion picture production center."

MATHILDE M'CORMICK SAILS FOR EUROPE

NEW YORK, July 29—Mathilde McCormick, daughter of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, sailed on the Majestic today, with a maid as her only companion. She declined to discuss her plans to marry Max Oser, Swiss riding academy master, to whom she announced her engagement last spring; to say where she would visit in Europe, or how long she would remain there.

Also on the Majestic but in quarters some distance from Mathilde, was her uncle, Cyrus H. McCormick, chairman of the board of directors of the International Harvester Co.

"I am not interested in the affairs of other people," he replied to questions concerning Mathilde. "I don't care what my brother's family does."

Budget Commission

budget and audit commission today Mr. Doherty is entitled to pay only from July 18 to July 31 inclusive, said sum amounting to $99.72. Mr. Doherty will not be paid for the other 17 days of the month, according to the edict of the commission.

The letter to the mayor from the commission follows:

July 29, 1922.

Hon. George H. Brown, Mayor,
Lowell, Mass.

My dear Mr. Mayor: We would respectfully recommend that payment of salary to Harry P. Doherty as superintendent of streets be withheld from period of removal by temporary board of public service to time of reinstatement by present board of public service. In accordance with vote passed by present board of public service on July 17, 1922, Mr. Doherty was instructed to take up his duties as superintendent of streets immediately. Therefore, it is our opinion that Mr. Doherty is entitled to 14 days' salary, namely from July 18 to July 31, inclusive, amounting to $99.72.

Respectfully,
Budget and Auditing Commission,
TYLER A. STEVENS, Chairman

Following is the mayor's letter to the auditor, upholding the budget commission's vote:

Lowell, Mass., July 29, 1922.

Mr. Daniel E. Martin, City Auditor,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: I am in receipt of a letter from the budget and auditing commission holding up Mr. Doherty's salary. I will sustain the budget and auditing commission on the ground that according to paragraph 3, section 30: "The board shall remove for cause the superintendent of street and sewer work." Mr. Doherty was removed by the board of public service and did not ask for a hearing within the prescribed time, providing that he was entitled to the same.

By a vote of the board of public service July 17 Mr. Doherty was instructed to take up his duties as superintendent of streets, as the board did not believe that he was legally discharged, the secretary to notify the city auditor to this effect.

And, further, on the ground that the public service board did not comply with paragraph 3, I hereby direct you to hold up the whole amount.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE H. BROWN,
Mayor of Lowell.

CLEARING HOUSE BANKS

POINCARE SLIPS OUT OF PARIS BY AUTO

PARIS, July 29. (By the Associated Press.)—All Paris was surprised this morning, when it became known that Premier Poincare had slipped quietly out of the city by automobile for his country home in the department of the Meuse, early today.

It had been announced last night that the premier had left by train for his week-end holiday. Elaborate precautions were taken at the railway station when he was supposed to have departed and it was said an engine had preceded the train to prevent a possible attempt to wreck it.

It was learned today, however, that a quick change had been made in the plans in order to avert any attempt on the premier's life which might be made in connection with the announcement yesterday that a German monarchist plot to assassinate him was in existence.

It is understood the premier is planning to carry out his original intention of participating in the unveiling of the war memorial in the Argonne tomorrow, near his country home at Campigny, and that before leaving Paris the premier had discussed the alleged plot and the precautions considered advisable.

Poincare Unperturbed

PARIS, July 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Unperturbed b ythe information made public yesterday that an attempt was being plotted in German monarchist circles to assassinate him, Premier Poincare is planning to carry out his original intention of participating in the unveiling of a war memorial in the Argonne tomorrow near his country home at Sampigny.

Before leaving Paris last night, the premier discussed the alleged plot and the precautions considered advisable with the new prefect of police, M. Naudin, and with Minister of the Interior Maunury. The reported plot is understood to be the work of the Monarchist Association known as the "Consul." Encouraged by its success in planning the removal of former German Minister of Finance Erzberger and former Foreign Minister Rathenau, the association, according to the report made to the French foreign office, decided to extend its scope beyond the German frontier and selected Premier Poincare as the first victim.

At the time of the assassination of Dr. Rathenau a report was current in Berlin that the next victim would be Dr. Joseph Wirth, the German chancellor, and the French premier, but no attention was paid to the report here at the time.

The information which reached the French government yesterday, it was made known today, was from the Belgian government, not through the Berlin police as was first stated.

Coal Receipts Half of Normal

the prevention of resales and profiteering.

Mr. Hoover plans to make public soon proposals being sent to all of the states for the organization of local fuel control bodies. The federal plan contemplates that each state shall take the entire responsibility for distribution and prices within its boundaries, while the federal government will see to it that the states get coal from the operators at fair prices.

The secretary stated that Henry B. Spencer, the administrative member of the president's committee, is to be known as the federal fuel distributor and not as an administrator as, he explained, was erroneously announced yesterday. The government, Mr. Hoover stated, is not re-establishing the old war-time fuel administration system, but is chiefly concerned in the equitable distribution of coal.

The plans for emergency organization to be sent to the states, practically all of which have responded to the coal committee's appeal, Mr. Hoover said, will not be uniform, but adapted to the administrative needs of each state as conditions in New England, along the Great Lakes, the Inter-Mountain territory and states having a surplus of coal all vary. States far from coal centers, he declared, must be accorded greater transportation facilities than those nearer the producing fields. As an instance, he asserted, New England must be given advanced priorities over states like Indiana, Illinois or Ohio, in order to insure adequate distribution.

Mr. Hoover also announced that he had asked all bunkering companies along the Atlantic coast to bunker ships only to the next port of call and after Aug. 1 to require all foreign ships to bunker for the round trip abroad.

COAL ADMINISTRATOR NAMED BY HARDING

WASHINGTON, July 29. (By the Associated Press).—Henry B. Spencer, former vice president of the Southern railway and general purchasing agent for the war-time railroad administration, last night was appointed federal coal administrator for the duration of the present strike emergency by President Harding.

Mr. Spencer becomes administrative member of the coal distribution committee, which will control distribution of available coal supplies on a priority basis to essential industries and utilities.

With the announcement of creation of the office of coal administrator, confidence was expressed at the White House that the production of coal, regardless of rail and mine strikes, eventually would be increased to the point where it would be adequate for the country's needs. President Harding felt so assured on this point, it was said, that he contemplated no further move in the coal strike situation.

Secretary Hoover, who announced Mr. Spencer's selection by President Harding for the vacancy on the central committee, made public also names of operators from coal producing districts so far designated as members of the advisory committee, which is a part of the federal organization for maintaining coal prices and insuring fuel distribution.

The governors of 23 states, Mr. Hoover announced, have undertaken to erect the necessary administration to control profiteering and distribution of coal within their borders.

States which have reported steps to set up this machinery include Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Minnesota, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Iowa, Oklahoma, Florida Kentucky, Tennessee and Louisiana.

The Norfolk & Western, Chesapeake & Ohio, the Louisville & Nashville three railroads which traverse important coal producing sections, today reported institution of embargoes over their lines against all freight except foodstuffs, livestock and fuel.

While it was made clear at the White House that the administration supervision of coal distribution would be directed to the end that the fuel supply might be equitably divided among all users entitled to consideration, it was added that no objection would be made if state authorities went ahead—as has been the case in Indiana and Michigan—with separate efforts to provide coal for the people with in their jurisdiction.

Farrington Expected to Join

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, was expected to join the other district presidents of the central competitive soft coal fields in their conferences with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, here today.

William Greene, international secretary-treasurer of the miners' union, and John Moore, a representative of the miners, were also expected to attend the meetings. Mr. Moore was said to have met a number of operators yesterday in Cleveland and, according to some of the union leaders, here, the mine owners outlined a proposition that may form a basis for a new wage agreement.

Prospects of Peace Bright

President Lewis continued optimistic today regarding an early settlement of the coal strike. Reports, he said, from many district leaders in the field indicated that the operators were ready to enter an interstate conference with the miners. He had every reason to believe, he said, that such a conference would be called within a few days. Prospects of peace in both the anthracite and bituminous fields, Mr. Lewis declared, were bright. The miners' chief, however, said that no steps would be taken to bring the anthracite suspension to an end until an agreement is reached in the soft coal regions.

Wage Increase for Miners

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 29.—A wage agreement grapling $2.50 a day increase to 6000 miners in 25 operations in the Kentucky-Tennessee field, was negotiated at Cincinnati yesterday, between the unions and the Kentucky-Tennessee coal operators' association, according to a statement given out here by District No. 19 headquarters of the United Mine workers, made public today.

Another Letter in Series

of our board to furnish you with a copy of those records. The records are always open to your inspection as well as to any citizen of the city of Lowell.

On the question of the veracity of the chairman on matters contained in the letter of the board of public service to you, I shall leave that matter entirely in the hands of the public, who know both of us and are in a position to judge as to the truth contained in those statements.

For a long time you appeared to be deeply interested as to who should or who should not be employed by the board of public service in the various departments under their jurisdiction. Prior to your election you promised the voters that as soon as you were elected you would institute means for the relief of the unemployed of our city; subsequently you appointed or enlarged a committee of unemployment to do something for the unemployed. As yet your efforts and the efforts of your committee have been without any tangible results, and notwithstanding your protestations of relieving the unemployed, you are interfering with the progress of the work of our departments by your various criticisms of the employment of some of the unemployed of our city.

If you are desirous of doing something for the unemployed, I would suggest that you sell the "pink limousine," so-called, as well as the extra Buick car which are worth in the vicinity of $2500 to $3000, and have this money transferred to the street maintenance department, and this will give employment to 250 men for one week.

I would further suggest, in the interest of economy, that you refrain from paying chauffeurs in your department out of the water-takers' money.

I have no political aspirations in the city of Lowell at the present time, my sole interest as it is the interest of our board, being to serve the people of the city according to our best judgment.

You are comfortably situated, as mayor of the city of Lowell, with a high priced car and $5000 in salary, while the unemployed of our city are knocking at the doors of the board of public service for money to provide sustenance for themselves and their families. They are not interested in any political correspondence between you and myself as this will not produce a dollar to put food in their dinner pails.

With your anxiety for the unemployed, I am reminded of a poem I once read, which is very apropos to this case.

Here Mr. Murphy quotes the lengthy poem describing a banquet of wealthy men who decided they should do something for the unemployed and laboring men.

The last stanza was as follows:

"I move you, Mr. Chairman,
And my eyes are filled with tears,
For the Laboring Men of Lowell Town
We give three hearty cheers."

In conclusion it seems to me that all the laboring men are getting from your department is three cheers. The only tangible thing that they are getting is from the board of public service in their various departments, and as nothing further is to be gained on the subject which is of any benefit to the tax-payers of the City of Lowell, I shall personally consider this matter as closed.

Very truly yours,
DENNIS J. MURPHY.

ESCAPES FROM CAPTORS

Son of American Consular Agent Who Was Kidnapped Flees After Fight

SAGUAGE LA GRANDE, Cuba, July 29.—Eugene Jova, son of the American consular agent here, who was kidnapped yesterday by bandits and held for $20,000 ransom, escaped from his captors early today after a fight in which he was wounded, according to the chief of police here.

The chief said he believed he had the bandits surrounded.

United After 40 Years of Separation

Standing, Mrs. Orilla DeMange; Sitting, Mrs. Rose Melette.

A happy reunion occurred at 44 Rock street this week, when Mrs. Joseph DeMange of this city and Mrs. Charles Melette of Easthampton, sisters, were reunited after a separation of 40 years, during which period each believed the other dead. It was two score years ago when the sisters left their Canadian home for this country.

Both were married shortly after coming to this country, and strangely enough each chose the old Bay State as the place in which to make her home. Miss Orilla Plant came to this city and was married to the late Mr. DeMange, while Miss Rose Plant was married to Mr. Melette and finally established her home in the western part of the state.

Before coming to Massachusetts the sisters went to a small town in Connecticut where they obtained employment in a mill. After working there but a short while Mrs. Melette went back to Canada. It was then the sisters lost track of one another.

In the period of years during which the couple have been separated, repeated efforts were made by each to get in touch with the other. Until recently these efforts failed and, as time wore on, each thought the other dead.

A short while ago Mrs. DeMange's son-in-law, with whom she lives, wrote to the parish priest in Canada and through him Mrs. Melette was located. The sisters then exchanged letters and photographs.

Recently Mrs. Melette walked in on Mrs. DeMange unannounced. Neither of the sisters recognized the other. Both were overjoyed and wept in each other's arms. Mrs. DeMange is 72 years old, and Mrs. Melette, who recently celebrated the 25th anniversary of her wedding, is 69.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL FILED TOO LATE

CAMBRIDGE, July 29.—Superior Court Judge Louis S. Cox ruled today that the motion for a new trial filed by counsel for Rocco Scichitani, under death sentence for the murder of Patrolman Thomas J. Riley, had been filed too late.

This ruling leaves Scichitani recourse only to the governor's council. He was sentenced to die in the electric chair on June 11, but received two reprieves. The second extends until August 11. The motion for a new trial was based on newly discovered evidence. Riley was fatally shot in November, 1920.

Man Charged With Abduction

found the door locked and had much difficulty in gaining admission.

Attorney Joseph P. Donahue appeared for the government and Richard Brabrook Walsh for the defence. In the testimony by Tice and the child, it was brought out that the man had been sitting on a bench on the common with the child nearby. He had a small ring in a plush box in his hands. He claimed that he had told the little girl that he loved little girls and that he knew her and her parents, had known them for years, in fact. He admitted that he is a married man, with one child.

Tice said that he does embroidery work and that he has done this work since a child. He had some excellent samples of his work in the hotel room and invited the little girl to go and see them.

Mrs. Tice was present and took the stand, saying that she has been married to Tice for 13 years and that they have done embroidery work together, which they do not sell.

Officer Owen Conway told of following the man and child to the hotel and entering after them. He lagged along behind until they were in the room and then knocked for admittance. Receiving no answer and finding the door locked, he peeped through the keyhole and saw the man sitting on the edge of the bed and the little girl on a chair nearby. Asked in regard to this, he said he was showing the child some of his samples.

When asked to show the ring which he had in a velvet box when he met the child he exhibited a ring on his finger. Capt. David Petrie took the stand and said it was not the ring he had shown him at the station. The ring shown the captain was a child's ring, not more than 25 cents in value, with a little red stone in it.

A woman who saw the little girl and man leave the common together, and a little girl, also a witness, testified.

COURT DISMISSES NEW HAVEN'S APPLICATION

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 8.—Judge E. S. Thomas in the United States district court this noon, granted the motion to dismiss the application of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad for a temporary injunction against its striking shopmen and others, and dissolved the restraining order which was issued on July 19. Counsel for the New Haven road said later that they would consider whether or not to appeal from Judge Thomas' decision or start proceedings again.

The ground of denial of the motion was that raised by counsel for the strikers that the papers in the case were full of errors.

Asphalt in State of Coma

that if he didn't see fit to sign the requisition the board would go ahead with some other work and he gave the assurance that it had plenty of work to do at the present time. He concluded by saying that if the mayor saw fit to hold up the work it was his lookout and not any matter for the board to take up.

As the time is growing short in which to do the work, and, as no definite move has been made to engage the workmen or obtain the material, the proposition may be done away with for this summer.

The mayor said today that he has no disagreement with the board of public service over the matter of asphalt paving if the city by city labor is to do 90 per cent. of the work and the contractor simply to furnish the material and experts to oversee its application.

The board contends that it never has anticipated or planned contract labor and that the requisition now before the mayor, while not going into detail regarding the work, is not for the purpose of bringing in outside labor to lay the asphaltic preparation to be used.

The mayor contends that he can construe the requisition to mean but one thing—contract labor—while on the other hand, the public service board says it means no such thing.

San Diego County Clerk Issues 8000th Marriage License to Herself

MRS. CHARLES DUFFY

(By N.E.A. Service)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 29.—Mary McMullen, four years ago, became this county's official cupid.

At that time she secured employment in the clerk's office and on her first day at work issued her first marriage license.

The couple tittered their way out and Mary quite determinedly said:

"Not for me. I'll never marry!"

Pass two years. Mary issues the four-thousandth marriage license from her desk. Enters Charles Duffy as a court clerk in another department of the echoing old courthouse.

Says Mary again: "Marry? I've never thought about it."

Another two years. Another four thousand marriage licenses issued by Mary—that is, to be exact, 3,999.

Then Duffy whispered something into Mary's ear. Mary was receptive.

BOY WHO PULLED TOY GUN ON OFFICERS SHOT

DETROIT, July 29.—Harry Watson, ten years old, tried to "bluff" two policemen with his toy pistol, but the officers, believing the boy's weapon genuine, fired upon him, and Harry is now in a hospital.

The boy had escaped from the juvenile detention home and the officers were ordered to arrest him. Locating him in a nearby alley, they called upon him to surrender. He drew the toy pistol from his pocket and warned the patrolmen he was about to fire. The officers then shot into the air and the boy fled. As his pursuers gained upon him, he stopped and again pointed his toy pistol with a warning, whereupon he was shot in the shoulder.

Railroad Strike

railway shopmen entered its fifth week today, the outook for peace was regarded as bright and in rail circles here the belief was expressed that the walkout would not last into the sixth week.

Meetings were set for Tuesday both by the rail chiefs and workers on strike, at which time President Harding's plan for a settlement was expected to be acted upon.

The president's plans were not made public. However, it became known that it embraced settlement of all the strikers' grievances except the wage question, which would be submitted to the Railroad Labor board for a rehearing.

"Under the plan, as outlined, the president's stand for recognition of the rights of the men now at work would be carried out. Union shopmen who did not strike would be placed at the head of the railroad's seniority list which means that they would be assured of permanent work, since in slack times the workers at the foot of the lists are the first to be laid off. Union shopmen who went on strike would be placed next on the list, and after them would come the men hired by the roads since the strike began.

Western railroads have been insistent that men now at work should be placed at the head of seniority lists, asserting that if their rights were not thus recognized there would be no incentive for men to stay at work in the event of a strike in the future.

Also included in the president's plan it is understood was elimination of outside contract repair work by the railroads.

Wages Left to Labor Board

The wage question would be left to the labor board, the striking shopmen to recognize the board's wage reduction decision and return to work with the assurance that their case would receive prompt attention by the board. In addition, the administration is understood to have assured the shopmen that it would make every effort to have labor sections of the Esch-Cummins bill amended so that the labor board may be directed to fix the pay of the workers "on a living wage basis."

While union chiefs and rail heads were presumed to be on the verge of making peace, violence was slightly increased in strike areas, reports indicated.

Violence On Increase

Thirty colored laborers were said to have disappeared from the Chicago and Northwestern shops at Milwaukee after a number of shops were fired in the vicinity.

A non-union employe of the Wabash was beaten and another kidnapped at Chicago.

Two workmen in railroad shops at Montgomery, Ala., were beaten by eight men alleged to be strikers.

A non-union shop worker at Roseville, Cal., was seized while walking with his wife. He was carried out of the town in an automobile beaten and warned to stop work.

Federal Officer Slugged

A deputy federal marshal on guard at the Missouri Pacific roundhouse at Jefferson City, Mo., was slugged into unconsciousness by three men.

A mob at Janesville, Wis., surrounded a roundhouse of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, where 10 non-union men were at work, and compelled the men to run from the building. Women and girls in the mob threw stones at the workers.

Striking shopmen of the Mobile & Ohio were said to have taken charge of the shops at West Point, Miss., and driven out new employes.

At St. Louis, two guards of the Missouri Pacific and a blacksmith of the Terminal Railroad were stoned and beaten.

Troops at Erie, Pa., were stationed about the homes of several men who remained at work following attacks in which the men's homes were stoned.

Details of Plan Withheld

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Details of the rail strike settlement plan drawn up by President Harding and to be considered at separate meetings of railroad executives and union officials at New York and Chicago next Tuesday were still withheld today but the president was said to feel that they offered a basis upon which the two sides should be able to come to an early agreement.

After announcing that the general strike committee of the shop crafts unions on strike would be convened in Chicago to consider the proposals on the same day the rail heads meet in New York for that purpose, B. M. Jewell, leader of the shopmen and international officers of the unions left here for Chicago last night apparently prepared to recommend favorable action by the committee. That the spokesmen of the rail executives who have conferred with the president would have the same favorable recommendation to make, however, appeared improbable today, with the seniority issue looming in that quarter as the doubtful point.

To Reopen Car Shops

CONCORD, N. H., July 29.—Boston & Maine officials today said it was very probable that the railroad repair shops here closed since the beginning of the shopmen's strike, would be reopened in a few days, with a force of at least 500 mechanics. Many men have been given employment in the past few days and applications for work are numerous, according to the statement, due to the recent closing of machine shops elsewhere. At Billerica, Mass., it was added, more mechanics have sought employment than can be given and some of them may be sent here.

Refuses to Arbitrate

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 29.—President Herbert G. Tulley of the International Railway Co., in a letter to the members of Mayor Schwab's investigating committee today refused to arbitrate differences between the company and its carmen which have tied up city and interurban traffic for four weeks.

The men yesterday agreed to return to work pending arbitration.

American Farmer Sees Prosperity Ahead as He Slowly Emerges From 20-Month Slack Period

BY JAMES B. HOLM

The American farmer is coming back.

He is beginning to emerge, from the tremendous slough of despair and suffering in which he has floundered for the past 20 months. His head is once more above water and he feels that the crisis is past. He believes better times are coming, although almost imperceptibly slow.

The farmer himself says this.

In a 2500-mile trip through the heart of agricultural America I have learned the true conditions from the man with the hoe and the man behind the plow. I have talked with the "dirt farmer," the rich and poor landlord and tenant, with the country banker and the county farm bureau agent.

I have learned first-hand of the tremendous struggle the farmer has had to make both ends meet during the past year and a half.

Literally, the farmer has suffered not only from want of the comforts but of the necessities of life, that America and the world might eat.

It was told how the value of his land shot downward with a thud that meant ruin to many who had toiled years for a little gain. I learned how prices of crops and produce faded away; how many were gouged and swindled by profiteers; how there was suffering for lack of the comforts of life; how the young men left the farm for the city and how crops were lost for want of help to harvest them; how the farmer's morale was shot to pieces.

For a year or more he felt himself a beaten man for whom the future held but little.

Now his courage has returned. He has faced about with the light of a new spirit in his eye.

The practical American farmer is not claiming that prosperity is here. Far from it. But he believes it is on the way, slowly coming nearer every day.

All Optimistic

I heard everywhere, "We lost money last year. This year we expect to break even or perhaps make a little money. Things look better."

All this is of tremendous importance to the country. Farming is by far the largest of all the nation's activities. They call it the basic business or industry of the country and maintain there can be no lasting prosperity until the farmer is prosperous and contented. With the farmer prosperous and spending his money, the whole country should then experience better times.

In this swing through the "garden of America," I learned of men who had virtually worked for nothing in the past year if a fair rate of interest be allowed on their investment. Or, if a very small wage be allowed to them as workers, then their farm as a business, lost money.

I was told of men, supposedly wealthy through inheritance of rich farms, clear of debt, who had to borrow money enough to pay their taxes. They couldn't make enough from their farms.

Families were found whose cash income would not exceed $200 for the year, in addition, of course, to rent and a part of their food.

These do not mean extreme cases, such as the shiftless, the ignorant and the unfortunate. With hard work, good crop returns and good luck, still there was no money to be made.

Pre-war prices for his crops and war-time prices for his machinery, groceries, clothing, etc., were a bad combination.

Said an Indiana farmer: "It's bad enough when a man has no work and therefore no pay. But it's worse yet when you put in full time and get no pay for what you do."

Usually Secretive

The average farmer is curiously secretive about his financial income. Sometimes it is because he himself doesn't know and hates to admit it.

But I talked with many farmers in Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio about their income. It was always the same.

"I couldn't make a decent living last year," they would say.

United States government reports, based on surveys in 1916, showed the average farm income then to be about $600 per year, of which $200 was in cash. This was in the best three agricultural states.

New surveys are being made this year. No report is yet available, but it will show a change for the worse. The farmer may be taking in the same amount of money as before, but it goes only half as far.

If $600 was the average income in 1916, the income of those below the average can be readily imagined. In some cases it was as low as $300. A family nowadays doesn't live very high on $300 per year.

Reasons for Change

The reasons for the change of feeling by the farmer are varied. No single thing seems to have caused the change.

Some think recent small price rises will continue—to the benefit of the farmer.

Some expect considerable benefit from recent legislation forced by the farm bloc in congress.

Many believe the growth of co-operative buying and selling enterprises will help much.

The activities of the farm bureau and government agencies in educating the farmer to produce more economically will help wonderfully, so many believe.

Money is easier to get at the banks, too, which will also be of help.

At any rate the farmer is in the right frame of mind for better things this year.

Frank Fulkerson owns over 600 acres of land in Jersey county, Illinois. He lives on and operates one of his farms. He is a shrewd business man, a keen thinker and strictly up-to-the-minute in farm methods. If there's a way to make more money on the farm Fulkerson goes after it. Yet, he says he lost money last year.

Says Fulkerson:

"The farmer is a business man as well as a worker. He must figure a depreciation fund as well as interest on investment. What city business man would be content with 3 or 4 per cent profit each year? But it is impossible for a farmer to make more than 3 or 4 per cent even under ideal conditions. Last year we didn't make even 4 per cent. As a business we lost money.

"The farmer is worse off now than ever before. His morale is gone. He's about busted and doesn't know where he is at, but conditions, I think, are slowly changing for the better."

Lands New Laws

Fulkerson attaches considerable importance to the new laws enacted by congress last winter to help agriculture.

Tom Reilly, who owns and runs a general farm in the hills of Clark county, Missouri, put most of the blames of the farmer's plight on the city man.

"The town merchant and manufacturer are still trying to hang on to their big war-time profits and the city worker is trying to keep his war-time wages, while the farmer has taken his cut and a big one, too.

"We have no kick on a reduction if everybody else gets the same. But for the farmer to get his income sliced off while other classes stay up, is not right. The farmer can't even make his interest in normal times, to say nothing about the present."

In Clark county I learned harvest hands were being offered $1.50 per day and board. One man of 70 told me he was shocking wheat at $1 per day. The average cash farm income here was put between $300 and $100.

Haffeldinger Bros. of Butler, Ind., agreed that they hadn't made anything but a living the past year. They own a couple of hundred acres of land.

"We are hopeful, though," they said. "Things are getting better. Labor is easier around here. More men are willing to work on the farms now."

In Kentucky they are pinning their faith on the activities of the tobacco pool, a co-operative selling arrangement. The burley men formed their pool more than a year ago, and the black-leaf men are organizing now. Last year, by agreement, the tobacco acreage was kept low. The price rose.

More tobacco will be raised this year, but through an intelligent marketing system the growers hope to keep the price stable. They have an iron-bound agreement among themselves.

Taxes Too High

Albert Lang of Lee county, Iowa, told of a neighbor who owned two quarter sections of land, which he rented at $1800 each. The taxes on one farm amounted to an even $1300, and on the other just a little in excess of $1300, so the owner lost money by merely owning the farms.

"Taxes are too high," said Lang. "They are ruining us. Nobody can break even, now. Those town fellows make us a little bit tired. The farmer worked hard before the war, he worked during the war, and he's hard at work now. That's more than the other fellow can say.

"The city man doesn't appreciate the hard work, the worry, the, risk and chance the farmer takes. During the war everybody wanted to help the farmer. They did—a little. When the war was over they dropped him like a hot potato."

Lang told of a man who for three days ran a threshing machine in daylight, then went into the field and shocked wheat by moonlight until 2 o'clock in the morning. He did it because he couldn't get help.

A new force has appeared in agricultural America and its strength is felt everywhere. This is the American farm bureau federation and its more visible instrument, the county agent system.

In the county agent, the farmer has an alert, clear-headed young fellow, who can, and does, do him a lot of good. The vast majority of the farmers are glad to receive the benefit of the agent's assistance.

Quite often the county leader is the real leader of the farming community. He generally has a better idea of what the farmer is doing than the farmer himself.

"The biggest problem before the farmer today," said County Agent C. A. Buechner of Laporte, Ind., "is the most economic production of crops. The farmer hasn't really begun to learn, yet, how crops can be produced most effectively and cheaply."

System Needed

Said County Agent W. R. Eastment of Mound City, Ill., located in one of the so-called "poor counties" of the state:

"Farmers have lost money in the past year. The future is still uncertain but it looks better than it did. The salvation of the farmer is to learn what are the best crops for him to grow and how to grow them. The hit-or-miss system, which his father or grandfather followed, does not get him anything."

So far, it looks like a good year for crops. The wheat crop is nearly all harvested and it is good. Reports from states visited and from Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas, tell of wheat in abundance.

The price of corn was low last year and the corn belt will have a smaller acreage this year. How the crop will turn out depends on the weather in July and August. Other crops appear to be abundant.

From the appearance of the fields and barnyards, there are still plenty of porkers to fill the needs of the nation.

I heard but little complaint about the inability of farmers to obtain bank loans. Money is easier now, they say, and the right kind of man can usually get loans at his home bank at a fair rate of interest, usually 7 per cent. The government loan system, they say, has acted as a stimulant to local banks.

So the farmer is pulling up his galluses, spitting on his hands and taking a fresh hold on the plow-handle. There is a better time coming for him, he is sure.

SUMMER TRAINING CAMPS COULD ADMIT BUT 27,000 APPLICANTS

Senator Walsh's Hard Fight Against Tariff Iniquities---Women Placed in Diplomatic Positions---20,000 Widows in Washington

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—Does someone ask, "How does the summer training camp work out this year?"

Well, it's something like this. Uncle Sam says to the college men and other eligibles, "You keep right on with your studies, but while doing so I want you to wear my uniform part of the time. You take up military science as one of your studies and I'll pay you for it." So the student takes up a course of military training, and in return gets his uniform, instruction in a summer camp, the price of his rations and obtains a genuine vacation in the open air at the same time. Many a college man is paying his room rent through the year and more out of what Uncle Sam gives him. Moreover, the camp dove-tails right in with the general plan for national defense and equips thousands of young men to meet emergencies if they arise.

It's a broad program that the war department has in mind but the funds are small and it's a modified Plattsburg plan that is being put into effect this year on that account. Very likely the next congress will realize that while 60,000 young men applied for admission to the camps this year, only 27,000 could be admitted. It is evident the country has a "waiting list" of sturdy young fellows who want to join the civilian army of the United States. In contrast to the small amount appropriated by congress for such military training, Canada made provision for taking 100,000 young men into such camps this year.

In 1917 the 30 days' training camps at Plattsburg, Fort Sheridan and other stations ran full speed from May till August with many thousand fellows, mostly college men and undergraduates, grinding their way through the training mill, picking up information and learning the tricks of the military trade as they went along.

A long list of those men were in the front line in France making officers of whom the United States was justly proud.

Military Work in Colleges

This year 227 colleges or preparatory schools will furnish military training for the nine months from September to June. The Stars and Stripes will fly from poles in college and school yards; there will be officers and non-commissioned men to give instruction and for at least one hour daily the fellows will wear Uncle Sam's uniform and establish a miniature military post. It is a sort of all the year 'round edition of what summer camps give in a course of intensive training. Or reverse the viewpoint, and you will see a summer camp turned into a college campus. Graduation from such a course at college will give a man a second lieutenant's commission. The college regime is this—a man elects to take the military course; he gives five hours a week to study of military science or drills. He agrees to take a six weeks' course of military training at one of the summer camps two years and morally stands committed to fit himself for an officer in case of national emergency.

The primary object is to furnish adequate military training to young men without interfering with their school and college work. When his military training is completed he either joins the national guard or is assigned to some permanent military organization. The day he graduates he is given his commission and his record is sent to the adjutant general of his state and to the commandant of the corps area in which he resides. Then he enters business or professional life with as much freedom of action as though he had never worn the uniform.

Senator Walsh

Senator David I. Walsh has been taking a daily part in the senate proceedings on the tariff bill. He has hammered away with all his might—and that's telling of pretty hard blows—whenever the tariff on necessities of life came to the front. Mr. Walsh predicts the defeat of any party in power that increases the cost of living to the mass of the people of the country, and he demands a lowering of the cost of living, no matter who gets hit in the downfall.

"No political party can survive," said Senator Walsh this week, "under whose administration the cost of living goes up instead of down."

Senator Walsh has been much occupied with the meetings of the senate committee on labor, of which he is a member and which has been in frequent and important conferences with heads of the labor organizations, discussing the strikes and other features of the unrest that prevails throughout the country.

The Weather Bureau

The unimaginative weather bureau turns a cold shoulder on the theory that St. Swithin may have peeked out of the corner of his eye and caught a glimpse of the few raindrops that fell on July 15, and so will send along 40 days of rain in order to live up to the St. Swithin day traditions of past centuries.

Women Placed in Office

The state department has responded handsomely to the demand by women of placing women in diplomatic positions. This week Miss Maud Miles of Pennsylvania sailed away through the Golden Gate on a Pacific liner bound for the American embassy at Tokio. Miss Miles' appointment is said to have been given her in recognition of the excellent service she rendered the state department as secretary to the advisory committee during the disarmament conference at Washington. She will hold a secretarial position at the embassy at Tokio.

20,000 Widows in Washington

Completion of the census shows that in Washington women were merely "runners up" in the marriage ratio for the past 10 years. Although there is a surplus of 30,000 women in Washington, out of a population of more than 450,000 persons, 55 per cent of the men are married while only 47 per cent of the women trot in double harness. Moreover, there are 20,000 widows domiciled there to only 7000 widowers. It's evident Washington is no place for marriageable girls to turn to, even if they carry 'round a St. Joseph for luck.

LOWELL BOYS ENJOYED SUCCESSFUL SEASON

William and Seward Davis, two Lowell boys, residing at 139 Third st., accompanied by their professional partner, Jerry Tanean, are visiting in this city after a most successful vaudeville tour on the B. F. Keith circuit, during which they played to large audiences in all the leading theatres in this part of the country, as well as those in the south and middle west.

The three artists, known to the theatrical world as "The Davis Trio," have had much experience in their particular line. Mr. Tanean, a veteran in the game, was, for a number of years, associated on the stage with his brother, who retired a short time ago. The Davis boys are accomplished musicians, and the trio harmonize remarkably well, lending a balance to the act that has merited consistent commendation from prominent critics throughout the country.

The combined act is listed on programs and billboards as "The Sunshine Boys with the Dark Cloud," and those who have been fortunate enough to see it have considered the title appropriate and the act abounding in originality.

To prove that there is more truth than poetry in the familiar saying that the world is a small place after all, the local boys recount a happy coincidence which occurred during a recent stay in New York. While playing at one of the leading metropolitan theatres, the boys were agreeably surprised to find that Miss "Babe" Curry of 144 High st, this city, and Lawrence Crane of 311 Merrimack street, were also billed on the same program. As it is seldom that such a thing happens, a happy reunion resulted, and conversation naturally drifted to the home town. "Babe" and "Larry" are well known locally, and the Davis boys report that they are meeting with their usual success in "big time." Crane played in Keith's Lowell theatre last winter and will be remembered as a clever magician, while Miss Curry is a singer and dancer of exceptional merit. Both are now in New York.

The greatest ambition of "The Davis Trio" right now is to secure booking in Lowell where they have a host of friends anxious to view their act. They have never appeared here, although they have been in Boston houses on frequent occasions. They leave for New York about Sept. 1, and look forward to a continuation of their former successes.

NEW YORK CLUBS SHOW THE WAY

Both Now Leading in Major League Pennant Races—Win "Crucial" Series

Yanks Win Third Straight —Giants Land Four Out of Five From Cardinals

NEW YORK, July 29.—Both New York clubs are again showing the way in the major league pennant races today, as a result of decisively beating their St. Louis rivals in the two "crucial" series.

The Yankees, on top for the first time since June 16, held a margin of a half game over the Browns. They took their third straight from Fohl's clan, 7 to 3, Witt leading the attack with two doubles and a homer, while Sam Jones returned to form, holding St. Louis to six hits. Ken Williams cracked out his 23rd homer in the first inning.

The Giants made it four out of five from the Cardinals by breaking even in the double-header that concluded a series marked by the sensational hitting of the champions. McGraw's club pounded out 70 hits for 42 runs in the five games and increased their lead to 2½ games. Hornsby's 27th homer in the first game yesterday equalled the National league mark made by Ed Williamson in 1884.

Lee hit two homers in a game for the second time in the series and Cy Williams knocked out his 16th but Cincinnati emerged an 11-7 victor in a slugging match with Philadelphia.

Brooklyn climbed back to fifth place in the National league when Dazzy Vance bested Babe Adams of Pittsburgh in a 4-2 encounter.

Terry's hitting and Jones' pitching featured Chicago's 9-0 triumph over the Boston Braves.

Detroit's sixth inning rally netted five runs, enough to beat Washington, and Chicago took its second straight 10-inning battle from the Red Sox, 4 to 3.

Philadelphia had a field day at bat off Morton and Lindsey and trounced Cleveland for the second straight, 12 to 3.

No game today.

With lowering skies and everything in general unfavorable to a ball game, the Massachusetts and Y.M.C.I. teams of the Twilight league went at it on the South common last night. After five innings, in which each team scored one run, darkness and a shower put an end to the contest, which was one of the deadest of the league season.

The Y.M.C.I. scored in the first. Jim Liston singled to center, took second on O'Day's sacrifice and scored on a drive over short by Ralph Jenkins. Cawley singled, but the next two men were easy outs.

In the third Quealey singled to right, taking second on a passed ball, advancing to third on Farrell's hit and continued home, scoring easily. Peterson, meanwhile had walked and gone to third as Quealey scored. He was nailed at home by J. Liston's catch and sharp return of Allen's short fly to center.

Cawley, as usual, took up the pitching duties toward the last of the game, when Conlon appeared to slacken. He did not have much time to show his prowess, however, as the game was brought to an abrupt end in the last of the fifth by Johnny Souza's weird catch in left, in which he did a contortion stunt worthy of any circus acrobat on earth.

Besides Souza's performance, nothing of interest was noticeable in the slow game. The score:

Alexander and Hollocher Lead the Fighting Cubs

CHARLES HOLLOCHER

GROVER ALEXANDER

While some of the Chicago recruits, notably the pitchers, have done good work for Manager Killifer of the Cubs, Charley Hallocher, the sensational short-stop of that team, is perhaps the outstanding figure.

Hollocher is a great ball player. He has the old fighting spirit that keeps the club on edge. His fielding is always high class, and at the bat he is mighty dangerous.

Five years ago no one would have a minute thought to overlook Grover Cleveland Alexander. The great pitcher is a member of the Cubs, but Alexander is not the "Alex" of old.

Every now and then he turns in the sort of a game that once characterized his efforts any time he stepped on the rubber. Of late, however, he has lacked consistency. Father Time seems to be demanding his toll.

The Cubs have a number of promising recruits, but, after all it looks as if the honor of being the most valuable man on the club right now fully belongs to Charley Hollocher.

U. S. College Tennis Players Well Ahead

EASTBOURNE, England, July 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Although they have found the grass courts rather slippery, the American college tennis players from Yale and Harvard are well ahead in the series of matches they are playing with a team from Oxford and Cambridge, having won four out of the six singles matches and two out of the three doubles played here yesterday.

HITS ONE OVER FENCE, CREDITED WITH SINGLE

When a batter hits a drive on which he is able to make the circuit, and is credited with only a single, some one has erred.

When a batter hits the ball over the fence, which, according to the rules of baseball, entitles him to a home run, and he draws only a single in the box score, charge up a "boot" to some one.

The major league records contain two such happenings. One of them is charged against the American League, the other against the National.

When such a thing happens confusion must arise between the batsman and another base runner. It is questionable who should really be charged with the "bone."

Years ago in a game at Washington, Harry Niles, then with the Boston club, hit a long fly to right field. There was a runner on first at the time.

The runner on first was of the opinion that the ball would be caught. He played it safe by merely going half way to second, thus preventing a possible double play if the ball was snared.

Niles was positive the ball wouldn't be caught. He tore around the bases at full speed and passed the runner originally on first, midway between first and second.

That act of course automatically retired Niles, yet he continued on his way to the plate and by a great slide beat the return throw. He believed he had made a home run, yet in reality it was only a single.

Recently in a game at Philadelphia, Toporcer of the St. Louis Cardinals was sent up as pinch-hitter. There was a runner on first at the time. He drove the ball over the right field fence. The runner on first being in doubt only went half way to second. Toporcer passed him. Here was a drive that entitled him to a home run, yet by his act in passing a preceding runner, he nullified the homer to which he was entitled, merely receiving credit for a single.

LICENSE NOT REVOKED

While it was stated in yesterday's paper that the license of Max J. Cohen of this city to operate motor vehicles had been suspended by the registrar, it now has been learned that any charged against Mr. Cohen has been dropped and his license restored to him.

CAN MATTHEWS DUPLICATE WONDER ELEVEN?

BY N.E.A. SERVICE

MOSCOW, Idaho, July 29.—There may be another "wonder football team" in the Pacific coast conference this fall, providing R. L. (Matty) Matthews maintains the record he has built up as a football coach in the last eight years.

Matthews has been signed as head football coach and athletic director by the University of Idaho. He has the job of getting a squad in shape for eight stiff games this fall, with the whole Pacific coast expecting miracles of him.

All of this because in six years as football coach of Willamette University at Salem, Oregon, with barely enough available players to fill the eleven positions and provide a pair of subs, he has repeatedly won the Northwest non-conference title. Last year, as freshman coach at the University of Washington, Matthews developed a team that won the first-year title for the Pacific coast, and this spring his varsity baseball team won Washington the conference title. Matthews' success as a football mentor follows an equally successful career as a football player—one in which he was picked for sectional all-star teams for four successive years.

R. L. MATTHEWS

Back before the three-year rule and before Gil Dobie came to Washington, Matthews, as a freshman, starred for the University of Washington, and was named on the All-Northwest team.

The next year he went to Notre Dame. In his three years there, he was picked each season for the All-Western eleven, twice as an end and halfback in his senior year.

SPRINGFIELD, July 29.—Frank H. Shaw of Chicago and Harry G. Fisk of this city, receivers for the Stevens-Duryea Co., Inc., manufacturer of automobiles filed an inventory today and in connection with it, Mr. Shaw stated that the concern will continue the present production of six cars a week employing 131 operatives.

LEAGUE MARKED TIME

Only One Twilight Game Went to Decision This Week—Many Deadlocks

Little progress in the Twilight league schedule for the remainder of the season has resulted from this week's games, only one of which reached a satisfactory conclusion. On Tuesday night the Centralvilles scored a victory over the Broadways. Wednesday evening the Highland Daylights and K. of C. went seven innings to a draw. Thursday night the K. of C.-Centralville game was postponed on account of rain and lack of players, both first basemen remaining at home through fear of rheumatism. Last night a 5-inning, 1 to 1 game between the Massachusetts and the Y. M. C. I. brought an end to an almost fruitless week.

The postponed games to be played after the termination of the league season on August 18 have been augmented by the results Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. At present the list stand: Centralvilles vs. Y. M. C. I., Centralvilles vs. Knights of Columbus, Broadways vs. Y. M. C. I., K. of C. vs. Highland Daylights, Centralville vs. K. of C., Y. M. C. I. vs. Massachusetts. Fair weather must prevail, beginning Monday, if the scheduled and postponed games as well are to be played before the resumption of standard time.

The week has given the fans entertainment every night, despite the lack of conclusive results. In Tuesday night's game the Centralvilles and Broadways put over a most exciting sixth inning. Centralvilles came first, and with the assistance of four hits, one of them a home run by young Cawley, and an error, counted four tallies. Then came the Broadways, still confident, regardless of their five run handicap, that they could beat the Centralvilles any old time, as they have done all season to this point. With a base on balls, an error, an infield out and three singles they scored four times, bringing themselves within reaching distance of the goal. Another tally by the Centralvilles, however, told the story, and sent the horde of Acre rooters home disappointed.

Wednesday night was even more interesting, when the Highland Daylights and Knights of Columbus played seven innings of gilt-edge baseball to a 5-5 block. Also, with the Daylights leading in the first by four runs, the "Caseys" fought an up-hill battle, reaching the Highland Daylight level in the fifth after a hard struggle. The more strenuous attacks of the Knights in the sixth and seventh seemed to promise victory if the game were prolonged.

On Wednesday evening came the comedy exhibition on a rain-soaked diamond by the Centralvilles and K. of C., with a large number of dampened but heroic fans on the sidelines. The spectators saw little baseball but lots of comedy, and were satisfied.

Friday night's game was little better than the average, if as good. Both teams played listless ball, with Johnny Souza furnishing the only diversion. Johnny seemed to think he was in a regular ball game, for he nearly turned himself inside out in enveloping a long fly.

Next week's schedule looks good, and it is hoped that it may be carried out, without rain interference. Nothing else will be recognized. The schedule follows: Monday, Centralvilles vs. Y. M. C. I.; Tuesday, Broadways vs. K. of C.; Wednesday, Massachusetts vs. Y. M. C. I.; Thursday, Centralvilles vs. Highland Daylights; Friday, Broadways vs. Massachusetts.

ISKANDER TOYS WITH FIELD IN FAST PACE

GREENFIELD, July 29.—Rain cut the racing short here yesterday at a very interesting stage, too, when in three tries the favorite, Native Judge, had failed to get to the front in the 2.20 trot. The Arlington entry, Ed Mac, with the amateur, Fred Tobey, driven, won the first heat in 2.13¼, Carville D the second in 2.13... and Helen Scott the third in 2.14¼.

When the struggle is renewed today, Carville D will be missing as a standstill break left him on the wrong side of the distance flag in the heat won by the four-year-old daughter of Peter Scott, 2.05, and Helen Worthy, 2.08¾.

The Attleboro midget was beaten only a head in the third mile and is still fancied by his following.

Before the postponement, the Athol bearcat, Iskander, pleased the large crowd of local admirers by toying with his field in the Weldon $3000 stake. The son of San Francisco, 2.07¾, and Owaissa, 2.06¾, was more impressive than in his other six victories.

Iskander's miles in 2.07½, 2.08, 2.08¾, are even more credible than they appear in cold figures, for Sunderlin in the first heat never had him nearer the pole than third horse place and never in the race was he in next to the rail.

Rather inclined to loaf when in front, Sunderlin touched him with the whip coming through the stretch the third heat and his response made game old James Albert seem to have come to a sudden stop.

Iskander so overtopped his field that the speculation was on second money winner. James Albert was the popular selection and the Hartford contingent was well rewarded by having Will Crozier place Harry D. O. next to the winner twice.

The Brusie stable was favorite in the 2.14 trot with the expectation that the Windsor wizard would win with the Boston gelding Monte Volo. The "stable" made good, Jack Kingsley winning with Harvest Gloam owned by J. M. Wixtead of East Douglass. The white face mare was considerably the best for two heats, but landed the third because Kingsley could give his charge a whole lot of help in a driving finish in which Peter Pfaff was so near to winning that the judges' decision was questioned by many.

The closing card will be the unfinished 2.20 trot, free-for-all pace, 2.11 trot, 2.24 pace and 2.18 trot.

CANADIAN TEAM WANTS TO PLAY DAYLIGHTS

The Prue baseball club, one of the strongest teams in eastern Canada, is to make a tour of New England next month, and the manager in a letter to Louis Lord, manager of the Highland Daylights, leaders of the Lowell Twilight league, states that he would like to bring his team to the Spindle city for a game. His team is a very expensive one, as all players are on a salary. The team plays four or five games a week. Manager Lord will take the matter under consideration.

A. O. H. DIVISIONS PLAN REVERE TRIP

Final arrangements for the August 13 outing of the local divisions of the A.O.H., their wives and friends, were completed at a meeting of Division 11, last night. The affair will be held at Revere beach and the committee in charge is as follows: James J. McMenimen, John Hartt and Michael J. Monahan. Two initiations were also recorded at last night's meeting and a large amount of routine business transacted.

PRIZE WINNERS NAMED

Donal H. MacLean Wins First Award in "What's Wrong" Contest

The winners of the "What's Wrong" contest, which has been conducted in The Sun for the past two weeks, by Frank Ricard, the Central street jeweler, were announced today. Donald H. MacLean, 13 years of age, and a pupil at the Charles W. Morey school, won first prize. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. MacLean of 15 Osgood street. Young MacLean is a very popular young fellow and typical of the American youth, is a devotee of the great national game.

The second prize went to a well known young lady of St. Patrick's parish, Miss Esther Flannery. She is the daughter of Mrs. Annie Flannery, 19 Lombard street, and is 18 years old. She has been an attendant of the Notre Dame academy and is also a lover of the great American game, her answers showing real thought and intelligence. The third prize went to Thomas Creegan, 73 Third street, while fourth place was won by Earl Ouellette, 87 South street.

About 200 answers were received and the judges had a difficult task choosing the winners. George "Lefty" Tyler, former big league pitcher; Michael Mahoney, former big league umpire and one who knows the game from A to Z, and "Wally" Lyons, the well known Twilight league umpire, were the judges of the contest.

It was also interesting to note the large number of answers received from young ladies. Many amusing answers were received. Here are a few: Number 4 cartoon showed Alexander, the pitcher, pitching left-handed. Naturally, what was wrong was that Alexander is a right-handed pitcher. One young fellow answered this by saying, "a ball player never has a tag on his suit with his name on it," while another insisted that "Christy Mathewson was the player pictured." Although at the outset of the contest it was stated that you were to determine what was wrong with the play or figure pictured, one young fellow answered the last cartoon, number 12, by saying that "the dollar sign was wrong and the umpire said "You're out," when he should have said "You are out." Many other amusing replies were received that kept the judges in good humor. The four winners will receive their prizes by calling at Ricard's store, 123 Central street.

HERE ARE THE WINNERS!

1st—Donald H. MacLean, 15 Osgood street.
2nd—Esther Flannery, 19 Lombard street.
3rd—Thomas Creegan, 73 Third street.
4th—Earl Ouellette, 87 South street.

John J. Neeson, 213 Cross street.
John F. Graves, 18 Arlington street.
R. J. Quinn, 614 Gorham street.
Mary Moran, 11 Middlesex place.
Vera O'Brien, 605 Gorham street.
Charles Usher, 2 Pollard street.
Helen Sharkey, 82 Andrews street.

RICHARDS WINS NEW YORK CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK, July 29.—Vincent Richards of Yonkers won the metropolitan tennis singles championship from Howard Kinsey of San Francisco on the Crescent Athletic club courts, Brooklyn, yesterday, 6—2, 6—4, 6—3.

Richards led off with service in the first set and from the start he dazzled his California opponent with a series of brilliant drives. The national junior champion took the first three games of the set without difficulty.

Kinsey rallied in the fourth game and brought into play some of the strokes which he successfully used against the Brooklyn veteran, Howard Voshell. With chop strokes he succeeded in getting the fourth and sixth games on his service, but lost the set on errors.

The points—first set:

Richards	4	7	4	1	4	1	4	4	29	6
Kinsey	1	5	2	4	2	4	1	0	19	2

Kinsey started the second set with a rally which forced Richards to an uphill fight. With the Californian leading 2—0 and 4—3 on games Richards uncorked a speedy assortment of service and returns and finished out the set with three consecutive games.

Richards swept through to victory in the third set outgeneralling his western rival and employing his famous volley with decisive effect.

Point scores of the second and third sets:

Second set:

Richards	3	0	4	5	3	4	3	4	36	6
Kinsey	5	4	2	3	6	2	5	0	30	4

JACKSON GRATTAN STEPS ALONG AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, O., July 29.—Rain interfered with the closing program of the Grand Circuit at Driving park yesterday, a heavy shower falling when the horses were scoring for the first heat, causing a delay of two hours, the final heat of the day being paced at dusk.

The feature was the 2.08 pace, which was won by the Good Time stable stallion, Jackson Grattan, his fourth straight victory this season. In spite of the heavy track, he paced three heats faster than 2.04, with Edna Early the contender each time. He was a $100 to $50 favorite over the field. In the four races he has won this season, he has not been beaten a heat.

The local driver, "Spec" Erskine, had a field day, winning two races, with Signal Peter, the second choice. He won the 2.10 trot without trouble, and with Arnold Frisco, the favorite, he landed first in the 2.14 trot, the gelding being much the best of the field.

Erskine drove Charley Sweet in the 2.06 pace and in turning to score for the final heat, came into collision with Parker Boy. Erskine was thrown to the track, but luckily got off with a severe bruising. Charley Sweet circled the track once before being stopped and was then drawn.

The half-mile track star, Jakie O'Connor, was favorite for the 2.10 pace, but after winning the first heat, was beaten by the Tennessee mare, Lady Heir.

It was announced by Judge Chester Stands that Walter Cox had requested the judges to take no action in the case of Charley Valentine, who struck Cox and his mount McGregor the Great with his whip at the finish of the final heat of the 2.08 trot on Wednesday. Stands further announced they had placed the offending driver on probation.

The stables were shipped to Toledo last night, the next meeting opening in that city on Monday.

GATH IN FIRST PLACE

Popular Second Sacker of Broadways Leading Condon by 3000 Votes

Young Gath, the speedy second baseman of the Broadways, who has been holding third place for the past month or more in Ricard's Most Popular Twilight League Player contest, wiggled into first place good and proper this week. With over 8500 votes coming in this week for Gath, and but 4400 for Condon of the "Caseys," it gives the former a 3900 vote lead.

Although Gath has been gaining steadily each week, it comes as a surprise to find him passing Condon, who has held first position for over a month. Souza of the Massachusetts, retains third place, almost 13,000 votes behind Gath. This week's record of votes received is without doubt the largest of the contest to date and as predicted at the outset, the contest is going bigger and better than the remarkable contest conducted by him in The Sun, last year. This contest is conducted exclusively in The Sun, the vote coupons being published each night on the sporting page. Forty-three players out of a total of over 60 that have been in the contest to date, received votes this week showing that interest in the contest is not waning a particle and the boys at the end of the list are receiving votes each week just as well as the fellows at the top.

The contest has three weeks to go, August 18 is the end of the Twilight league season and also the finish of Ricard's contest. Remember, boys, a lot of interesting things can happen in these coming three weeks. Who knows who will be leading next week? It's up to you to make the contest as interesting as you can. Remember, too, some player is depending on your support, therefore send your votes in early and often. There's a vote on this page tonight. Have you cut it out yet?

DINNER-DANCE AT NASHUA COUNTRY CLUB

In connection with the annual New Hampshire state golf championship now being played over the links of the Nashua Country club, the hostess club last evening entertained with a dinner dance that was enjoyed by scores of club members and friends, including a number from Lowell. Among the guests were Jesse Guilford, national amateur champion and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ouimet.

The dinner-dance was enlivened by a splendid cabaret entertainment that fitted in nicely with the other tournament features.

Jim Hendry, Nashua pro, is the moving spirit of the tournament and labored from morning until late afternoon yesterday getting the big entry list away in pairs from the first tee. He handled his job well and the result was a minimum of confusion and crowding on the course.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The St. Peter's Cadets will play the St. Columba's team for the second time this season on the South common Sunday. The Cadets won the first game and are confident of trimming the St. Columba's again.

The Young Tigers would like to play any 10 or 12 year old team. Answer through this paper.

COBB LEADING LEAGUE BATTERS

Detroit Team Topping All Clubs in Hitting With an Average of .307

CHICAGO, July 29 (by the Associated Press).—Throwing a jolt and punch into the Detroit Americans, which is being felt by every American league club, the veteran Tyrus Cobb, Tiger pilot, excelling his every past performance at the bat, today is out in front of all American league contenders for 1922 hitting honors, and is leading his mates convincingly in the close pennant race. Tyrus is showing his men how to hit, and this has carried him past George Sisler, St. Louis star, for the batting honors of the league, which he lost to Speaker and Sisler in the past two seasons.

Cobb, in his last six games cracked out 13 hits, better than two a game, and boosted his mark from .405 a week ago to .418, while Sisler, who led the batters with an average of .416 a week ago, dropped to second place with an average of .404. He was able to acquire only six hits in as many games. The averages include games of Wednesday.

The Georgia Peach has instilled a fighting spirit into the Tigers with the result that they are topping all the clubs in team batting with an average of .307, while the St. Louis Browns are next with .301.

Sisler continues to lead in total bases with 225, his 155 hits including 27 doubles, 11 triples and 7 homers. He failed to increase his stolen base record, but is showing the way with 34 thefts.

Clarence (Tillie) Walker, the slugging outfielder of the Athletics, bagged another homer and is leading the home run clouters with 24, Ken Williams of the Browns being the runner-up with 23, with Babe Ruth tagging along with 17.

Other leading batters for 60 or more games:

Schang, New York, .357; Speaker, Cleveland, .356; Hellmann, Detroit, .345; Tobin, St. Louis, .347; Bassler, Detroit, .347; Ed Miller, Philadelphia, .347; Meusel, New York, .345; Blue, Detroit, .333; Witt, New York, .333.

There was practically no change in the relative standing of the batters in the National league, Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals, who has been setting the pace, added one point to his mark of a week ago, and tops the list with an average of .398. Ray Grimes, the slugging first baseman of the Chicago Cubs, maintained his mark of a week ago, .363, and moved up to second place, displacing the veteran Jake Daubert of the Reds, who dropped 11 points, but is holding third place with an average of .360.

Hornsby bagged two more homers and is leading all major leaguers with a total of 27. He also crossed the plate five times in the last six games, and has taken the lead from Max Carey of the Pirates, as the best run-getter. The St. Louis star crossed the plate 80 times, while Carey scored 79 runs. Carey, however, increased his lead for the stolen base honors by three thefts, bringing his total to 27.

Other leading batters for 60 or more games: Hollocher, Chicago, .359; J. Johnston, Brooklyn, .357; Righee, Pittsburgh, .354; Duncan, Cincinnati, .347; L. Miller, Chicago, .346; Schultz, St. Louis, .341; Carey, Pittsburgh, .338.

THE TEXTILE SITUATION

One of the worst features of the textile conflicts which cause so much unemployment in this and other cities is, that on either side the battle seems to be waged by an organization that represents not a single city nor even a single state, but all of New England, if not a greater area. If our local trouble were not on either side dependent upon the settlement of others elsewhere and with which we have nothing to do, it might be readily adjusted. But the mills of Lowell are holding out for the out because if they yielded, the mills of other cities might be forced to make similar concessions. Thus it appears to us, that the combination of mills on one side stands for the 20 per cent cut and the United Textile Workers of America stand with equal firmness against any reduction of wages.

Thus we find Chairman Hanley stating that the order is to strike against a reduction of any kind and this strike order will be in force until such times as the corporations yield or make a satisfactory compromise. But the corporations that run the mills are determined not to yield; and hence until the fatuity of this policy and this widespread conflict be acknowledged and remedied, we can hardly hope for the restoration of industrial peace in Lowell.

The situation in Lawrence is practically the same. The strikers, like those of Lowell, are willing to arbitrate; but the millmen refuse to budge, despite the fact that they are losing heavily and that the long period of idleness will injure their business to an extent that cannot be overcome in years of normal business. In Lawrence several of the mills wanted to break away from the combination, but they were finally prevented and hence all the mills of that city are still united in an effort to starve the operatives into submission. It is very foolish business, a fact which the mills of Lawrence and Lowell will ultimately discover.

THE PRESIDENT'S APPEAL

President Harding in reply to a telegram signed "J. Cleve Dean, chairman of the Railway Employes Publicity Association," the authenticity of which Mr. Gompers denies very strongly, urges the return of the strikers and also makes clear his position as one of absolute fairness between the roads and the companies, but emphatically in favor of industrial peace and the protection of the public against the industrial paralysis and suffering which a prolongation of this strike would entail.

The president endeavors to remove all misapprehension as to the supposed use of force or the rumored drafting of men for military service or to take the places of the strikers. He advises Mr. Dean to urge the strikers to return to work and accept the decision of the Railroad Labor board, "until you and I and everyone else interested in American welfare may join in asking the rehearing on any question concerning which there is reasonable doubt about the correctness or the justice of the decision made."

That promises a revision of the board's decision and should receive the most serious consideration of the strikers. They should not expect the president of the United States to get on his knees to them. Their cause will be strengthened by compliance with the president's request. They will lose public sympathy if they try to use their power in such a way as to set at defiance not only the president but the authority of the government and the people.

The president has made this proposition in good faith and in all fairness. We believe the strikers will serve their own cause best by acting favorably on the president's appeal and pledge that the whole case shall be reopened and any possible mistake corrected.

Mr. Gompers interposes to say that this man Dean, if there be any such person, has no authority to speak as he did; but if he is not what he represented himself to be, that is not the president's fault. Because the author drew a rebuke from the White House by sending a rather impudent telegram to the president, Mr. Gompers may be excused for repudiating such action as representing the strikers. Whether the author of the telegram had the right to assume such authority or not, is of little difference now. He has brought from the president a statement that should hasten a settlement by convincing the men who are out, that they will make a grave mistake if they prolong the struggle so as to further tie up the business of the country. New and definite propositions are understood to be ready for submission that promise an early settlement of the strike, perhaps within the coming week.

THE KU KLUX VICTORY

The defeat of Senator Culberson in the Texas primary by the candidate endorsed by the Ku Klux Klan has attracted attention throughout the country. Senator Culberson belongs to one of the leading families of the state, but for some time past has been disabled so that he has been unable to conduct a political campaign in his own behalf. He has to be carried in and out of the senate and can do little more than vote in a feeble way for or against the measures brought forward for decision. It is not certain, therefore, that the Ku Klux Klan has won such a victory as the defeat of Senator Culberson would indicate. The Ku Klux candidate, Earl B. Mayfield, was opposed not only by Culberson but also by James E. Ferguson, both of whom were strongly opposed to the secret society.

Inasmuch as Mayfield did not receive a majority of the votes cast, another contest will be held on Aug. 26 as the final round of the primary under the Texas election law. The combined anti-K.K.K. vote exceeded that of Mr. Mayfield, so that the latter may be defeated in the final contest. Nevertheless, the defeat of Culberson in Texas adds to the alarm in the republican party, following, as it does the reverses in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Iowa, North Dakota and Nebraska. It was hardly to be supposed that the Ku Klux Klan could win such a victory in Texas despite the fact that it flourishes in California, Oregon and many of the southern states. Arizona and Kansas have shown their Americanism by open opposition to this secret organization, whose members dare not appear without masks in any of their public functions. Their principles call for the suppression of certain religious denominations, the oppression of the negro and the exclusion of foreigners. Nevertheless, it is alleged that a large proportion of the membership is of foreign nativity or descent. The organization makes the mask an indispensable feature of its appearance and in this it resembles the highway robber or the burglar who goes forth by night on his mission of plunder; and in either case those who follow these criminal practices are fully as respectable as are the members of the Ku Klux Klan, who call upon heaven to witness that their aims are pure and holy and then go forth to commit outrage and murder.

VOTED THE WOOL TARIFF

The republican leaders in the United States senate have adopted the tariff of 33 cents a pound on raw wool despite all the protests that had been offered and despite the fact that the tariff commission and other leading experts proved that it would add from $2.60 to $5.20 to the price of an ordinary suit of clothes. The republicans are becoming desperate owing to the delay in the passage of the tariff bill as they realize that the country is disgusted with their performance and the absence of practical results from their two years in office.

Senator Lodge defended the high tariff on wool as best he could, and under his direction the amendment offered by Senator Lenroot for a tariff of 60 per cent. ad valorem on wool was defeated. Senator Walsh of this state presented arguments that were simply unanswerable, but the republicans had the votes and as one of their senators asserted, it made no difference what arguments were presented or how unjust or monstrous the schedules were shown to be, the majority would vote for them under the party whip.

It appears, therefore, that the tariff bill with some of its worst features will be enacted at some time within the next three months and then will come the question of passing the bonus; but on that matter it is probable that the republican leaders will prefer to "pass the buck" to the president, who has promised to veto the measure if sent to him for approval.

The sentiment throughout the country is rapidly turning against the republican party with the result that in all probability the big majority of 1920 will be wiped out and a democratic victory recorded in the fall elections. This will probably include the defeat of Senator Lodge, who has been on the unpopular side on practically every important question that has come before congress since President Harding assumed office.

FIVE-CENT FARES PAY

Detroit's municipal street cars appear to be running along profitably on the five-cent fare. In June, the city line made a clean net profit of $98,000. The municipal ownership profit in Detroit was a net gain after paying all operating and maintenance expenses and after meeting the interest requirements on bonds and the installments on the sinking fund for the ultimate payment of the old Detroit Union Railway lines.

Detroit is not the only five-cent fare town that has a street railroad really paying its way. The five-cent fare is coming back all along the line, and we may expect a return to the old nickel tariff here in Lowell in the near future. Traffic in the five-cent fare cities is rapidly increasing. The nickel is "popular money," and the people appreciate a good car service and patronize it liberally and regularly when it costs but five cents to ride freely from one section of a city or town to another.

Prosperity will return to the street car lines only when they reduce fares and thereby "bait" their wares for patronage. In the case of Detroit, with its now successful five-cent fare system, no wonder the former private owners of those lines fought all the way to the supreme court to prevent the mayor from carrying out his municipal ownership pledges. Even Charles E. Hughes, now secretary of state, was hired by the big traction interests to help in that battle against the people, but it was a losing fight, and in this case, at least, municipal ownership has thus far been successful.

TRESPASSING AVIATORS

Aviators in Pennsylvania have been fined for trespass in having flown over the farm of a man named Grube, who insists that he owns the air and space over his farm and can prevent aviators from using it. The development of aircraft will bring new laws defining the rights of property owners and the privileges of aviators. If an aviator can be fined for flying over a man's land, the fact will offer a serious obstacle to the progress of aviation. Possibly a minimum height will be fixed so that there will be no dread among the owners of property underneath.

GASOLINE STOCK

Stocks of gasoline, held in storage, total about 860,000,000 gallons. It is a staggering figure, but it is only 82 gallons for each American auto. How long would 82 gallons last you?

A good many of the statistics that are floating about nowadays are almost terrifying in their size. To grasp their real significance, remember that they are for a big country and a big population. For instance, 325,000,000 meals are eaten daily in the United States—but that's only three for each of us.

SOLITUDE PENALTY

Martin Smith, a "lifer" at Sing Sing, drops dead of heart disease. He had served 14 years of his sentence. During that time he never had a visitor at the prison. There is tragedy for you, greater than any created in the imagination of Eugene Sue or Maupassant.

The criminal's greatest penalty is loneliness—compulsory solitude. In jail or out, he lives under cover, his soul traveling through life alone without that priceless joy—human companionship and exchange of confidences.

ITALY'S RECOVERY

Italy has recovered nearer to normal conditions than any other European country, reports Robert S. Bradley, chairman of American Agricultural Chemical Co., after a long tour abroad.

He found London serious, rather depressed, with business dull. France is pictured as semi-hypnotized by Uncle Sam's pocketbook.

So much for a business man's impressions. That Italy is coming back so fast indicates astonishing vitality in this old nation.

JOCKEY PAGE

Barney Page, Australian jockey, who has ridden 1600 winners, says horse racing is coming back strongly in his country.

This is largely due to Australian sporting rules that keep jockeys from coming in contact with the public.

Horse racing, "the sport of kings," was killed in America by money corruption, and the honest sportsman suffered with the crook. Anyone who doubts that dishonesty leads to disaster has only to watch the rise and fall of sports.

ATTACKING LODGE

Not for many moons has such a scathing article been written in reference to Senator Lodge as that which appeared recently in the New York World from "A Looker On in Washington." It reviews the senator's record and with cutting irony proclaims the absence of any constructive measure except the Force bill, which failed of passage. After reading it, even some of the senator's worst enemies would be inclined to cry out for less excoriating treatment of the hoary senator.

COST OF LIVING

It costs 55 per cent more to live now than in 1914, says the foremost price expert, the National Industrial Conference board.

If you have a record of what you made in 1914, compare it with what you are making now. If the gain is less than 55 per cent, you have lost ground financially. All on the law of averages, of course. The natural increase of earning power as a result of experience, also good or bad luck, may disturb the workings of the law of averages—in individual cases.

THE VETERINARY

Horse doctors are growing scarcer, having been driven out by autos, reports County Clerk Donegan, of New York City.

The garage mechanic is the modern veterinary. At times, each man has to be his own mechanician.

Having tinkered with an obstinate engine, you will agree that the auto is subject to more diseases than the horse, and harder to cure. As a piece of mechanical near-perfection, man's ingenuity has never been able to create anything equal to Dobbin.

RUM THEFT

Two liquor yeggs who stole 30 cases of whisky from the home of Charles Greer are sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary by Magistrate O'Brien, of Port Arthur, Ontario.

In Canada, that means seven years—to a day. People who go to jail up there usually "stay put," no monkey-business.

How many murders would some of our American bootleggers commit to get 30 cases of Scotch?

FALSE ALARMS

Ed Howe, our greatest country editor, observes that America is running too strongly to false alarms. A petty difficulty frequently masquerades as a crisis. After running ourselves out of breath, following the fire engines, we usually find that it is a small blaze or a false alarm.

This tendency toward false alarms is a natural result of the public nervousness that follows every big war. And generally the things we fear most are imaginary. Time will cure.

THE BOLL WEEVIL

The boll weevil destroys 30 per cent of the 1922 cotton crop and the loss is at least $200,000,000. So estimates the department of agriculture.

When this insect first crossed the Rio Grande and invaded our country from Mexico, about 25 years ago, it could have been curbed and probably driven back entirely by spending a few million dollars.

Delay is more costly than blunder.

SEEN AND HEARD

Every shocking flapper is followed by a gang of shock absorbers.

With 14 women candidates, the next house of representatives may have more than one speaker.

If beer and light wines do come back, will it be proper to say that prohibition died with its bootleggers on?

If they dig this new tunnel under the English channel, Henry Sullivan and Charlie Toth can stop trying to swim it.

Is That All?

"How do you like your new publicity agent?" we asked.

"O, he's wonderful!" cried the movie star, beaming with enthusiasm. "We've been robbed twice, and our house burned, and our auto wrecked, and I've been in a cyclone, and had my life threatened by an anonymous enemy since we employed him."

A Thought

Write the vision and make it plain on tables, that he may run that readeth it. For the vision is yet for the appointed time, but at the end it shall speak and not lie; though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come and not tarry. Habakkuk 2:2-3.

There is not any benefit so glorious in itself but it may be exceedingly sweetened by the manner of conferring it.—Seneca.

That's Telling 'Em

An English newspaper is printing choice bits of broken English as overheard by its readers. Two examples follow, which are considered the most amusing: A coffee-room waiter, who said he was Swiss, replying to a guest ordering breakfast: "Tongue is no more, shicken never yes. How you like your eggs, boilt, tight or loose?"

The other concerns an enraged Portuguese, who turned upon his opponent and spat out: "If I did know ze English for ze box, I would blow your nose, by damn, I am."

A Word a Day

Today's word is recalcitrant.

It's pronounced re-kal-si-trant, with accent on the second syllable.

It means—kicking back, kicking against anything, rejecting vehemently, obstinately noncompliant, showing repugnance or opposition, refractory.

It comes from a combination of the Latin prefix "re," signifying, among other things, back or backward, and the Latin word "calcitrare," to kick; hence, to kick back.

It's used like this:—"The recalcitrants on both sides, have blocked all plans thus far, looking toward settlement of the rail and mine strikes."

Explain, Please, George

Eileen was annoyed; she felt the family honor had been badly stained. It was Dora's fault, so she spoke to her about it.

"It's no use denying it, Dora. Although it was too dark for me to see who it was, I distinctly saw some man kiss you in the garden."

Dora was modern and didn't appreciate her sister's argument.

"I don't see why," she said, "I've often seen George kiss you."

"O, that's different. I'm engaged to George. I allow nobody but him to kiss me."

"Exactly," said Dora. "I allowed nobody but George to kiss me!"

Ballade of Mrs. Grundy

I'd gladly look in siren eyes
If siren eyes were not taboo;
Gladly I'd hear their songs and sighs
And dare their worst enchantments too.
I'd live the gay life, entre nous.
If only I could have my way.
There's much that I desire to do—
But what would Mrs. Grundy say?

I want to whisper loving lies
To Amaryllis and to Prue.
I think 'twould be a sweet surprise
With these fair maids to bill and coo.
And ditto with some other few.
I could so joyous be and gay
If there were naught to rock or rue—
But what would Mrs. Grundy say?

To dance and play my spirit cries;
Rapture and revel are its due.
Prudential maxims I despise
Within my soul as much as you.
I hate to have my whole life's hue
A sober and a somber gray.
I'd like to join a pirate crew—
But what would Mrs. Grundy say?

L'Envoi

O Priestess of the Lawn of Blue,
I am a victim of your sway!
I yearn to drink and smoke and chew—
But what would Mrs. Grundy say?
—Thomas Lomax Hunter.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Recently at Staunton, Va., the birthplace of ex-President Wilson, an auction was held at which the autographed picture of President Harding drew the sum of $46, while that of Mr. Wilson drew only $25. This happening recalls the saying that "a prophet is without honor in his own country."

The cooking classes conducted at various playgrounds throughout the city are producing fine results. The canning season is now on and the children are receiving first-hand information as to the best method of procedure. I saw some very fine jars of beets, wax beans, string beans, blackberries, plums, strawberries and huckleberries that the children of one playground had preserved. On certain days this class has a feast, with all the eatables cooked by the members of the class. The popovers and muffins they make are delicious and are worthy of more experienced cooks. The children are very much interested in the work and spend as much time as they can in the classroom and they are learning very quickly.

The despatch and thoroughness with which the job on the Central street bridge was completed brings to my mind the fiasco that was supposed to be a finished job on the Centralville bridge. It is a familiar sight to those crossing the latter bridge to see workmen repairing the new bridge. The board of public service only recently decided that more work must be done there in order to keep the bridge in good shape during the winter. What a pity that the company that did the Central street job did not get the contract for the other bridge.

If there is any friction between the supervisors of the playgrounds and the teachers of sewing or domestic science, the fault lies with the officials in charge. The playgrounds are under the supervision of Supt. Kornan, and the teachers, as they should be, under the direction of the school department. These different departments may have conflicting views as to the importance of their respective functions, but the best results can be attained only by proper co-ordination of the activities of both departments. The system contemplates a combination of play and instruction, which some of the supervisors may not fully understand or appreciate. As Supt. Molloy states, there is no friction that cannot be easily remedied.

POSTMASTERS NAMED

ATTACK WOOL SCHEDULE

Both Sides Participate—Sen. Walsh Says Industry Needs No Protection

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Assaults on the wool schedule of the tariff bill were continued yesterday from both sides of the senate, with proponents striking back vigorously and winning out on each of the three roll calls taken during the seven hours' session. Discussion was so extended that committee amendments in one paragraph were disposed of, but the senate was ready for a vote on another paragraph, at the finish, and leaders were hopeful, but not at all confident, that consideration of the schedule could be completed tomorrow.

Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, created something of a stir early in the day by asserting that there was unintentionally concealed protection in the schedule for manufacturers of woolen cloth.

Onslaughts from the democratic side were made by Senators Walsh, Massachusetts, Simmons, North Carolina and Pomerene, Ohio.

Senator Smoot of Utah, in charge of the bill for the committee majority, declared the protective duties proposed were necessary to keep the woolen industry alive.

Replying to Senator Smoot's argument, Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, said the defense of the suiting cloth rates had failed to give information supporting their position, adding that their only answer to the tariff commission's facts, statements of disinterested persons and the fact that there were no imports was "the waving of two little pieces of cloth," by Senator Smoot.

Arguing that the woolen industry did not need high protection; Senator Walsh presented in some detail figures concerning the American Woolen Co., showing, he said, that the company's pre-war record of profiteering was during the war period entirely eclipsed.

SHOPPING WITH NEWLY WEDS OF TODAY

Are the newlyweds of today as sensible and as artistic as those of years gone by, when bobbed hair and rolled stockings were unheard of, as were flying machines and radiophones?

Lowell furniture dealers come to the front and answer "Yes" to both questions, and even add to the strength of their assertions by saying that the newlyweds of today are even more sensible than those of years ago by, while the present generation is much more advanced in the channels of art than grandpop and grandma ever were.

One of the first things a newly married couple thinks of is furniture for "The Love Nest."

The Good Old Days

In the good old days newly married couples in a furniture store would ask to be shown gaudy gay plushes, spindle backed chairs and other fancy pieces. Now they choose with care in most instances and demand comfort as well as beauty.

A conversation held recently with one of the oldest clerks in a local establishment brought forth the information that in the olden days a couple would come into the store and throw themselves on the mercy of the clerk, more or less. The clerk in return proceeded to unload upon them about twice as much furniture as they could possibly get into their home. In passing, the clerk said that this used to be considered good salesmanship, but that it was not done any more, principally for the reason that the customer was every bit as smart as the clerk.

Continuing, he said that now the young people seem to be educated to a point where they know just about what they want. In summing up this part of his talk, the veteran said that the young people seem to be educated to a sense of what is fitting and proper.

He averred that this had been particularly noticeable with young men since the war. They saw a great many things and places that they never would have visited, beautiful and artistic things that broadened them and broke through their provincialism. The young women, on the other hand, are becoming more conversant with such things through various women's agencies which try to instil, in them the truth, that what is artistic and beautiful may also be comfortable.

If anyone has any idea that the life of a furniture clerk is a dull one he need only to talk with one and listen to just a few of the ordinary incidents of his daily routine, particularly to those of the clerk who specializes in newlyweds. His experiences are as amusing, as tragic and as varied—as those of any clerk that comes in touch with the public.

The June bride rush is about over now so that the specialists in this line are having a rest after an especially busy season.

The clerk has to be a father, a confessor and a judge all rolled into one. He has an opportunity to give a lot of fatherly advice besides dealing directly with his business. One clerk told of a young couple who visited him recently ready to fit out a four-room flat. The bride snapped at the newly elected lord of the household (that is, in public, not private) that she "didn't like this" and "she didn't like that," and what she liked and he didn't.

The experienced clerk had been through the same ordeal before and knew what to expect as to the outcome. He drew them both to a settee, and with one on either side of him, told them of the few things he had learned in his 17 years of experience. When they both gave in on certain much-discussed points he sold them a large quantity of furniture and threw in a present to boot.

The clerks say that the young bride of today can give the mother-in-law tips and that her judgment is much better than the elder person's. For the most part Lowell newlyweds seem to be careful and sensible in picking out furniture for their homes, and seem to be an improvement on the people of a generation ago.

BOY KICKED IN ANKLE DIES

NEW YORK, July 29.—Accused of kicking a boy in the ankle, from which blood poisoning and death followed, Isadore Hyman, 43, was held in $2000 bail on suspicion of homicide.

The boy, 13 years old, was kicked during a quarrel last month. Ten days ago he was taken to a hospital, suffering from blood poisoning and he died.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

ADVENTURE

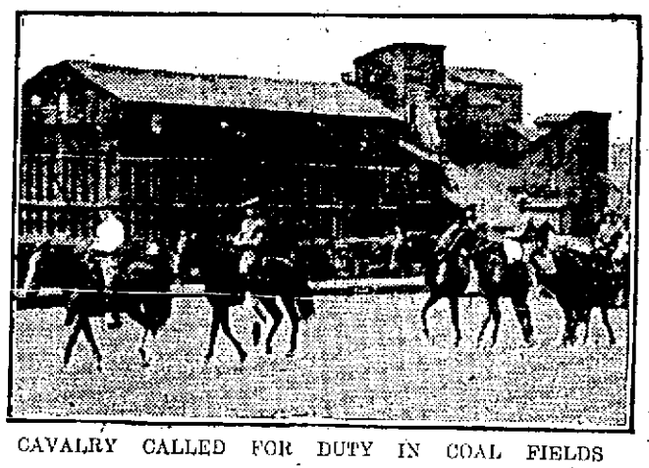

He lived within a village
Where life had not a thrill,
Where nothing ever happens
And nothing ever will;
Yet every day he wakened
With undiminished vim,
Believing that Adventure
Would somehow come to him.

He was a home-kept plodder,
Bound close by family ties,
Who could not seek the open road
Or roam beneath strange skies;
Yet still within his bosom
He kept the fancy sweet
That some day he would meet Romance
Upon the village street!

Though one day and another
Were very much the same,
Within his eyes that eager hope
Burned with a joyous flame;
And though his joints grew creaky,
And though his hair turned gray
He knew—he knew Adventure
Was coming down the way!

His great Adventure found him;
Death came and took him hence
To roam tremendous spaces,
To seek vast firmaments;
Because no blighting circumstance
His hope and faith could shake
His soul hobnobs with Boone and Scott,
With Frobisher and Drake!

FIRE AT LAKEVIEW PARK

Lunch Cart and Store at Willow Dale Entrance Destroyed

Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed a lunch cart and store at the Willow Dale entrance of Lakeview Park. The buildings were owned by Charles Delaney and the business therein was conducted by William Pollard. Both buildings were a total loss.

The fire was first noticed by bathers about 4 o'clock, when smoke was seen coming from the lunch cart. A gasoline tank on the cart was ignited and the flames spread rapidly in several directions. Fanned by a breeze from the lake they jumped to the store at the corner and for a time threatened the Fox food shop across the road.

Fire apparatus from Dracut was called and a bucket brigade formed by persons nearby did valiant work in saving the Fox store. The fire-fighters realized that the Delaney buildings were doomed and after removing an oil tank from the store, centered their efforts on the building across the road.

The possibilities of a serious conflagration were easily seen as the land in the immediate vicinity of the buildings is thickly wooded and once or twice flames actually did get into the pine branches but were quickly snuffed out. Although there was a breeze from the lake it was not strong enough to sweep the fire out of control.

WAS EASILY EXCITED

Nervousness often results from malnutrition. The blood does not supply the elements that the nerves require and they become inflamed. At the same time there are often other evidences that the blood is thin such as pallor, indigestion and a general feeling of listlessness. In such cases a tonic is required which will make the blood rich and red.

Mrs. Ralph B. Haskell, of No. 44 Cedar street, Portland, Me., says she felt tired all the time and did not have a bit of strength. "I had a nervous trembling feeling in my stomach," she says, "and felt shaky all over. My heart fluttered, I had pains across the small of my back and a dull ache all day. My hands and fingers were often numb. Medical treatment gave me only temporary relief.

"It was through a friend that I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in a few days after I began taking them I noticed my strength coming back. The trembling sensation went away and I did not feel so shaky. As my blood began to circulate better the numbness ceased. Where before I had been nervous and sleepless, my nerves are now strong and I sleep well. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a fine remedy."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists. Price sixty cents. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free booklet on nervous disorders.—Adv.

CHILDREN ENJOY OUTING AT CAMP

Over 300 hundred children, forming a cosmopolitan group, were the guests of the International Institute of the Y.W.C.A. at a picnic held at Nabnasset lake last Thursday afternoon. Eight different nationalities were represented in the group, including Lithuanian, Syrian, Greek, Polish, Portuguese, French, Irish and American.

The children left the institute rooms in Palmer street at 2 o'clock and made the journey to the lake in large auto trucks. On reaching the lake they were the guests of the Y.M.C.A. at their camp. Many of the older children went in for a swim while the younger ones played all kinds of games. A fine basket luncheon was served later, including ice cream and apples. The ice cream was donated by Mr. Sharf and Mr. Cruickshank, the ice cream cones by the Eagle Confectionery Co., and Thurston & Johnson Co., while the apples were donated by the driver of the Hobson and Lawler truck.

Trucks were furnished through the kindness of the following firms: U. S. Cartridge Co., Cameron Bros., Pratt & Forrest, Turner Centre Creamery, Hobson & Lawler, and Mr. Joseph Conroy.

NEW RADIO APPARATUS

Miniature A. C. Generator Surpasses Buzzer For Code Practice

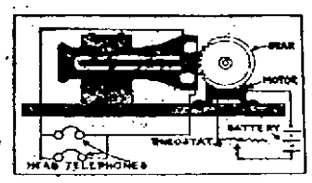

BY PAUL F. GODLEY.

America's Foremost Radio Authority

One of the discouraging things about radio code practice is the tendency toward irregularity of operation of the average high-pitched buzzer.

Such tone irregularities distract the attention of the beginner from the characters being transmitted.

easily can be rigged up from an old magnetic telephone, a toy motor and an iron gear wheel.

The gear should be mounted upon the shaft of the motor so that its teeth revolve very close to, and directly in front of, the pole pieces of the magnetic telephone. For the best results, the gear should be of approximately the same thickness as the pole piece of the telephone receiver. If the tone produced in the windings of the receiver is to be a pure one, the gear should be mounted true on the shaft of the motor.

The provision of a rheostat in circuit with the motor and its battery will enable the control of the pitch of the tone.

The action is as follows:

When two of the teeth of the gear are opposite the two poles of the telephone receiver, the magnetic circuit is completed, through the gear, at which time a maximum of magnetic flow exists.

When the gear is revolved, the resistance of the magnetic flux is greatly increased because of the substitution of air in front of the pole pieces of the telephone magnet. A great change in the magnetic flow is thus brought about.

This change of magnetic flow produces a pulse of current in the coils of the telephone receiver. Each time a tooth of the gear passes the pole pieces, a similar pulse will be registered in the windings of the receiver. It is thus acting as a generator.

Any magnetic telephone may be used in this way, although the watch-case type will give less energy than those larger phones used with the standard telephone instruments.

BRINGS WORLD'S BEST ARTISTS TO HOME

Radio broadcasting may bring the world's best artists to the homes of fans, no matter where they may be.

This can be brought about by the adoption of a new method of broadcasting concerts and lectures suggested by Peter A. Sensenig, of the Westinghouse broadcasting station in Pittsburg, Pa.

If his plan is adopted, Sensenig says, radio fans in outlying districts of the country could share the pleasures of those in metropolitan districts where the best talent is more easily available. In fact, his system would permit the radio enthusiast to listen in on the world's best singer or most famous lecturer, whether he be in Paris, London, New York or Shanghai.

Sensenig's plan calls for the centralization of all broadcasting stations throughout the world. By international agreement, three different wave lengths would be allotted. There would be a special class of broadcasting for each wave length, according to size and importance.

From a station where the best singer or lecturer can be obtained, the voice would be sent out to other broadcasting stations not only on the same continent but across the sea. Each broadcasting station would transmit the voice it picks up from the central station, for the benefit of the radio fans in its district, and would also act as a relay station for transmission into more distant territory.

European countries that there is a Radio is spending so fast in possibility of seeing this system inaugurated within a few years.

Commercial radiophone messages are already being flashed across the ocean to various points in Europe.

MEN ENTOMBED IN MINE ARE RESCUED

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., July 29.—Fire discovered in a mine of the Midway Coal Co., near Ward, 10 miles northeast of here, yesterday noon, imprisoning four men in the shaft for 12 hours, still was burning early today, while company officials were preparing to seal the shaft.

Three of the men trapped in the mine, Milo McGowan, general manager, William Forth, a pumpman, and Tom Kenkelly, a foreman, were rescued last night, while Harry Laughlin, an inspector of the mine, was taken unconscious from the shaft at midnight. It was said that the fire was an outburst of smoldering flames sealed up last February.

WOOL THE ALL-ABSORBING TOPIC IN STATE POLITICAL CIRCLES

Soldiers' Bonus and Prohibition Relegated to Background as State Campaigns Gather Impetus---Candidates Being Queried on Their Stands on Wool Tariff---Many Favor Ad Valorem Duty

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 29.—The soldiers' bonus and prohibition, which many political observers thought would be the outstanding issues of the coming election, have taken a temporary eclipse. Wool is the subject of all absorbing interest in political circles. Every politician, especially those who aim at a Washington office are talking wool, wool, wool. Even "Gene" Foss who wants to stay right here in Massachusetts as governor is woolingit.

The wool situation started from several angles. In the first place it was known that Senator Lodge was going to defend wool schedules, sometimes called "republican," in Washington. This gave the rival of the senior senator a fine chance to attack him. In the second place the wool interests queried all candidates on their stand on wool tariffs. This brought another torrent of words. Then department stores began advertising the fact that blankets, suits, overcoats and other goods containing wool would be advanced in price when wool tariffs were arranged—that made the average man and woman start inquiring about wool.

Messrs. Whipple, Gaston and Walsh, democratic candidates for the United States senate, have stated that they prefer an ad valorem duty on wool, if any at all, rather than a specific duty. Joseph Walker, republican candidate against Lodge at the primaries, also wants wool tariff adjusted so that the average and poor man will not suffer at the hands of the rich.

Just what is an ad valorem duty and a specific duty? Before you understand the first thing about this important angle of the political fight you must know, Mr. Walker has supplied us with the following definition, which is extremely lucid:

"A 'specific' rate is a duty of so many cents a pound regardless of the value of the wool. An 'ad valorem' rate is a duty of a certain per cent. of the value of the wool.

"Thus the value of certain grades of coarse long South American wool is about 16 cents a pound (scoured). A specific duty of 33 cents on such wool amounts to over 200 per cent. ad valorem. The value of certain grades of fine Australian wool is about $1.20 per pound. A specific duty of 33 cents a pound on such wool amounts to only 27 cents ad valorem. This clearly demonstrates how a specific duty discriminates against the low priced wools in favor of the high priced wools."

While Lodge in the senate defends high wool tariffs as necessary to protect the industry, all of his rival candidates at home, both republican and democratic, clamor for an ad valorem duty, which they claim will protect the poor man who buys clothes of the less expensive grades of wool.

How will the thousands of voters feel about the protection of the wool industry in Massachusetts when they get to the polls? How will they feel to the supporters of the various wool tariffs? Will the voters think that there is a wool industry here essential to the state that should be highly protected?

One paper in Boston, Independent, declares: "The woolen schedule has always been a sinister one. The manufacturers have almost invariably gotten more than their share out of the tariff through throwing sops to the western sheep raiser. In trying to help the shepherd congress has generally gone the limit. But the duty favoring the raiser of sheep has always been a joke. After being 'protected' for so many years there are fewer sheep now in the country than there were a generation ago. The farmer raises sheep mainly for mutton and the wool is only incidental. But the manufacturer tries to make the wool the main feature as the packers are now doing with hides.

Bounty Is Preferable

"It would be much cheaper and more effective protection for congress to vote a bounty each year to the sheep-raiser than to impose the high tariff on the general public."

We do not quote the above as necessarily our personal opinion. We quote it to show that the wool question and the attitude of candidates thereon is a vital one in the coming elections.

While clothes may, or may not, be higher the coming year through wool tariff schedules, one thing is sure; rents will not be higher. They will decrease. The figures on the renting and general housing situation, issued this week by the commission on the necessaries of life, were very carefully prepared and they were made conservative so as not to inspire too great confidence in the rent payer.

Little Real Estate Speculation

There is little speculation in real estate at the present time in Massachusetts. House ownership by dwellers is doing much to solve the rent hogging situation. In the industrial centers where rents are now highest there are the greatest building booms so that with many new buildings rents in the course of the next year must fall.

The commission in all this communique points to "another year" before there is a decided drop in rentals. As a matter of fact, the commission has informed your representative that this drop may come within considerable less than a year. This information should be of the greatest value to persons this spring who are asked to sign leases and otherwise make provisions for living quarters. A word to the wise, etc., may save many a dollar if taken seriously by the tenants.

Whipple's Campaign

The campaign of Sherman L. Whipple for the democratic nomination for United States senator is certainly well handled. In the Worcester district where it is in charge of Charles Campbell, Campbell, who is an attorney, has for many years been associated with Senator David I. Walsh. He was a most valuable asset to the junior senator in handling the Worcester district in the Walsh campaign. In fact his first interest in politics was in the campaigns of Walsh for lieutenant governor and for governor. Campbell has never been an office seeker, only once asking the suffrage of voters. That was when he was elected a delegate to the democratic national convention on the Walsh anti-League of Nations platform. He went to Frisco as "Dave's" pal; in fact he occupied the same suite at San Francisco with Walsh.

Harold Wilson Again

Harold D. Wilson, former prohibition agent, whose raid at the Quincy House, will not be forgotten in the coming campaign, has been putting in a good word for Joseph Walker, the candidate for the republican nomination to the senate. Although the Walker forces are, of course, glad of a good word from Mr. Wilson as from anyone else, it should not be understood that Wilson is a regular Walker speaker. Walker is out for liquor law enforcement; that pleases Wilson. Moreover, Wilson has absolutely no use for Henry Cabot L—— and he's willing to work for anyone who will help defeat the senior senator.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Spanish Jade," with David Powell Feature for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A thrilling, delightful production of sunny Spain and Spanish life, "The Spanish Jade," will feature the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday show at the Merrimack Square theatre. The second big feature will be "The Wife Trap," a drama of modern life with Mia May a new star, in the feature role.

For tomorrow, Manager Nelson has arranged another of his characteristically excellent Sunday programs. The leading attractions will be "A Trip to Paradise," one of Bert Lytell's most entertaining films, and Eugene O'Brien in "Clay Dollars." There will be several other shorter features.

One of the most popular players of the American screen is David Powell, who is the featured star in "The Spanish Jade," the leading attraction for the first part of the week.

The story of "The Spanish Jade" is fashioned somewhat along the lines of the adventures of the famous Don Quixote. A young girl having been sold by her dissolute father to a rich roue, flees and in her flight is aided by a young adventurer with a big heart but a slim purse. A young American also assists her and in a fight the rich roue is killed. The American is accused and the girl offers to sacrifice her own life to save him. How she is prevented from doing this and the manner in which the romance is brought to a happy culmination make a photoplay that is distinctly worthwhile.

Mr. Powell is exceptionally well cast as the young adventurer and the rest of the cast is wholly adequate.

If a woman marries for money without love and then through a sense of fairness and gratitude does all in her power to make her husband happy, can she be blamed for still having a lingering affection for the man she really loved before her marriage? Such is the intensely powerful theme underlying Mia May's Paramount picture, "The Wife Trap," which will be the second big attraction Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss May has an entirely different role in this picture, one which will elevate her to a high position among the players of the screen. As the wife whom her jealous husband subjects to several cruel tests, she will undoubtedly win the sympathy of all women and the admiration of all men. And the manner in which she works out her own destiny in order that her child may face the future with courage and respect provides a thrill rivalled only by the ever-famous "Madame X."

A special attraction for the first part of the week will be a film entitled: "How to Make a Radio Set for 60 Cents." This film won first prize at the National Radio contest and is well worth seeing. A comedy and the International News will complete the bill.

It will pay you to get The Sun classified adv. habit.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS—BUILDING NOTES

Start Small and Then Grow

Basing their figures on general price averages rather than specific costs in any one community, the Curtis Service Bureau, Clinton, Ia., designers of this house, say the cost would be in the neighborhood of $5300. This price would include wiring, plumbing and heating. Probably local estimates would not be far from this figure.

One of the chief things to consider if you wish to build economically, is the size of the house. It is just as uneconomical to build too small a home, as too large. It involves probable remodeling later—which is often rather unsatisfactory, as well as relatively more expensive—and it also involves irritating and inconvenient crowding before the remodeling is finally done. It is best to plan for probable future needs, if possible, without involving a burden of unused space in the meantime.

The home pictured here solves the problem admirably. The two bedrooms upstairs need not be finished off at first, and you would still have a complete and desirable five-room home on the first floor. This makes it an excellent plan for those who expect to build at once, and therefore want a home that is not too large for now, but which will fill their needs for many years to come.

Very often a downstairs bedroom and bathroom are a great convenience especially where there are children or elderly people in the family, or in cases of illness. It is unusual to find a plan in which these rooms are so well arranged for privacy from the rest of the house, and for pleasantness, as they are here. Being at the back of the house, they are undisturbed by the noise of the street, and may be shut from view and intrusion from the day portion of the house. Both have a cross-circulation of air. The smaller has, in addition to its clothes closet, a built-in tray case, which economizes space in the room. Two upstairs bedrooms, another bathroom and a large dressing room supplement these downstairs bedrooms. These are reached by means of an open stair, in the corner of the living room.

The living room and the dining room occupy the entire front of the house, connected by French doors. Both are light, pleasant rooms. Space is provided for the china, silver and linens in the dining room by corner cupboards of attractive design. The kitchen is located centrally, just to the rear of the dining room, but in front of the bedroom, so that it is but a step from any room on the first floor. This is a point the woman who does her own housework—and by far the majority do—will appreciate, and yet which is found in surprisingly few of the plans which are usually submitted to her for approval. A good-sized side porch adjoins the kitchen, suitable for a supplementary work place in summer. One might even serve meals there in the hot weather, unseen from the front of the house, but with a pleasant view of the grassy sideyard. The refrigerator entry and basement step are handy both from the porch and from the kitchen.

When there is a side street or drive at the right of one's lot, the plan may be "reversed," so that the kitchen entry may take advantage of it. The generous front porch is an enticing feature of the plan.

Stucco is shown as the material of construction, though various other materials may be used. Casement windows are most appropriate, on account of the English development of the entire exterior; and contrary to general superstition, casement windows if properly fitted with hardware and frames are just as weatherproof as double-hung windows. In climates where double-hung windows have to be used, they may be substituted in the same size openings, without destroying the artistic balance of the exterior, but they should also be divided into small panes, if the best effect is to be secured.

Furniture for this house can be purchased from A. E. O'Heir & Co., in Hurd st., on reasonable terms.—Adv.

TROOPS REQUESTED FOR RAILWAY YARDS

Troops on duty at the big railroad yards at Port Jervis, N. Y., ordered there by Governor Miller after local officials asked for aid in guarding property.

Knights Templars Outing

From the old Sun:

"Early this morning to the music of Dick Griffith's National band, the gallant Knights Templars of Pilgrim commandery started away for their trip to Laconia, N. H. where they are to be the guests for the day of Pilgrim commandery of that place.

There were 100 knights in line headed by Sir Walter W. Johnson, E. C. A special train was taken at the Northern depot and stops were made at Manchester and Concord where the local knights turned out to meet the travelers. From Concord to Laconia no stops were made.

"The officers of Pilgim commandery are Sir Walter W. Johnson, E. C., Sir Harry Dunlap, G., Sir Frank K. Stearns C. G., Sir William A. Eastman, prelate; Sir. John C. Blood, S. W.; Sir Herbert G. Taft, J. W.; Eminent Sir Arthur G. Pollard, treasurer; Sir James W. B. Shaw, recorder; Sir Elisha J. Neale, St. B.; Sir William B. Jackson, Sw. B.; Sir James F. Savage, warder; Sir Willard A. Brown, guard; Sir Edward B. Carney, guard; Sir Morris S. Blodgett, guard; Sir Arthur J. Murkland, assistant guard; Sir William A. Hayden, assistant guard; Sir Alfred P. Nichols, assistant guard; Sir Irvin A. Foote, organist."

St. Michael's Picnic

Says the Sun:

"The rain came down in torrents Saturday afternoon and during the heaviest downfall the cars going to Mountain Rock were crowded with the people from St. Michael's parish.

"The baseball game between the Celtics and the Y. M. C. I. with M. J. Mahoney as umpire, was the leading feature, but the rain stopped the contest at the end of the first inning with the score 3 to 2 in favor of the Celtics."

Mountain Rock was then a popular picnic ground with a zoo containing bears, deer and other animals. Now it is cut up into house lots for summer camps.

ONE KILLED IN KANSAS CITY EXPLOSION

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 29.—Several persons were reported injured and two buildings damaged and set fire last night by an explosion in the down-town district. Plate glass windows in store buildings for a block around were shattered.

First reports were that the explosion ocurred in a restaurant, in which many persons were said to have been eating. It is not known whether all escaped, because the building was demolished by the explosion and took fire soon afterward.

The first fatality occurred when a fireman was killed by an electric wire. Witnesses of the explosion said that it would have been impossible for all of the persons in the restaurant to have escaped. A rooming house occupied the second story of the building.

BITTEN BY FIGHTING DOGS

Decrease in Iron and Steel Production

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 28.—A decrease in iron and steel production in the Youngstown district beginning Monday seems inevitable according to predictions by plant operators made today. A cut in operating schedules will be caused as much by the high prices of such coal as can be obtained as by the absolute lack of fuel, it was stated. Mill executives declared that at the present price of steel products it would be ruinous to manufacture with coal costing $8 and $9 a ton. Contracts made by the mills expire partly on Aug. 1 and party on Aug. 15.

THE REED-LONG CONTEST

"Rid Us of Reed" and "Win With Reed" Are Some of the Placards in Michigan

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—"Rid us of Reed," and "Win with Reed" are some of the placards seen on business houses, sign boards, street cars and automobiles here. The placards refer to next Tuesday's state-wide primary election and reports reaching St. Louis say the rural districts have been placarded as heavily as the cities.

The contest between U. S. Senator James A. Reed and Breckenridge Long, third assistant secretary of state in the Wilson administration for the democratic senatorial nomination, overshadowed every other contest.

Veteran politicians say that never in the history of Missouri politics has the interest in a contest been so great and former President Wilson's action in sending several letters into Missouri, urging Reed's defeat, has lent national interest to the race.

"EVIDENCE" IN DRUG CASES STOLEN

NEW YORK, July 28.—The cases against a score of notorious traffickers in habit forming drugs may have to be abandoned by the government as the "evidence" has been stolen from the federal chemical laboratory in the old postoffice building, opposite City Hall park.

The theft occurred several days ago, but it was not revealed until today that the "dope" was taken. Until today it was believed the thieves satisfied themselves with the "evidence" in several liquor prosecutions.

Federal agents now think the liquor was taken not so much for its own sake, as to divert attention from the missing drugs.

ROBBER CAUGHT IN THE ACT

BOSTON, July 28.—As Miss Jean K. Mendlessohn left a State street bank this noon, a young man snatched an envelope containing $884 from her hand. The man fled, but Patrolman Conroy who saw the robbery, caught him and recovered the money. The captive gave his name as Fred J. Pedonti. Miss Mendlessohn is employed by the Submarine Signal Co.

BOSTON, July 28.—James A. Houston, who was connected with the retail dry-goods business in this city for 65 years, died at his home today. He was born in Bucksport, Me.

RIVAL UNIONS CLASH AT HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, July 28.—The walkout of the 700 employes of the J. H. Winchell & Co., Inc., shoe manufacturers, yesterday, in protest of a wage reduction granted by the state board of arbitration, has become a battle between rival unions.

Today 400 of the Winchell crew, organized by the Boot & Shoe Workers' union, voted to secede and join the Shoe Workers' Protective union.

That the Boot & Shoe Workers' union will not surrender without a battle was indicated in the announcement by Percy A. Ducy, agent of the union, that means and funds of the national organization will be placed at the disposal of local officials.

General officers of the Boot & Shoe and members of the Winchell firm today came to an agreement whereby the old scale of wages will be paid and strikers have been given until Monday at 10 o'clock to return to work.

STILL SETS FIRE TO BILLERICA HOUSE

Led by Chief W. D. Livingston of the Billerica police, a squad of officers of the town made a large liquor seizure yesterday when, in a house on the Salem road, near the car shops, a 150 gallon still, 60 gallons of moonshine and 1500 gallons of mash, along with other necessary apparatus was discovered. No arrest has been made yet but it is expected that one will follow in a short time. Incidentally, the still set fire to the house just as the officers were about to enter. The fire kept the town firemen busy for some time. The raiding officers were Chief Livingston, Officers O'Brien, O'Connor, White and Wright.

SHOTS FIRED BY SENTRIES

CONCORD, N. H., July 28.—Military authorities this afternoon confirmed police and railroad statement that the shooting at the Boston & Maine shops here late last night was by national guard sentries and shots were fired when a man sighted near the enclosure refused to halt when twice ordered to do so. The sentries were not fired on. The shots had no effect.

BOSTON, July 28.—Joseph C. Pelletier today filed with the secretary of state, the papers necessary to make him a candidate for the democratic nomination for re-election as district attorney of Suffolk county, from which office he was recently removed.

Pelletier said that a petition for a referendum on the law seeking to prevent his election would be filed in a few days.

Adventures of the Twins

HOW MRS. FROG L EARNED A LESSON

"THAT SO?" SAID DR. SNUFFLES. "WELL, WELL! I'LL HAVE TO GIVE YOU SOME LEG MEDICINE!"

Nancy and Nick overheard Mrs. Robin talking to Mrs. Frog down by the pond.

Mrs. Robin was saying:

"Oh, don't be disappointed about your children, Mrs. Frog. Mine were born without a single feather—bald as door-knobs, my dear! But I went to Dr. Snuffles and he gave me some drops and in three weeks my children were beautiful."

"Oh," said Mrs. Frog eagerly, "do you think it would do my pollywogs any good, Mrs. Robin? Really, I'm almost ashamed of them. They haven't a leg to stand on and, mind you, they've actually got tails like lizards."

"Well," said Mrs. Robin. "I have half a bottle left and you're welcome to it, I'm sure."

The Twins slipped away and told the fairy doctor all about it.

"H'm," said that gentleman thoughtfully. "It's bad business for people to take other folks' medicine! I'll have to give her a little lesson."

Next day Dr. Snuffles presented himself at Mrs. Frog's door and asked about the pollywog children.

"They're fine, thank you," said Mrs. Frog, "only their legs don't grow very fast."

"That so?" said Dr. Snuffles. "Well, well! I'll have to give them some leg medicine. I gave Mrs. Robin's children some feather medicine, and you ought to see them now!"

"Feather medicine!" shrieked Mrs. Frog. "Was that feather medicine she gave me? Goodness! They'll have feathers all over them! Oh, doctor, what shall I do?"

Then Dr. Snuffles kindly, but firmly, gave her a piece of his mind. He told her what not to do thereafter. And that was not to borrow medicine from a neighbor.

Also he said to let her pollywogs alone and they'd grow all the legs they needed and lose their tails as well.

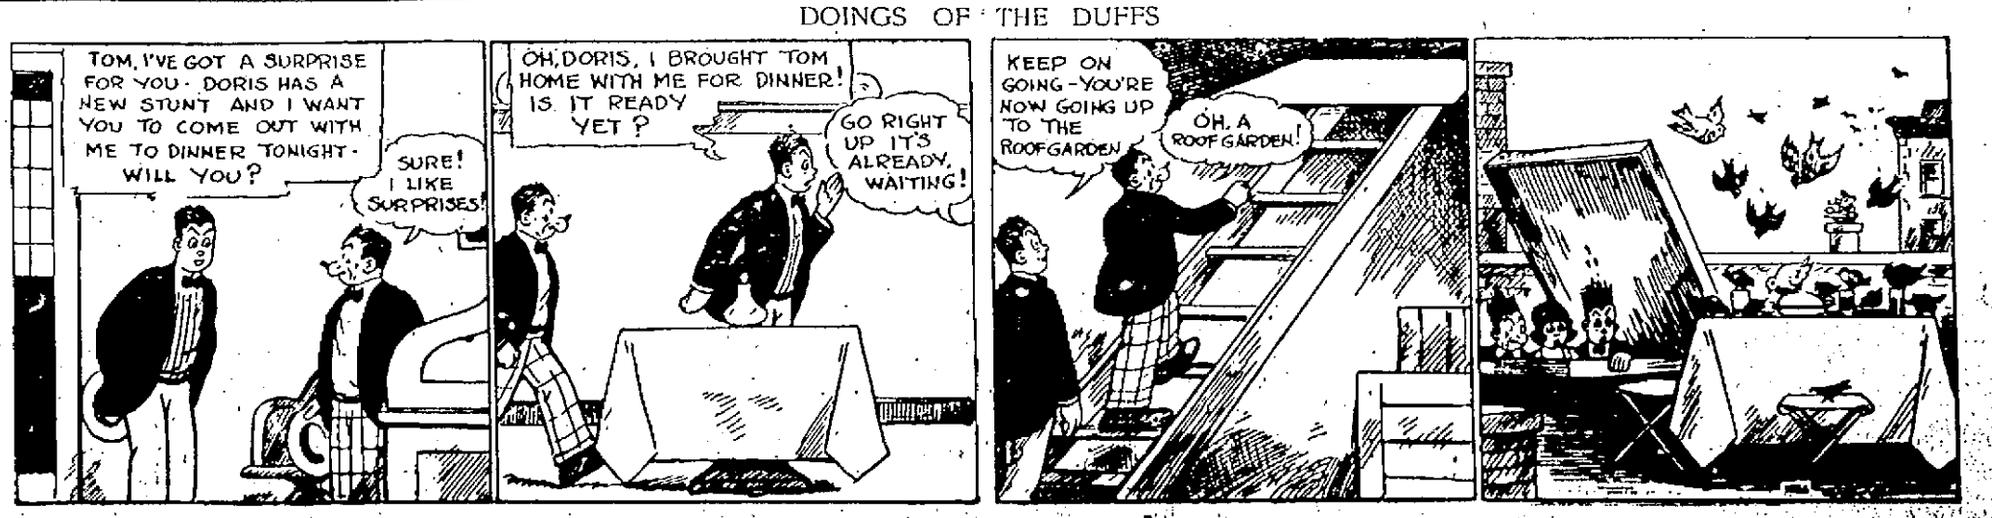

Which they did.

FOUR KILLED IN AIRPLANE WRECK

One American Among Victims of Air Disaster Near Hamburg, Germany

Four Victims When Picked Up Were Found to Have Skulls Crushed

BERLIN, July 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Four persons, one of them an American passenger, R. G. Murrill, of Charlotte, N. C., were killed in the wreck of the German postal airplane which crashed near Bolzenberg, not far from Hamburg, yesterday. The other victims were Albert Baurigan and Senor Cozevergara, Spaniards and Pilot Von Bertram.

The airplane, No. 150, with only these four occupants, left Berlin for Hamburg shortly after 1 p. m. The accident, which happened two hours later, occurred as the plane was flying through a thick cloud over a heavy pine forest. The four victims when picked up were found to have had their skulls crushed. The machine was demolished.

This is the second accident that has occurred on this same route within a fortnight, one of the company's machines having capsized near Hamburg recently killing Pilot Von Richthofen and injuring two passengers.

BOY SERIOUSLY HURT

Five-Year-Old William Shea Knocked Down By Truck in Lawrence Street

William Shea, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Shea of 19 Richmond street, was struck and seriously injured in Lawrence street yesterday afternoon by an automobile truck owned by the Bay State Baking Co. and operated by Thomas O'Loughlin, a minor, living at 117 Crosby street. It is claimed that the driver did not stop after he had struck the Shea lad and was not apprehended by the police until evening, when he called at headquarters.

The Shea boy is at St. John's hospital with a serious head injury that may develop into a skull fracture, a puncture of the stomach and a broken arm. It was said today that he has regained consciousness and that his youthful vitality may pull him through. His name still appears on the dangerous list, however.

O'Loughlin, the operator of the truck claims that he did not stop after the accident because of fear, based upon the fact that he did not possess a driver's license.

The accident occurred in Lawrence street near Scripture's laundry. Shea was playing nearby with companions and O'Loughlin claims that he ran out into the street, in front of his truck, from behind another automobile. He claims he was unable to avoid striking him.

The police were notified of the accident and its circumstances and made efforts to locate the driver of the machine. In the early evening, however, O'Loughlin called at the station with Peter Donnelly, of 609 Gorham street, the regular driver of the truck and the latter informed the police that while he was at his home, the O'Loughlin boy drove away in the truck to deliver a few orders and put up the machine in the garage. He also stated that the boy did not disclose his identity after the accident because he did not possess a license and feared arrest. O'Loughlin was not formally arrested, but was told to appear in court today.

WHIST FOR BENEFIT OF ST. MARIE'S CHURCH

The grounds at the home of Mrs. Anna de Lamotte at the corner of Salem and Whiting streets last evening were the scene of an open air whist for the benefit of the proposed new St. Marie's church in South Lowell. The affair was conducted by a committee of parishioners headed by the pastor, Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I., and was a pronounced success.

There were over 200 guests present and all spent a most enjoyable evening. The early part of the evening was taken up with whist, the program being presided over by Maxime Lepine and at the close of the games, which were played on small tables laid on the spacious lawn, suitable prizes were awarded the winners.

While the judges were tabulating

REV. G. OUTLETTE, O.M.I.

the points scored during the game, a varied entertainment program was given, those participating being the Zouaves' orchestra of Notre Dame de Lourdes' parish, Wilfrid Jacques and Prof. L. N. Guilbault. In the course of the evening two refreshment tables located on the lawn did a thriving business, the tables being in charge of Misses Florida and Esma Sylvestre, Leona Lebel, Eva Parent, Gertrude Perreault and Florence Dambolse.

At the close of the evening interesting remarks were made by Rev. Fr. Ouellette, who took occasion to thank the large gathering for their cooperation and financial assistance toward such a worthy cause as the erection of a new church, and he also extended his thanks to Mrs. de Lamotte for the free use of her grounds. In behalf of the women of the parish, Fr. Ouellette presented Mrs. de Lamotte a large bouquet of flowers as a mark of appreciation for the services rendered the parish.

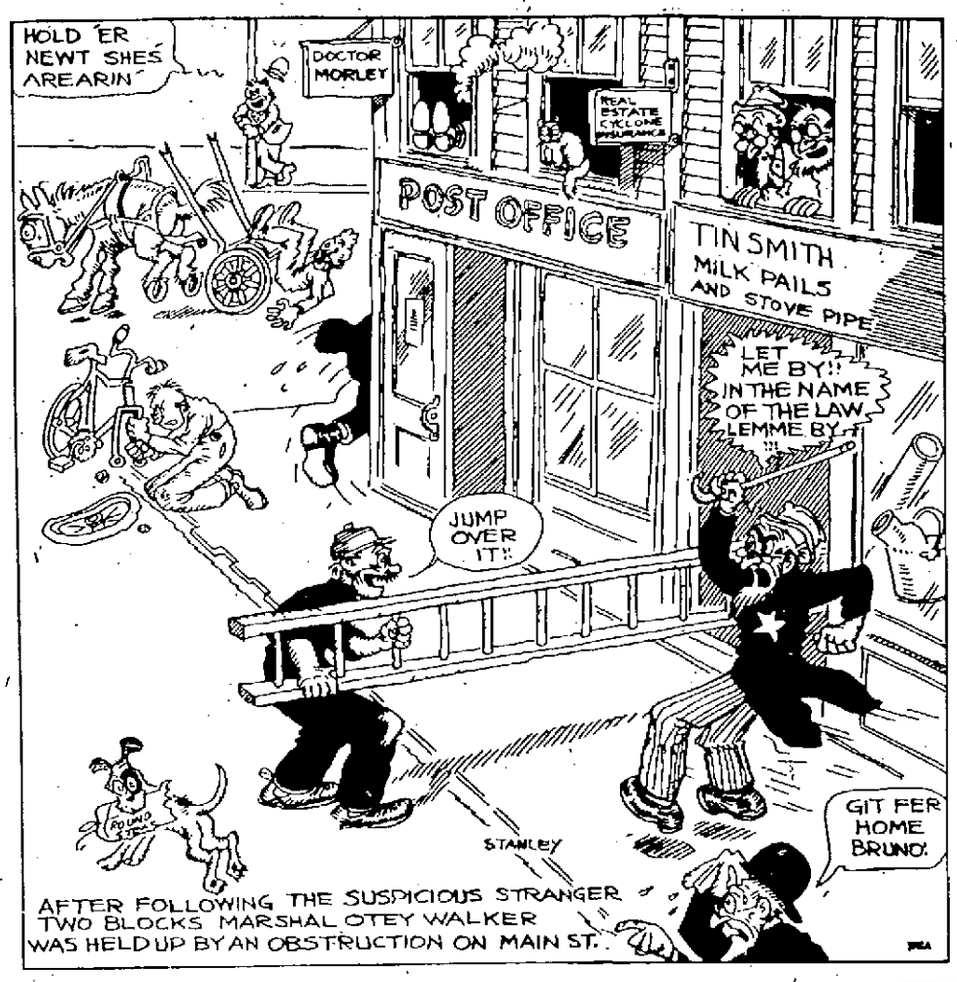

The drawing of the statue of St. Anne, a prize given in connection with the admission tickets, took place, the winner being Miss Cecil Sauvageau. The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I., Mrs. Denis Perreault, Mrs. A. G. Metivier, Mrs. Ferdinand Pronovost, Mrs. William Parent and Mrs. Alfred Dambolse. Mr. and Mrs. Zotique Sauvageau were in charge of the ticket booth on the grounds.

EXPLOSION OF STILL IN TENEMENT DISTRICT

NEW YORK, July 29.—The explosion of a still in a crowded section of Brooklyn drove hundreds of residents to the street today.

Two 100-gallon stills, a 50-gallon condenser, and 55 one-gallon cans were found after the fire which followed the explosion. The building had been rented to men who posed as officials of a macaroni factory.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

MAYOR QUIET ON BOARD OF ASSESSORS

If the mayor has any board of assessors in mind, which he contemplates sending into the city council at its next regular meeting, he is keeping the matter to himself. When asked today if he was going to send in the names of Messrs. Achin, Dwyer and Hogan, he replied that he had nothing to say upon the matter and that all such stories were nothing more than rumor as far as he was concerned.

It was then called to his attention that friends of Albert Bergeron were working in his interests for the mayor's nomination. To this question the mayor also replied that he had nothing to say.

According to a member of the city council, a large French organization is not in favor of Mr. Achin's name being sent to the council by the mayor, but is strongly in favor of having His Honor send down the name of Mr. Bergeron. This member of the council said that he wasn't sure whether either man would be able to muster enough votes to get by.

DEATHS

Keith theatre in this city during the first two years after it opened, died on July 16 in Pittsfield, Mass., following an illness from dropsy of about two years. His age was about 60 years. Later he became manager of the Poli theatre in Waterbury, Conn. His sister, Jessie Stevens, died at Palmyra, N. Y., in June last. She had lived there with her mother. WILL RESIGN AS CLERK

George F. Toye Plans to Leave District Court Office in October of This Year

Confirmation was given today by George F. Toye, assistant clerk of the district court, of the rumor that he is to resign his position within a few months and return to the practice of law, which he left some few years ago to become ex-Mayor Thompson's secretary; later replacing Edward L. Trull as assistant clerk when the latter was promoted to the position of clerk left vacant by the death of James F. Savage.

October, rather than September as stated in the rumor, is the month in which Mr. Toye intends to sever his connection with the local court. He intended keeping the matter to himself until a much later date, but on telling a few close friends of his decision he found that the report was becoming more and more widespread. Hence, his confirmation of the story today.

Those who have known of his intention have been busy, apparently, selecting his successor, who will be appointed by the justice of the district court. Raymond Bourgeois, acting assistant clerk of court and a favorite with those who visit the clerk's office, and James T. O'Hearn, formerly well known here as an attorney and said to be backed by local contemporaries, are the two candidates most prominently mentioned to succeed Mr. Toye.

AGED COUPLE TO WED TOMORROW

DANBURY, Conn., July 29.—General Stillman F. Kneeland, and Mrs. Eastman Johnson of New York city, who came here five days ago to obtain a marriage license, returned from Pittsfield, Mass., last night and announced that the wedding probably would take place tomorrow morning. The couple were refused a license when they came here because of a Connecticut law which makes it necessary for non-residents to wait five days before the papers can be issued.

The couple left this city when the news of their intended marriage became known and went to Pittsfield, ostensibly to avoid notoriety. While there, Gen. Kneeland said they bought a large tract of farm land where they expect to end their days. Both the general and Mrs. Johnson are more than 70 years old.

The employes of the Houghton and Dutton store of Boston held their annual outing at Silver lake today. The merry party arrived at the lake about 10 a. m. this morning, and swimming and other athletic events were enjoyed by all. The trip from the Hub was made by electric cars.

DEMORALIZATION IN GERMAN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, July 29.—Extreme demoralization was shown in German exchange in this market today, the mark falling to 15½ cents a hundred the lowest quotation, ever recorded here. This represented an overnight decline to almost two cents a hundred. The normal, or prewar price of the mark was 23.8 cents each.

Disappointment over a delay in the settlement of the reparations question, together with troubled state of the German domestic situation, are believed to be responsible for the further depression. The advance in the German bank rate yesterday was also regarded as indicative of the acute financial strain in that country.

Three Men Drowned—Two Others Narrowly Escape at So. Norwalk, Conn.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., July 29.—Three men were drowned here and two others had narrow escapes from death today when their automobile skidded while crossing Wall street bridge and crashed through the railing into the Norwalk river, 30 feet below. All the dead were of South Norwalk. The saved are Nicholas Ricci and Willard Meeker.

BUDGET COMMISSION HOLDS UP SUPT. DOHERTY'S PAY

Says He Is Not Entitled to Compensation for 17-Day Period From Time of Vote of Removal by Temporary Board to Reinstatement by Messrs. Murphy, Leary and Bowers---Mayor Upholds Action

Superintendent of Streets Harry F. Doherty is not entitled to pay for the period in which he was considered removed from office, according to a vote passed today by the budget and audit commission, the substance of which was sent to Mayor Brown. Shortly after the receipt of the letter the mayor sent a letter to City Auditor Daniel E. Martin in which he said that he would sustain the commission in its action.

Supt. Doherty was removed from office on June 30 by a temporary board of public service consisting of Messrs. Clouatre, MacKenzie and Bowers, with the latter not voting. Just previous, Messrs. Murphy and Leary of the board had been removed by the mayor for their failure to remove Doherty from office.

Later the city council reinstated Mr. Murphy and Mr. Leary, who in turn returned Mr. Doherty to office.

As the situation now stands it begins to look as if the city would have to get along without its sheet asphalt work for this summer, at least. At the present time the mayor and board of public service are at loggerheads over the requisition order which provides for the work being done.

Mayor Brown says that he refuses to sign the requisition as it now reads, while Dennis J. Murphy, chairman of the board of public service, said this morning that the board would not change the wording of the requisition. Mr. Murphy added that the work was only being carried out according to the mayor's wishes and

G. W. Tice, of Framingham, Held in Bonds for Superior Court Session

Is Alleged to Have Led 10-Year-Old Girl Away From So. Common

Today's session of district court, with Judge Thomas J. Enright presiding, brought out a number of serious offences, those which were tried on the spot bringing severe sentences. Illegal sale and keeping of liquor, keeping a liquor nuisance and other charges of the same sort were in the majority, but an abduction case involving a ten-year-old girl was the center of interest.

In the abduction trial, George W. Tice of Framingham, a man well along in his thirties, apparently, was charged with enticing a pretty little ten-year-old miss from the South common to the St. Charles hotel in Middlesex street. He was followed, according to the testimony, by an officer, who

Wage reductions will be announced at the Tremont & Suffolk and Boott mills within a short time it was learned officially this morning. The amount of the cut in each mill or the date of their announcement could not be learned, but it is expected that something definite along that line will be given out within a fortnight.

The Tremont & Suffolk mills are now going through a period of rushing business, particularly in the blanket departments and for the past few weeks the number of employes has been increased to such an extent that the payroll of the company is now practically normal. It was also learned that business is picking up in the hosiery plant connected with the mill and that additional help are being employed every day.

At the Boott mill business has been at a standstill for a long time, but signs of improvement are beginning to show. A local mill official stated today that irrespective of statements issued at the strike headquarters to the effect that there will be no wage reductions at the Tremont & Suffolk, Boott and Appleton, these companies will have to fall in line with the other textile mills of the city in reducing their production expenses if they wish to continue in business and he also stated that it is fair to assume that orders of a wage cut are expected any day from headquarters in Boston.

Commenting upon textile conditions in general this morning, Chairman John Hanley of the strike committee said if the mill officials are willing to properly feed, clothe and shelter the strikers, they will all return to work. "We are not asking for wages that will eventually make us rich men," he continued, "but we want a living wage, and if the mill officials who have reduced wages 12½ per cent. during the past 18 months believe that we can live on what they are willing to pay us, we are willing to go back to work and not accept one dollar in wages, providing they will serve us good quality food, clothe us properly and supply us with comfortable living quarters. All we ask for is a square deal and here is a chance for the mill managers to show us and the public at large how we can make both ends meet with the wages they are offering us."

It is expected there will be a large gathering at the mass meeting to be held on the South common tomorrow evening. The meeting will be called at 7 o'clock by John Hanley and the speakers will be John L. Campos of Fall River, who will address the gathering in the Portuguese language; Thomas J. Reagan, Charles E. Anderson and the following members of the Boston & Maine Federated Crafts: Walter H. Chandler, Thomas F. Golding and J. Clahcy.

Coal Mining To Be Resumed Aug. 1

CHICAGO, July 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Coal mining will be resumed Aug. 1 in three small fields controlled by the Kentucky-Tennessee Coal Operators' association under an agreement said to be the first reached between the unions and operators since the coal strike began. Miners of District No. 19 did not join the strike remaining at work by agreement. The new contract provides an increase in pay.

District No. 19 headquarters, United Mine Workers of America, announced the agreement as restoring the 1920 scale but, as given out by the operators, the agreement is with "individual" miners, and does not recognize the unions. The mines are in the Pineville district, along the Tennessee Central Railway and near Nashville, and they employ 5000 men.

Miners and operators of another Kentucky district around Middlesboro, will meet Tuesday with the expectation of signing a similar agreement.

In the chief producing districts the central competitive field, there was no immediate sign of agreement, although union leaders insisted that plans were going forward for a general conference toward reaching the only kind of an agreement the miners will accept—one covering the whole field.

Governor Taylor of Tennessee was asked for troops by the sheriff of Claiborne county. The sheriff said that striking miners were terrorizing citizens.

Officers of the Kentucky National Guard detachment sent to the Yellow Creek mines in Bell county to prevent a threatened clash reported that all is quiet.

A report from Walsall, Pa., said that the homes of coal working miners there had been dynamited. The federal reserve bank at St. Louis reported that continuance of the coal strike for a much longer period would result in serious inconvenience and higher costs.

Conference at Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—District presidents of the central competitive fields comprising western Philadelphia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, went into conference with the international officers of the United Mine Workers here today to consider strike conditions in those four states, and the prospects of calling a four state wage conference.

Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners said he had no information that a four state conference was imminent except what he had seen in the newspapers. The Illinois leader, who has been at odds with international President John L. Lewis over organization matters said that he had seen from an announcement made by Mr. Lewis that a four state conference had been arranged without consulting the Illinois miners who represent one quarter of the organization.

President John Hessler of Indiana has replied to the request of the governor of Indiana that sufficient miners be permitted to work to produce coal for state institutions and public utilities. Mr. Hessler in his reply said he regretted to learn that operators continue to repudiate their contract to meet in a four state conference and wondered why such a policy is still pursued.

CARAWAY CALLS FOR INQUIRY

Wants Probe of Charges That Senators Financially Interested in Duties

Senate Approves Amendment for Duties on Woolen Cloth for Men's Suitings

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Investigation of charges that certain senators are interested financially in the rates of duties proposed in particular schedules of the pending tariff bill was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas.

The inquiry would be conducted by the judiciary committee, which would be instructed to report to the senate within ten days. Also the committee would inquire into charges that senators, in the language of the resolution "are or were financially interested in the passage or extension of the so-called emergency tariff."

Amendment Approved

WASHINGTON, July 29.—By a vote of 26 to 24 the senate approved today the committee amendment imposing duties on woolen cloth for men's suitings. Seven republicans voted against the amendment and three democrats supported it.

The republicans were Borah, Capper, Cummins, Kellogg, Lenroot, Nelson and Wadsworth and the democrats Brousard, Kendrick and Ransdell.

The duties as agreed upon are 26 cents a pound and 40 per cent. ad valorem on such cloth valued at not more than 60 cents a pound; 40 cents and 50 per cent. ad valorem on that valued at from 60 to 80 cents a pound; 49 cents a pound and 50 per cent. ad valorem on that valued at more than 80 cents a pound. Under an amendment by Lenroot which was approved, the 49 cents a pound compensatory duty would apply only on the woolen content of the cloth.

CITY'S DEATH RATE

FOR RECOGNITION OF LOYAL MEN

N. Y. Chamber of Commerce Appeals for Railroad Shopmen Now at Work

Urges Full Recognition to Men Who Kept Trains Moving During Strike

NEW YORK, July 29.—The chamber of commerce of the state of New York today wired President Harding a request that, in negotiating a rail strike settlement, he "give full recognition to the loyal railroad employes, who, during this assault upon established government and the life of the nation, kept trains moving and have thereby given courage to all who believe in support of the laws of the land and the peaceable settlement of industrial disputes."

The message closely followed an announcement by L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson, and chairman of the Eastern Railway president's conference that he had sent telegrams to United States Senators Wadsworth and Calder of New York, declaring "the president has made no effort to inform himself as to the position of more than 175,000 shopmen now on the railroads' payrolls, whose interests are vitally at stake."

"More than 15,000 of these men are in your own state," said Mr. Loree's message to the senators. "Naturally they will look to you to see that their interests are safeguarded."

Attacks Harding's Plan

CINCINNATI, July 29.—The proposed plan for settlement of the nation-wide railroad strike was attacked today by H. A. Worcester, vice president of the Big Four railroad system, who declared that if the striking shopmen were granted seniority it would mean that the railway executives had "lied" to the new men when they were engaged to fill the places of the striking shopmen.

Mr. Worcester declared that "to grant seniority to the striking shopmen who left their jobs July 1, means that the new men who have been engaged to take their places and have

No Serious Friction

With regard to the reported friction existing between the supervisors of recreational work on the city's playgrounds, and teachers of the school department who were engaged for six weeks to teach industrial subjects, Supt. Hugh J. Molloy of the latter department gives out the following statement: "Any apparent conflict between different city departments is a very simple matter which can be adjusted easily. The school department is co-operating to the fullest possible extent in the summer work for children."

Volleyball Games

The volleyball team of Shedd park, captained by Emma McEntee, defeated the Butler team, led by Alice Wiltemore, yesterday afternoon on the Shedd Park grounds by the score of 21 to 8.

GIRLS' BASEBALL LEAGUE

Baseball has assumed an important position on the schedule of activities for the girls on the city playgrounds this year. The young girls have become very much enthused with the game and have formed three leagues. A definite schedule of games has been mapped out, calling for one game at least between each team of the same league, an interleague series, and the city championship on August 10. It is possible that an inter-city championship series may be played with the leading teams of the Lawrence and Haverhill playgrounds at the conclusion of the season.

The league standing to date is as follows:

GERMANY GIVEN 10 DAYS TO SIGN

PARIS, July 29—(By A. P.)—Germany has been given 10 days in which formally to accept the decision of the allied clearing office in refusing to reduce the monthly payments made by the German government to the allies for debts contracted by German nationals with allied citizens prior to the war.

Germany in connection with her recent request for a moratorium, asked that this monthly instalment of £2,000,000 be reduced to £500,000 because of the difficulty in purchasing the foreign exchange necessary to make the payments.

DE VALERA DISAPPEARS

Report Irish Republican Leader on Way to U. S. Seen Carrying a Rifle

NEW YORK, July 29.—There is a well-defined rumor in circulation in this city that Eamonn de Valera has left Ireland secretly and taken passage on a ship bound for the United States. It is known that De Valera has not been seen with the tattered remnants of the republican army in Ireland for several days.

It is believed by many of his friends that he has made his way to an Irish seaport and escaped from the country in order to seek sympathy and financial support in America for the anti-treaty faction.

Seen Carrying Rifle

DUBLIN, July 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Travelers in Dublin today who said they saw Eamon de Valera at Clonmel early this week declared he was carrying a rifle and that he looked worn and haggard.

Today's National army communique announces that Free State troops captured the village of Bruree, two miles from Kilmallock, last night, together with the insurgent occupants of the village and their arms and ammunition. The irregulars had established a strong position there after their retreat from Limerick.

Glenveagh Castle, which for some time has been the headquarters of irregulars in County Donegal and from which they have conducted constant raids by roving bands, was captured by national troops yesterday.

Sean O'Ceallaigh, former Irish representative in Paris, has been rearrested here.

COL. GASTON DENIES HE PLANS TO SHIFT

BOSTON, July 29.—The rumor that Col. William A. Gaston is now a candidate for United States senator from Massachusetts, would withdraw from that contest and become a candidate for the nomination for governor has been heard from time to time in the past few weeks, but Col. Gaston has declared it to be untrue. Even if Col. Gaston had an inclination to change the field of his political fight he would find it difficult to do so now, and there is no reason for supposing that such a plan has entered his mind.

Most of the politicians were greatly surprised when Col. Gaston announced a few weeks ago that he would run for the senate. It was no secret that he had cherished the ambition to be governor, like his father before him, and the general understanding was that he would be a candidate for governor this year. The story is that Col. Gaston and his friends looked into the political situation at the time when Atty. Gen. Allen was on the top wave of popularity, made up their minds that Mr. Allen would be a candidate for the republican nomination for governor, and decided that the attorney general could not be defeated at the election if he won the nomination. Thereupon, so the report goes, Col. Gaston determined to run for senator.

SAYS SEARLES MARRIED LOWELL GIRL

BOSTON, July 29.—Albert Victor Searles, writer and artist, and nephew of the late Edward J. Searles, Methuen millionaire, was married to Miss Charlotte Boulister of Lowell last November. News of the marriage, which took place in Pennsylvania, was confirmed today by attorney Sherman L. Whipple, counsel for Mr. Searles. Mr. and Mrs. Searles are now on a pleasure trip to Nova Scotia.

Searles several months ago received $6,000,000 from the $50,000,000 estate of his uncle. He was recently made the defendant in a $2,000,000 breach of promise suit brought by Mary Johnson of Rockport.

The Lowell directory shows no Miss Charlotte Boulister. The name nearest to it is Boullenter, but there is no Charlotte.

STEEPLE JACK FATALLY HURT

Chas. Peters Has Every Bone in Body Broken—Is Dying in Hospital

BOSTON, July 29.—Two steeplejacks were plunged headlong down a 125-foot shaft in Willimansett when the brick chimney was struck by lightning, several women fainted during a panic in a street car hit by a lightning bolt and heavy damage was caused to tobacco crops in the western part of the state, during a severe electrical and hail storm, late yesterday.

Greater Boston escaped with only a slight touch of the storm, the fury of which lashed all the western section of Massachusetts for more than an hour.

Charles Peters of Willimansett and his apprentice, Raymond Tremblay of Chicopee street, Springfield, were working on a staging 125 feet up inside the chimney of the Willimansett branch of the Springfield Brewery company, yesterday afternoon, when a lightning bolt crashed through the brick tower almost at their heads.

Knocked from the staging, the men tumbled down the shaft while workers screamed in horror. Peters' form landed on the hard concrete bottom, most of the bones in his body being broken. He was unconscious but alive when fellow workers got to him.

Breaks Tremblay's Fall

To the daring and presence of mind of one of the workmen, young Tremblay owes his life. As his form toppled down the shaft, turning over and over, the workman, whose name was not learned, reached out to catch the falling youth. His body was falling with too much speed, and the would-be rescuer could not hold it, but the workman had broken the fall of Tremblay and the young man escaped death or frightful injury.

At the Holyoke hospital, where both men were taken, doctors said Peters has only a slight chance for recovery. Tremblay, however, will live, the doctors predicted.

The tower was struck during the height of the storm, which raged unabated for more than an hour, with lightning flashes zig-zagging from one building to another and throwing terror into women and children.

In Chicopee Falls a street car was struck by lightning and a panic among the passengers ensued. Several women collapsed during the stampede to gain the door of the car, which was enveloped in flame. The fire was quickly extinguished and no one seriously injured.

The tower of the Notre Dame church, in Southbridge was struck by a lightning bolt and part of the roofing shattered. Great alarm was felt for a time as it was feared the new $60,000 church organ in the tower had been ruined. An examination, however, revealed the organ and the almost priceless collection of paintings in the edifice to be unharmed. Damage to the tower was placed at $500.

Tobacco crops suffered particularly from the hail, while vegetable and fruit gardens were destroyed in many sections.

At Dover, N. H., two men were injured and property damage of $3000 was done, when lightning set fire to and destroyed the barn on the Jacob Young farm here. Roscoe Thompson was severely burned while rescuing horses, one of which could not be saved and was burned. James Mulligan was badly hurt when the automobile in which he and a fireman were going to the blaze skidded and hit a pole. He was taken to a hospital with a severed artery. John Barry, the fireman, was unhurt. Forty tons of hay were burned.

RETAIL MERCHANTS

On account of the small attendance at their last meeting, due to a misunderstanding concerning the date, a second meeting of the Lowell retail merchants will be held next Wednesday, Aug. 2, at 10 a. m. in the rooms of the chamber of commerce. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss coming co-operative sales events and it is hoped that a large gathering of merchants will be on hand.

REED AND LONG WIND UP BITTER CAMPAIGN

ST. LOUIS, July 29. (By the Associated Press).—United States Senator James A. Reed and Breckenridge Long, third assistant secretary of state during the Wilson administration, tonight will close their campaigns for democratic senatorial nomination to be decided at the primary election next Tuesday. Veteran politicians agree their contest has been one of the bitterest waged in Missouri.

The democratic contest has drawn so much attention during the last three months that little significance has been attached to the contest among the six republican candidates.

Senator Reed's supporters are expecting many votes from the ranks of the ex-soldiers because of his fight for the national soldier bonus.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and his record as national food administrator during the war, the League of Nations and other issues opposed in the senate by Senator Reed, have formed the basis of Reed's campaign. Woodrow Wilson felt the sting of the typical Reed wit and oratory when he appealed to the voters of the state to defeat Senator Reed.

CLOUDBURSTS AND RAINS CAUSE GREAT DAMAGE

DENVER, Colo., July 29.—Cloudbursts and heavy rains yesterday sent Cherry Creek and the Platte river several feet above normal stage, drove many families from their homes, caused serious damage and in some instances destruction of bridges and highways and marooned many motorists on mountain roads radiating from Denver.

The cloudburst which caused greatest alarm here occurred late in the afternoon at Parker, Colo., 25 miles southeast. Bridges were washed away and in some section where the creek overflowed its banks, residents sought safety in higher ground.

The greatest damage done in Denver was at Globeville, a suburb, where many homes were flooded and considerable damage done to packing plants.

SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR ECONOMIC TREASON

MOSCOW, July 29.—Four employes of the Nobel Oil company, defendants in a trial for economic treason, have been sentenced to death by the revolutionary tribunal. One of them is Johan Harmsen, a Dutch subject in charge of the Nobel company's Russian interests, who was accused of counter revolutionary activities and also of sending information abroad detrimental to the soviet government.

Four bandits, three of them brothers, who terrorized Moscow inhabitants by looting stores and holding up pedestrians at night last winter, were also sentenced to death.

SMALL WOOL CLIP IN ARGENTINA

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Argentina's wool clip which begins next September is expected to be the smallest in the 20th century, according to a survey issued today by the commerce department. Sheep grazing in Argentina, the department found, has dropped from 74,380,000 in 1895 to 44,855,000 in 1913 and to between 25,000,000 and 35,000,000 at the present time.

It is not likely, the department declared, that this year's clip in Argentina will produce more than 180,000,000 pounds of wool, or approximately 150,000 bales, of which only 13,500 bales will be first class merino. Coincident with the decline in the number of sheep, there has been a steady adoption of cross-breeding, merino in northeastern Argentina having been almost entirely superseded by crossbreds, so that at the present time very little merino wool is produced.

The decline in the clip for next year from the 1921-1922 wool clip, which was estimated at 290,000,000 pounds, was said by the department to be the result of the low price for sheep wool since the autumn of 1920.

At the present time the department stated, Argentina is the second largest wool exporting country in the world.

Missing Submarines Are Accounted For

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—All 12 of the submarines en route from Los Angeles to Hampton Roads, Va., under convoy of the tender Beaver, were said at the local submarine base to be accounted for today. Two of the submersibles are out of commission and are being towed, it was said, but no serious trouble is being experienced. Early reports to the effect that four of the submarines were missing grew out of the statement of Captain Thomas W. Sheridan, master of the liner City of Honolulu, that he had sighted a badly smoking submarine off the Lower California coast.

113 Newspapers Owned by Negroes

WASHINGTON, July 29.—There are 113 newspapers and 14 magazines in the United States owned and directed by negroes, the department of labor announced today as the result of a recent inquiry. Nearly 1300 employes, of which 61 are white workers, manage the publications, which include 96 secular, 23 religious and eight fraternal, published weekly, monthly and daily. Sixty-three of the publications, the department stated, maintain and operate their own press and an additional seven conduct work of a book or job nature.

Search for Bonds Valued at $60,000

BOSTON, July 29.—A search for bonds said to be valued at between $50,000 and $60,000, believed to be a part of the loot of a big robbery, was begun by the police today following the arrest of Bernard J. McDonald, a stock salesman of this city as he was attempting to dispose of coupons valued at $1100 in a Devonshire street bond house. McDonald was held on suspicion, but the police said he would be charged with the larceny of the coupons on his appearance in court.

NEGRO TAKEN OFF TRAIN AND SHOT TO DEATH

TEXARKANA, Tex., July 29.—Authorities today were without a clew to the identity of the band of 100 men who yesterday shot to death John West, negro, near Guernsey, Ark., after a quarrel between West and Henry Worthington, paving foreman.

West and Worthington came to blows after a dispute over a drinking cup, both using sledge hammers, but neither was seriously injured. West later was said to have been warned to leave town and he boarded a train at Hope, bound for Texarkana. When the train reached Guernsey, half a dozen men went aboard and took the negro off. The men were joined by about 90 others and after taking their captive a short distance from the track shot him to death.

GARLAND FUND TO AID STARVING MINERS

NEW YORK, July 29.—The first appropriation out of the $800,000 given to the new American fund for public service by Charles Garland, young Massachusetts idealist who is giving away his inherited fortune, will go to the relief of starving miners in the western Pennsylvania coal fields.

The appropriation, amounting to $2000, was authorized by the board of directors yesterday at their first meeting, young Garland being present.

For a time the principal of the fund established by Garland "for the benefit of mankind" will remain intact, only the income being used for appropriations. To determine how best to spend the money, four committees will survey the fields of (1) Periodicals and publications; (2) Educational campaigns for new ideas; (3) Experimental educational institutions, and (4) Research, particularly in industry and economics.

WOMAN CANDIDATE EXPECTS TO WIN

TOPEKA, July 29. (By Associated Press.)—Exercising the inalienable right of women to change her mind—even though she be a candidate for governor—Miss Ilelen Pettigrew no longer admits that defeat dwells within her camp in the primary election contest for the republican gubernatorial nomination, on August 1. She is one of seven candidates.

"I'll be nominated by 30,000 plurality," asserted the young and good looking—candidate.

Something of a rude awakening is dua staid and puritanic Kansas, according to Miss Pettigrew's prediction, for the main plank in her platform is "the return of beer and light wines." Of course, she admits she does not intend to put this over single handed. She recognizes that, as the matter now stands, the issue of staging a come-back for beer and light wines would necessarily be national rather than state.

"But I want to show up the sentiment—right here in Kansas, where prohibition has prevailed for more than 40 years," Miss Pettigrew declares. "I guess with my nomination, then congress will recognize the demand to give the people what they want surely exists even in greater strength in other states.

"The Kansas druggists are prohibited from selling whiskey on prescription. The sick people of Kansas should be allowed whiskey for medicinal purposes, as the people of other states are. I favor the repeal of the 18th amendment or its modification to permit use of beer and light wines, as they are of medicinal value.

"I advocate resubmission of the issue of the sale of liquor in Kansas. I stand for the people and against rapacious prohibition fanatics and blue sky fanatics."

Miss Pettigrew is founder of Kansas City's Anti-War club. She is in favor of a state bonus for soldiers to be voted upon at the November election. Running for office is a most enjoyable diversion, she says, especially making campaign speeches and meeting the people.

NEW HOUSE WILL BE KNOWN AS "ANNEX"

The Annex is the name given the choice remodelled, newly decorated and furnished rooms and apartments at 36 Prescott street, formerly known as the "Burbank." Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sears, well and favorably known in Lowell for many years, have conducted a homelike and convenient house at 264 Appleton street and, finding a demand for a larger downtown house, have recently set on long and favorable lease, the property at 36 Prescott street, over McManmon's florist shop and the former Colonial restaurant, which they have completely renovated, redecorated and newly furnished throughout, and now have as fine rooming accommodations as can be found north of Boston. New and added sanitary toilet and bath accommodations, also a new and modern electric lighting system, have been installed, insuring comfort and convenience. The house opened ready for guests this afternoon, and visitors will find a cordial welcome.

PELLETIER FILES NECESSARY PAPERS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 29.—Former District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier yesterday filed with the secretary of state the full quota, of names permitted by law for the democratic nomination for district attorney of Suffolk.

In addition to this fight for his old position of district attorney, Mr. Pelletier will fight the law passed this year which states that no man can be elected to the office of district attorney unless he is a qualified, bona fide, practising attorney.

The names for referendum on this new anti-Pelletier law will be filed within a few days, Pelletier says. Because of the tremendous work of certifying names for all of the various candidates, the certification on the referendum has been delayed.

Under the law candidates must file not later than August 4, whereas the names on the referendum need not be filed until two weeks later.

CONGESTION IN PORTS

Interferes With Exportation of British Coal to America, Says London

LONDON, July 29. (By the Associated Press.)—Congestion in British ports is beginning to threaten interference with the exportation of coal to America, which has taken such a boom since the beginning of the strike of the American coal miners. This is particularly true of Wales and Northumberland, where there is a superabundance of tonnage but where the facilities for loading are inadequate.

The loading facilities are limited by the two-shift arrangement which the dock workers imposed upon their employers during the war and which they have since refused to alter, the result being that loading is entirely suspended for six or seven hours out of every 24.

One result of this congestion has been curtailment in freight rates, which in some cases dropped from 16 and 17 shillings to 12 shillings 6 pence per ton between Thursday and Friday, another result is the apparent tendency on the part of American buyers to withhold further orders for a while pending developments in America.

Nowhere is there reported any general support among British miners of the action taken by the Welsh unit of the miners' federation which declared against the exportation of coal to the United States.

FAILS TO FIND HORRORS OF HOLLYWOOD

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors' Association of America, has failed after a close study of motion picture studios here, to find "the horrors of Hollywood", he told the Hollywood chamber of commerce at a dinner last night.

"The one bad influence in Hollywood is talk," said Mr. Hays.

"We must remove the reason for lies about the industry," he continued. "Our's is a duty to youth. We are not so much interested in the millions of dollars invested in the industry, as we are in the millions of children whose morals and education are invested in it."

Jesse L. Lasky told of a visit he made to Europe to view sites from which to choose a possible successor to Hollywood "as a world center for motion picture production."

"When I reported to Mr. Hays," said Mr. Lasky, "I told him that no matter what was said about Hollywood, it was the only place in the world for a motion picture production center."

MATHILDE M'CORMICK SAILS FOR EUROPE

NEW YORK, July 29—Mathilde McCormick, daughter of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, sailed on the Majestic today, with a maid as her only companion. She declined to discuss her plans to marry Max Oser, Swiss riding academy master to whom she announced her engagement last spring; to say where she would visit in Europe, or how long she would remain there.

Also on the Majestic but in quarters some distance from Mathilde, was her uncle, Cyrus H. McCormick, chairman of the board of directors of the International Harvester Co.

"I am not interested in the affairs of other people," he replied to questions concerning Mathilde. "I don't care what my brother's family does."

Budget Commission

budget and audit commission today Mr. Doherty is entitled to pay only from July 18 to July 31 inclusive, said sum amounting to $99.72. Mr. Doherty will not be paid for the other 17 days of the month, according to the edict of the commission.

The letter to the mayor from the commission follows:

July 29, 1922.

Hon. George H. Brown, Mayor,
Lowell, Mass.

My dear Mr. Mayor: We would respectfully recommend that payment of salary to Harry P. Doherty as superintendent of streets be withheld from period of removal by temporary board of public service to time of reinstatement by present board of public service. In accordance with vote passed by present board of public service on July 17, 1922, Mr. Doherty was instructed to take up his duties as superintendent of streets immediately. Therefore, it is our opinion that Mr. Doherty is entitled to 14 days' salary, namely from July 18 to July 31, inclusive, amounting to $99.72.

Respectfully,
Budget and Auditing Commission,
TYLER A. STEVENS, Chairman

Following is the mayor's letter to the auditor, upholding the budget commission's vote:

Lowell, Mass., July 29, 1922.

Mr. Daniel E. Martin, City Auditor,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: I am in receipt of a letter from the budget and auditing commission holding up Mr. Doherty's salary. I will sustain the budget and auditing commission on the ground that according to paragraph 3, section 30: "The board shall remove for cause the superintendent of street and sewer work." Mr. Doherty was removed by the board of public service and did not ask for a hearing within the prescribed time, providing that he was entitled to the same.

By a vote of the board of public service July 17 Mr. Doherty was instructed to take up his duties as superintendent of streets, as the board did not believe that he was legally discharged, the secretary to notify the city auditor to this effect.

And, further, on the ground that the public service board did not comply with paragraph 3, I hereby direct you to hold up the whole amount.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE H. BROWN,
Mayor of Lowell.

CLEARING HOUSE BANKS

NEW YORK, July 29.—The actual condition of the clearing house banks and trust companies for the week, shows that they hold $39,823,580 in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $4,267,226 from last week.

POINCARE SLIPS OUT OF PARIS BY AUTO

PARIS, July 29. (By the Associated Press.)—All Paris was surprised this morning, when it became known that Premier Poincare had slipped quietly out of the city by automobile for his country home in the department of the Meuse, early today.

It had been announced last night that the premier had left by train for his week-end holiday. Elaborate precautions were taken at the railway station when he was supposed to have departed and it was said an engine had preceded the train to prevent a possible attempt to wreck it.

It was learned today, however, that a quick change had been made in the plans in order to avert any attempt on the premier's life which might be made in connection with the announcement yesterday that a German monarchist plot to assassinate him was in existence.

It is understood the premier is planning to carry out his original intention of participating in the unveiling of the war memorial in the Argonne tomorrow, near his country home at Campigny, and that before leaving Paris the premier had discussed the alleged plot and the precautions considered advisable.

Poincare Unperturbed

PARIS, July 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Unperturbed by the information made public yesterday that an attempt was being plotted in German monarchist circles to assassinate him, Premier Poincare is planning to carry out his original intention of participating in the unveiling of a war memorial in the Argonne tomorrow near his country home at Sampigny.

Before leaving Paris last night, the premier discussed the alleged plot and the precautions considered advisable with the new prefect of police, M. Naudin, and with Minister of the Interior Maunury. The reported plot is understood to be the work of the Monarchist Association known as the "Consul." Encouraged by its success in planning the removal of former German Minister of Finance Erzberger and former Foreign Minister Rathenau, the association, according to the report made to the French foreign office, decided to extend its scope beyond the German frontier and selected Premier Poincare as the first victim.

At the time of the assassination of Dr. Rathenau a report was current in Berlin that the next victim would be Dr. Joseph Wirth, the German chancellor, and the French premier, but no attention was paid to the report here at the time.

The information which reached the French government yesterday, it was made known today, was from the Belgian government, not through the Berlin police as was first stated.

the prevention of resales and profiteering.

Mr. Hoover plans to make public soon proposals being sent to all of the states for the organization of local fuel control bodies. The federal plan contemplates that each state shall take the entire responsibility for distribution and prices within its boundaries, while the federal government will see to it that the states get coal from the operators at fair prices.

The secretary stated that Henry B. Spencer, the administrative member of the president's committee, is to be known as the federal fuel distributor and not as an administrator as, he explained, was erroneously announced yesterday. The government, Mr. Hoover stated, is not re-establishing the old war-time fuel administration system, but is chiefly concerned in the equitable distribution of coal.

The plans for emergency organization to be sent to the states, practically all of which have responded to the coal committee's appeal, Mr. Hoover said, will not be uniform, but adapted to the administrative needs of each state as conditions in New England, along the Great Lakes, the Inter-Mountain territory and states having a surplus of coal all vary. States far from coal centers, he declared, must be accorded greater transportation facilities than those nearer the producing fields. As an instance, he asserted, New England must be given advanced priorities over states like Indiana, Illinois or Ohio, in order to insure adequate distribution.

Mr. Hoover also announced that he had asked all bunkering companies along the Atlantic coast to bunker ships only to the next port of call and after Aug. 1 to require all foreign ships to bunker for the round trip abroad.

COAL ADMINISTRATOR NAMED BY HARDING

WASHINGTON, July 29. (By the Associated Press).—Henry B. Spencer, former vice president of the Southern railway and general purchasing agent for the war-time railroad administration, last night was appointed federal coal administrator for the duration of the present strike emergency by President Harding.

Mr. Spencer becomes administrative member of the coal distribution committee, which will control distribution of available coal supplies on a priority basis to essential industries and utilities.

With the announcement of creation of the office of coal administrator, confidence was expressed at the White House that the production of coal, regardless of rail and mine strikes, eventually would be increased to the point where it would be adequate for the country's needs. President Harding felt so assured on this point, it was said, that he contemplated no further move in the coal strike situation.

Secretary Hoover, who announced Mr. Spencer's selection by President Harding for the vacancy on the central committee, made public also names of operators from coal producing districts so far designated as members of the advisory committee, which is a part of the federal organization for maintaining coal prices and insuring fuel distribution.

The governors of 23 states, Mr. Hoover announced, have undertaken to erect the necessary administration to control profiteering and distribution of coal within their borders.

States which have reported steps to set up this machinery include Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Minnesota, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Iowa, Oklahoma, Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee and Louisiana.

The Norfolk & Western, Chesapeake & Ohio, the Louisville & Nashville three railroads which traverse important coal producing sections, today reported institution of embargoes over their lines against all freight except foodstuffs, livestock and fuel.

While it was made clear at the White House that the administration supervision of coal distribution would be directed to the end that the fuel supply might be equitably divided among all users entitled to consideration, it was added that no objection would be made if state authorities went ahead—as has been the case in Indiana and Michigan—with separate efforts to provide coal for the people with in their jurisdiction.

Farrington Expected to Join

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, was expected to join the other district presidents of the central competitive soft coal fields in their conferences with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, here today.

William Greene, international secretary-treasurer of the miners' union, and John Moore, a representative of the miners, were also expected to attend the meetings. Mr. Moore was said to have met a number of operators yesterday in Cleveland and, according to some of the union leaders, here, the mine owners outlined a proposition that may form a basis for a new wage agreement.

Prospects of Peace Bright

President Lewis continued optimistic today regarding an early settlement of the coal strike. Reports, he said, from many district leaders in the field indicated that the operators were ready to enter an interstate conference with the miners. He had every reason to believe, he said, that such a conference would be called within a few days. Prospects of peace in both the anthracite and bituminous fields, Mr. Lewis declared, were bright. The miners' chief, however, said that no steps would be taken to bring the anthracite suspension to an end until an agreement is reached in the soft coal regions.

Wage Increase for Miners

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 29.—A wage agreement granting $2.50 a day increase to 5000 miners in 25 operations in the Kentucky-Tennessee field, was negotiated at Cincinnati yesterday, between the unions and the Kentucky-Tennessee coal operators' association, according to a statement given out here by District No. 19 headquarters of the United Mine workers, made public today.

of our board to furnish you with a copy of those records. The records are always open to your inspection as well as to any citizen of the city of Lowell.

On the question of the veracity of the chairman on matters contained in the letter of the board of public service to you, I shall leave that matter entirely in the hands of the public, who know both of us and are in a position to judge as to the truth contained in those statements.

For a long time you appeared to be deeply interested as to who should or who should not be employed by the board of public service in the various departments under their jurisdiction. Prior to your election you promised the voters that as soon as you were elected you would institute means for the relief of the unemployed of our city; subsequently you appointed or enlarged a committee of unemployment to do something for the unemployed. As yet your efforts and the efforts of your committee have been without any tangible results, and notwithstanding your protestations of relieving the unemployed, you are interfering with the progress of the work of our departments by your various criticisms of the employment of some of the unemployed of our city.

If you are desirous of doing something for the unemployed, I would suggest that you sell the "pink limousine," so-called, as well as the extra Buick car which are worth in the vicinity of $2500 to $3000, and have this money transferred to the street maintenance department, and this will give employment to 250 men for one week.

I would further suggest, in the interest of economy, that you refrain from paying chauffeurs in your department out of the water-takers' money.

I have no political aspirations in the city of Lowell at the present time, my sole interest as it is the interest of our board, being to serve the people of the city according to our best judgment.

You are comfortably situated, as mayor of the city of Lowell, with a high priced car and $6000 in salary, while the unemployed of our city are knocking at the doors of the board of public service for money to provide sustenance for themselves and their families. They are not interested in any political correspondence between you and myself as this will not produce a dollar to put food in their dinner pails.

With your anxiety for the unemployed, I am reminded of a poem I once read, which is very apropos to this case.

Here Mr. Murphy quotes the lengthy poem describing a banquet of wealthy men who decided they should do something for the unemployed and laboring men.

The last stanza was as follows:

"I move you, Mr. Chairman,
And my eyes are filled with tears,
For the Laboring Men of Lowell Town
We give three hearty cheers."

In conclusion it seems to me that all the laboring men are getting from your department is three cheers. The only tangible thing that they are getting is from the board of public service in their various departments, and as nothing further is to be gained on the subject which is of any benefit to the tax-payers of the City of Lowell, I shall personally consider this matter as closed.

Very truly yours,
DENNIS J. MURPHY.

Standing, Mrs. Orilla DeMange; Sitting, Mrs. Rose Melette.

A happy reunion occurred at 44 Rock street this week, when Mrs. Joseph DeMange of this city and Mrs. Charles Melette of Easthampton, sisters, were reunited after a separation of 40 years, during which period each believed the other dead. It was two score years ago when the sisters left their Canadian home for this country.

Both were married shortly after coming to this country, and strangely enough each chose the old Bay State as the place in which to make her home. Miss Orilla Plant came to this city and was married to the late Mr. DeMange, while Miss Rose Plant was married to Mr. Melette and finally established her home in the western part of the state.

Before coming to Massachusetts the sisters went to a small town in Connecticut where they obtained employment in a mill. After working there but a short while Mrs. Melette went back to Canada. It was then the sisters lost track of one another.

In the period of years during which the couple have been separated, repeated efforts were made by each to get in touch with the other. Until recently these efforts failed and, as time wore on, each thought the other dead.

A short while ago Mrs. DeMange's son-in-law, with whom she lives, wrote to the parish priest in Canada and through him Mrs. Melette was located. The sisters then exchanged letters and photographs.

Recently Mrs. Melette walked in on Mrs. DeMange unannounced. Neither of the sisters recognized the other. Both were overjoyed and wept in each other's arms. Mrs. DeMange is 72 years old, and Mrs. Melette, who recently celebrated the 25th anniversary of her wedding, is 68.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL FILED TOO LATE

CAMBRIDGE, July 29.—Superior Court Judge Louis S. Cox ruled today that the motion for a new trial filed by counsel for Rocco Scichitani, under death sentence for the murder of Patrolman Thomas J. Riley, had been filed too late.

This ruling leaves Scichitani recourse only to the governor's council. He was sentenced to die in the electric chair on June 11, but received two reprieves. The second extends until August 11. The motion for a new trial was based on newly discovered evidence. Riley was fatally shot in November, 1920.

Man Charged With Abduction

found the door locked and had much difficulty in gaining admission.

Attorney Joseph P. Donahue appeared for the government and Richard Brabrook Walsh for the defence. In the testimony by Tice and the child, it was brought out that the man had been sitting on a bench on the common with the child nearby. He had a small ring in a plush box in his hands. He claimed that he had told the little girl that he loved little girls and that he knew her and her parents, had known them for years, in fact. He admitted that he is a married man, with one child.

Tice said that he does embroidery work and that he has done this work since a child. He had some excellent samples of his work in the hotel room and invited the little girl to go and see them.

Mrs. Tice was present and took the stand, saying that she has been married to Tice for 13 years and that they have done embroidery work together, which they do not sell.

Officer Owen Conway told of following the man and child to the hotel and entering after them. He lagged along behind until they were in the room and then knocked for admittance. Receiving no answer and finding the door locked, he peeped through the keyhole and saw the man sitting on the edge of the bed and the little girl on a chair nearby. Asked in regard to this, he said he was showing the child some of his samples.

When asked to show the ring which he had in a velvet box when he met the child he exhibited a ring on his finger. Capt. David Petrie took the stand and said it was not the ring he had shown him at the station. The ring shown the captain was a child's ring, not more than 25 cents in value, with a little red stone in it.

A woman who saw the little girl and man leave the common together, and a little girl, also a witness, testified.

COURT DISMISSES NEW HAVEN'S APPLICATION

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 29.—Judge E. S. Thomas in the United States district court this noon, granted the motion to dismiss the application of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad for a temporary injunction against its striking shopmen and others, and dissolved the restraining order which was issued on July 19. Counsel for the New Haven road said later that they would consider whether or not to appeal from Judge Thomas' decision or start proceedings again.

The ground of denial of the motion was that raised by counsel for the strikers that the papers in the case were full of errors.

Asphalt in State of Coma

that if he didn't see fit to sign the requisition the board would go ahead with some other work and he gave the assurance that it had plenty of work to do at the present time. He concluded by saying that if the mayor saw fit to hold up the work it was his lookout and not any matter for the board to take up.

As the time is growing short in which to do the work, and, as no definite move has been made to engage the workmen or obtain the material, the proposition may be done away with for this summer.

The mayor said today that he has no disagreement with the board of public service over the matter of asphalt paving if the city by city labor is to do 90 per cent. of the work and the contractor simply to furnish the material and experts to oversee its application.

The board contends that it never has anticipated or planned contract labor and that the requisition now before the mayor, while not going into detail regarding the work, is not for the purpose of bringing in outside labor to lay the asphaltic preparation to be used.

The mayor contends that he can construe the requisition to mean but one thing—contract labor—while on the other hand, the public service board says it means no such thing.

San Diego County Clerk Issues 8000th Marriage License to Herself

MRS. CHARLES DUFFY

(By N.E.A. Service)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 29.—Mary McMullen, four years ago, became this county's official cupid.

At that time she secured employment in the clerk's office and on her first day at work issued her first marriage license.

The couple tittered their way out and Mary quite determinedly said:

"Not for me. I'll never marry!"

Pass two years. Mary issues the four-thousandth marriage license from her desk. Enters Charles Duffy as a court clerk in another department of the echoing old courthouse.

Says Mary again: "Marry? I've never thought about it."

Another two years. Another four thousand marriage licenses issued by Mary—that is, to be exact, 3,999.

Then Duffy whispered something into Mary's ear. Mary was receptive.

BOY WHO PULLED TOY GUN ON OFFICERS SHOT

DETROIT, July 29.—Harry Watson, ten years old, tried to "bluff" two policemen with his toy pistol, but the officers, believing the boy's weapon genuine, fired upon him, and Harry is now in a hospital.

The boy had escaped from the juvenile detention home and the officers were ordered to arrest him. Locating him in a nearby alley, they called upon him to surrender. He drew the toy pistol from his pocket and warned the patrolmen he was about to fire. The officers then shot into the air and the boy fled. As his pursuers gained upon him, he stopped and again pointed his toy pistol with a warning, whereupon he was shot in the shoulder.

Railroad Strike

railway shopmen entered its fifth week today, the outlook for peace was regarded as bright and in rail circles here the belief was expressed that the walkout would not last into the sixth week.

Meetings were set for Tuesday both by the rail chiefs and workers on strike, at which time President Harding's plan for a settlement was expected to be acted upon.

The president's plans were not made public. However, it became known that it embraced settlement of all the strikers' grievances except the wage question, which would be submitted to the Railroad Labor board for a rehearing.

"Under the plan, as outlined, the president's stand for recognition of the rights of the men now at work would be carried out. Union shopmen who did not strike would be placed at the head of the railroad's seniority list which means that they would be assured of permanent work, since in slack times the workers at the foot of the lists are the first to be laid off. Union shopmen who went on strike would be placed next on the list, and after them would come the men hired by the roads since the strike began.

Western railroads have been insistent that men now at work should be placed at the head of seniority lists, asserting that if their rights were not thus recognized there would be no incentive for men to stay at work in the event of a strike in the future.

Also included in the president's plan it is understood was elimination of outside contract repair work by the railroads.

Wages Left to Labor Board

The wage question would be left to the labor board, the striking shopmen to recognize the board's wage reduction decision and return to work with the assurance that their case would receive prompt attention by the board. In addition, the administration is understood to have assured the shopmen that it would make every effort to have labor sections of the Esch-Cummins bill amended so that the labor board may be directed to fix the pay of the workers "on a living wage basis."

While union chiefs and rail heads were presumed to be on the verge of making peace, violence was slightly increased in strike areas, reports indicated.

Violence On Increase

Thirty colored laborers were said to have disappeared from the Chicago and Northwestern shops at Milwaukee after a number of shops were fired in the vicinity.

A non-union employe of the Wabash was beaten and another kidnapped at Chicago.

Two workmen in railroad shops at Montgomery, Ala., were beaten by eight men alleged to be strikers.

A non-union shop worker at Roseville, Cal., was seized while walking with his wife. He was carried out of the town in an automobile beaten and warned to stop work.

Federal Officer Slugged

A deputy federal marshal on guard at the Missouri Pacific roundhouse at Jefferson City, Mo., was slugged into unconsciousness by three men.

A mob at Janesville, Wis., surrounded a roundhouse of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, where 10 non-union men were at work, and compelled the men to run from the building. Women and girls in the mob threw stones at the workers.

Striking shopmen of the Mobile & Ohio were said to have taken charge of the shops at West Point, Miss., and driven out new employes.

At St. Louis, two guards of the Missouri Pacific and a blacksmith of the Terminal Railroad were stoned and beaten.

Troops at Erie, Pa., were stationed about the homes of several men who remained at work following attacks in which the men's homes were stoned.

Details of Plan Withheld

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Details of the rail strike settlement plan drawn up by President Harding and to be considered at separate meetings of railroad executives and union officials at New York and Chicago next Tuesday were still withheld today but the president was said to feel that they offered a basis upon which the two sides should be able to come to an early agreement.

After announcing that the general strike committee of the shop crafts unions on strike would be convened in Chicago to consider the proposals on the same day the rail heads meet in New York for that purpose, B. M. Jewell, leader of the shopmen and international officers of the unions left here for Chicago last night apparently prepared to recommend favorable action by the committee. That the spokesmen of the rail executives who have conferred with the president would have the same favorable recommendation to make, however, appeared improbable today, with the seniority issue looming in that quarter as the doubtful point.

To Reopen Car Shops

CONCORD, N. H., July 29.—Boston & Maine officials today said it was very probable that the railroad repair shops here closed since the beginning of the shopmen's strike, would be reopened in a few days, with a force of at least 500 mechanics. Many men have been given employment in the past few days and applications for work are numerous, according to the statement, due to the recent closing of machine shops elsewhere. At Billerica, Mass., it was added, more mechanics have sought employment than can be given and some of them may be sent here.

Refuses to Arbitrate

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 29.—President Herbert G. Tulley of the International Railway Co., in a letter to the members of Mayor Schwab's investigating committee today refused to arbitrate differences between the company and its carmen which have tied up city and interurban trolley traffic for four weeks.

The men yesterday agreed to return to work pending arbitration.

BY JAMES B. HOLM

The American farmer is coming back.

He is beginning to emerge from the tremendous slough of despair and suffering in which he has floundered for the past 20 months. His head is once more above water and he feels that the crisis is past. He believes better times are coming, although almost imperceptibly slow.

The farmer himself says this.

In a 2500-mile trip through the heart of agricultural America I have learned the true conditions from the man with the hoe and the man behind the plow. I have talked with the "dirt farmer," the rich and poor, landlord and tenant, with the country banker and the county farm bureau agent.

I have learned first-hand of the tremendous struggle the farmer has had to make both ends meet during the past year and a half.

Literally, the farmer has suffered not only from want of the comforts but of the necessities of life, that America and the world might eat.

It was told how the value of his land shot downward with a thud that meant ruin to many who had toiled years for a little gain. I learned how prices of crops and produce faded away; how many were gouged and swindled by profiteers; how there was suffering for lack of the comforts of life; how the young men left the farm for the city and how crops were lost for want of help to harvest them; how the farmer's morale was shot to pieces.

For a year or more he felt himself a beaten man for whom the future held but little.

Now his courage has returned. He has faced about with the light of a new spirit in his eye.

The practical American farmer is not claiming that prosperity is here. Far from it. But he believes it is on the way, slowly coming nearer every day.

All Optimistic

I heard everywhere, "We lost money last year. This year we expect to break even or perhaps make a little money. Things look better."

All this is of tremendous importance to the country. Farming is by far the largest of all the nation's activities. They call it the basic business or industry of the country and maintain there can be no lasting prosperity until the farmer is prosperous and contented. With the farmer prosperous and spending his money, the whole country should then experience better times.

In this swing through the "garden of America," I learned of men who had virtually worked for nothing in the past year if a fair rate of interest be allowed on their investment. Or, if a very small wage be allowed to them as workers, then their farm as a business, lost money.

I was told of men, supposedly wealthy through inheritance of rich farms, clear of debt, who had to borrow money enough to pay their taxes. They couldn't make enough from their farms.

Families were found whose cash income would not exceed $200 for the year, in addition, of course, to rent and a part of their food.

These do not mean extreme cases, such as the shiftless, the ignorant and the unfortunate. With hard work, good crop returns and good luck, still there was no money to be made.

Pre-war prices for his crops and war-time prices for his machinery, groceries, clothing, etc., were a bad combination.

Said an Indiana farmer: "It's bad enough when a man has no work and therefore no pay. But it's worse yet when you put in full time and get no pay for what you do."

Usually Secretive

The average farmer is curiously secretive about his financial income. Sometimes it is because he himself doesn't know and hates to admit it.

But I talked with many farmers in Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio about their income. It was always the same.

"I couldn't make a decent living last year," they would say.

United States government reports, based on surveys in 1916, showed the average farm income then to be about $600 per year, of which $300 was in cash. This was in the best three agricultural states.

New surveys are being made this year. No report is yet available, but it will show a change for the worse. The farmer may be taking in the same amount of money as before, but it goes only half as far.

If $600 was the average income in 1916 the income of those below the average can be readily imagined. In some cases it was as low as $300. A family nowadays doesn't live very high on $300 per year.

Reasons for Change

The reasons for the change of feeling by the farmer are varied. No single thing seems to have caused the change.

Some think recent small price rises will continue—to the benefit of the farmer.

Some expect considerable benefit from recent legislation forced by the farm bloc in congress.

Many believe the growth of co-operative buying and selling enterprises will help much.

The activities of the farm bureau and government agencies in educating the farmer to produce more economically will help wonderfully, so many believe.

Money is easier to get at the banks, too, which will also be of help.

At any rate the farmer is in the right frame of mind for better things this year.

Frank Fulkerson owns over 400 acres of land in Jersey county, Illinois. He lives on and operates one of his farms. He is a shrewd business man, a keen thinker and strictly up-to-the-minute in farm methods. If there's a way to make more money on the farm Fulkerson goes after it. Yet, he says he lost money last year.

Says Fulkerson:

"The farmer is a business man as well as a worker. He must figure a depreciation fund as well as interest on investment. What city business man would be content with 3 or 4 per cent profit each year? But it is impossible for a farmer to make more than 3 or 4 per cent even under ideal conditions. Last year we didn't make even 4 per cent. As a business we lost money.

"The farmer is worse off now than ever before. His morale is gone. He's about busted and doesn't know where he is at, but conditions, I think, are slowly changing for the better."

Lauds New Laws

Fulkerson attaches considerable importance to the new laws enacted by congress last winter to help agriculture.

Tom Reilly, who owns and runs a general farm in the hills of Clark county, Missouri, put most of the blame of the farmer's plight on the city man.

"The town merchant and manufacturer are still trying to hang on to their big war-time profits and the city worker is trying to keep his war-time wages, while the farmer has taken his cut and a big one, too.

"We have no kick on a reduction if everybody else gets the same. But for the farmer to get his income sliced off while other classes stay up, is not right. The farmer can't even make his interest in normal times, to say nothing about the present."

In Clark county I learned harvest hands were being offered $1.50 per day and board. One man of 70 told me he was shocking wheat at $1 per day. The average cash farm income here was put between $300 and $400.

Heffelfinger Bros. of Butler, Ind., agreed that they hadn't made anything but a living the past year. They own a couple of hundred acres of land.

"We are hopeful, though," they said. "Things are getting better. Labor is easier around here. More men are willing to work on the farms now."

In Kentucky they are pinning their faith on the activities of the tobacco pool, a co-operative selling arrangement. The burley men formed their pool more than a year ago, and the black-leaf men are organizing now. Last year, by agreement, the tobacco acreage was kept low. The price rose.

More tobacco will be raised this year, but through an intelligent marketing system the growers hope to keep the price stable. They have an iron-bound agreement among themselves.

"Taxes Too High"

Albert Lang of Lee county, Iowa, told of a neighbor who owned two quarter sections of land, which he rented at $1300 each. The taxes on one farm amounted to an even $1300, and on the other just a little in excess of $1300, so the owner lost money by merely owning the farms.

"Taxes are too high," said Lang. "They are ruining us. Nobody can break even, now. Those town fellows make us a little bit tired. The farmer worked hard before the war, he worked during the war, and he's hard at work now. That's more than the other fellow can say.

"The city man doesn't appreciate the hard work, the worry, the risk and chance the farmer takes. During the war everybody wanted to help the farmer. They did—a little. When the war was over they dropped him like a hot potato."

Lang told of a man who for three days ran a threshing machine in daylight, then went into the field and shocked wheat by moonlight until 2 o'clock in the morning. He did it because he couldn't get help.

A new force has appeared in agricultural America and its strength is felt everywhere. This is the American farm bureau federation and its more visible instrument, the county agent system.

In the county agent, the farmer has an alert, clear-headed young fellow, who can, and does, do him a lot of good. The vast majority of the farmers are glad to receive the benefit of the agent's assistance.

Quite often the county leader is the real leader of the farming community. He generally has a better idea of what the farmer is doing than the farmer himself.

"The biggest problem before the farmer today," said County Agent C. A. Buechner of Laporte, Ind., "is the most economic production of crops. The farmer hasn't really begun to learn, yet, how crops can be produced most effectively and cheaply."

System Needed

Said County Agent W. R. Eastmont of Mound City, Ill., located in one of the so-called "poor counties" of the state:

"Farmers have lost money in the past year. The future is still uncertain but it looks better than it did. The salvation of the farmer is to learn what are the best crops for him to grow and how to grow them. The hit-or-miss system, which his father or grandfather followed, does not get him anything."

So far, it looks like a good year for crops. The wheat crop is nearly all harvested and it is good. Reports from states visited and from Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas, tell of wheat in abundance.

The price of corn was low last year and the corn belt will have a smaller acreage this year. How the crop will turn out depends on the weather in July and August. Other crops appear to be abundant.

From the appearance of the fields and barnyards, there are still plenty of porkers to fill the needs of the nation.

I heard but little complaint about the inability of farmers to obtain bank loans. Money is easier now, they say, and the right kind of man can usually get loans at his home bank at a fair rate of interest, usually 7 per cent. The government loan system, they say, has acted as a stimulant to local banks.

So the farmer is pulling up his galluses, spitting on his hands and taking a fresh hold on the plow-handle. There is a better time coming for him, he is sure.

SUMMER TRAINING CAMPS COULD ADMIT BUT 27,000 APPLICANTS

Senator Walsh's Hard Fight Against Tariff Iniquities---Women Placed in Diplomatic Positions---20,000 Widows in Washington

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—Does someone ask, "How does the summer training camp work out this year?"

Well, it's something like this. Uncle Sam says to the college men and other eligibles, "You keep right on with your studies, but while doing so I want you to wear my uniform part of the time. You take up military science as one of your studies and I'll pay you for it." So the student takes up a course of military training, and in return gets his uniform, instruction in a summer camp, the price of his rations and obtains a genuine vacation in the open air at the same time. Many a college man is paying his room rent through the year and more out of what Uncle Sam gives him. Moreover, the camp dove-tails right in with the general plan for national defense and equips thousands of young men to meet emergencies if they arise.

It's a broad program that the war department has in mind but the funds are small and it's a modified Plattsburg plan that is being put into effect this year on that account. Very likely the next congress will realize that while 50,000 young men applied for admission to the camps this year, only 27,000 could be admitted. It is evident the country has a "waiting list" of sturdy young fellows who want to join the civilian army of the United States. In contrast to the small amount appropriated by congress for such military training, Canada made provision for taking 100,000 young men into such camps this year.

In 1917 the 90 days' training camps at Plattsburg, Fort Sheridan and other stations ran full speed from May till August with many thousand fellows, mostly college men and undergraduates, grinding their way through the training mill, picking up information and learning the tricks of the military trade as they went along.

A long list of those men were in the front line in France making officers of whom the United States was justly proud.

Military Work in Colleges

This year 227 colleges or preparatory schools will furnish military training for the nine months from September to June. The Stars and Stripes will fly from poles in college and school yards; there will be officers and non-commissioned men to give instruction and for at least one hour daily the fellows will wear Uncle Sam's uniform and establish a 'miniature military post. It is a sort of all the year 'round edition of what summer camps give in a course of intensive training. Or reverse the viewpoint, and you will see a summer camp turned into a college campus. Graduation from such a course at college will give a man a second lieutenant's commission. The college regime is this—a man elects to take the military course; he gives five hours a week to study of military science or drills. He agrees to take a six weeks' course of military training at one of the summer camps two years and morally stands committed to fit himself for an officer in case of national emergency.

The primary object is to furnish adequate military training to young men without interfering with their school and college work. When his military training is completed he either joins the national guard or is assigned to some permanent military organization. The day he graduates he is given his commission and his record is sent to the adjutant general of his state and to the commandant of the corps area in which he resides. Then he enters business or professional life with as much freedom of action as though he had never worn the uniform.

Senator Walsh

Senator David I. Walsh has been taking a daily part in the senate proceedings on the tariff bill. He has hammered away with all his might—and that's telling of pretty hard blows—whenever the tariff on necessities of life came to the front. Mr. Walsh predicts the defeat of any party in power that increases the cost of living to the mass of the people of the country, and he demands a lowering of the cost of living, no matter who gets hit in the downfall.

"No political party can survive," said Senator Walsh this week, "under whose administration the cost of living goes up instead of down."

Senator Walsh has been much occupied with the meetings of the senate committee on labor, of which he is a member and which has been in frequent and important conferences with heads of the labor organizations, discussing the strikes and other features of the unrest that prevails throughout the country.

The Weather Bureau

The unimaginative weather bureau turns a cold shoulder on the theory that St. Swithin may have peeked out of the corner of his eye and caught a glimpse of the few raindrops that fell on July 15, and so will send along 10 days of rain in order to live up to the St. Swithin day traditions of past centuries.

Women Placed in Office

The state department has responded handsomely to the demand by women of placing women in diplomatic positions. This week Miss Maud Miles of Pennsylvania sailed away through the Golden Gate on a Pacific liner bound for the American embassy at Tokio. Miss Miles' appointment is said to have been given her in recognition of the excellent service she rendered the state department as secretary to the advisory committee during the disarmament conference at Washington. She will hold a secretarial position at the embassy at Tokio.

20,000 Widows in Washington

Completion of the census shows that in Washington women were merely "runners up" in the marriage ratio for the past 10 years. Although there is a surplus of 30,000 women in Washington, out of a population of more than 450,000 persons, 55 per cent of the men are married while only 47 per cent of the women trot in double harness. Moreover, there are 20,000 widows domiciled there to only 7000 widowers. It's evident Washington is no place for marriageable girls to turn to, even if they carry 'round a St. Joseph for luck.

LOWELL BOYS ENJOYED SUCCESSFUL SEASON

William and Seward Davis, two Lowell boys, residing at 139 Third st., accompanied by their professional partner, Jerry Tanean, are visiting in this city after a most successful vaudeville tour on the B. F. Keith circuit, during which they played to large audiences in all the leading theatres in this part of the country, as well as those in the south and middle west.

The three artists, known to the theatrical world as "The Davis Trio," have had much experience in their particular line. Mr. Tanean, a veteran in the game, was, for a number of years, associated on the stage with his brother, who retired a short time ago. The Davis boys are accomplished musicians, and the trio harmonize remarkably well, lending a balance to the act that has merited consistent commendation from prominent critics throughout the country.

The combined act is listed on programs and billboards as "The Sunshine Boys with the Dark Cloud," and those who have been fortunate enough to see it have considered the title appropriate and the act abounding in originality.

To prove that there is more truth than poetry in the familiar saying that the world is a small place after all, the local boys recount a happy coincidence which occurred during a recent stay in New York. While playing at one of the leading metropolitan theatres, the boys were agreeably surprised to find that Miss "Babe" Curry of 144 High st, this city, and Lawrence Crane of 811 Merrimack street, were also billed on the same program. As it is seldom that such a thing happens, a happy reunion resulted, and conversation naturally drifted to the home town. "Babe" and "Larry" are well known locally, and the Davis boys report that they are meeting with their usual success in "big time." Crane played in Keith's Lowell theatre last winter and will be remembered as a clever magician, while Miss Curry is a singer and dancer of exceptional merit. Both are now in New York.

The greatest ambition of "The Davis Trio" right now is to secure booking in Lowell where they have a host of friends anxious to view their act. They have never appeared here, although they have been in Boston houses on frequent occasions. They leave for New York about Sept. 1, and look forward to a continuation of their former successes.

NEW YORK CLUBS SHOW THE WAY

Both Now Leading in Major League Pennant Races—Win "Crucial" Series

Yanks Win Third Straight —Giants Land Four Out of Five From Cardinals

NEW YORK, July 29.—Both New York clubs are again showing the way in the major league pennant races today, as a result of decisively beating their St. Louis rivals in the two "crucial" series.

The Yankees, on top for the first time since June 16, held a margin of a half game over the Browns. They took their third straight from Pohl's clan, 7 to 9. Witt lending the attack with two doubles and a homer, while Sam Jones returned to form, holding St. Louis to six hits. Ken Williams cracked out his 23rd homer in the first inning.

The Giants made it four out of five from the Cardinals by breaking even in the double-header that concluded a series marked by the sensational hitting of the champions. McGraw's club pounded out 70 hits for 42 runs in the five games and increased their lead to 2½ games. Hornsby's 27th homer in the first game yesterday equalled the National league mark made by Ed Williamson in 1884.

Lee hit two homers in a game for the second time in the series and Cy Williams knocked out his 16th but Cincinnati emerged an 11-7 victor in a slugging match with Philadelphia.

Brooklyn climbed back to fifth place in the National league when Dazzy Vance bested Babe Adams of Pittsburgh in a 3-2 encounter.

Terry's hitting and Jones' pitching featured Chicago's 9-0 triumph over the Boston Braves.

Detroit's sixth inning rally netted five runs, enough to beat Washington, and Chicago took its second straight 10-inning battle from the Red Sox, 4 to 3.

Philadelphia had a field day at bat off Morton and Lindsey and trounced Cleveland for the second straight, 12 to 3.

With lowering skies and everything in general unfavorable to a ball game, the Massachusetts and Y.M.C.I. teams of the Twilight league went at it on the South common last night. After five innings, in which each team scored one run, darkness and a shower put an end to the contest, which was one of the deadest of the league season.

The Y.M.C.I. scored in the first. Jim Liston singled to center, took second on O'Day's sacrifice and scored on a drive over short by Ralph Jenkins. Cawley singled, but the next two men were easy outs.

In the third Quealey singled to right, taking second on a passed ball, advancing to third on Farrell's hit and continued home, scoring easily. Peterson, meanwhile had walked and gone to third as Quealey scored. He was nailed at home by J. Liston's catch and sharp return of Allen's short fly to center.

Cawley, as usual, took up the pitching duties toward the last of the game, when Conlon appeared to slacken. He did not have much time to show his prowess, however, as the game was brought to an abrupt end in the last of the fifth by Johnny Souza's weird catch in left, in which he did a contortion stunt worthy of any circus acrobat on earth.

Besides Souza's performance, nothing of interest was noticeable in the slow game. The score:

CHARLES HOLLOCHER

GROVER ALEXANDER

While some of the Chicago recruits, notably the pitchers, have done good work for Manager Killifer of the Cubs, Charley Hollocher, the sensational short-stop of that team, is perhaps the outstanding figure.

Hollocher is a great ball player. He has the old fighting spirit that keeps the club on edge. His fielding is always high class, and at the bat he is mighty dangerous.

Five years ago no one wold have for a minute thought to overlook Grover Cleveland Alexander. The great pitcher is a member of the Cubs, but Alexander is not the "Alex" of old.

Every now and then he turns in the sort of a game that once characterized his efforts any time he stepped on the rubber. Of late, however, he has lacked consistency. Father Time seems to be demanding his toll.

The Cubs have a number of promising recruits, but, after all it looks as if the honor of being the most valuable man on the club right now fully belongs to Charley Hollocher.

U. S. College Tennis Players Well Ahead

EASTBOURNE, England, July 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Although they have found the grass courts rather slippery, the American college tennis players from Yale and Harvard are well ahead in the series of matches they are playing with a team from Oxford and Cambridge, having won four out of the six singles matches and two out of the three doubles played here yesterday.

HITS ONE OVER FENCE, CREDITED WITH SINGLE

When a batter hits a drive on which he is able to make the circuit, and is credited with only a single, some one has erred.

When a batter hits the ball over the fence, which, according to the rules of baseball, entitles him to a home run, and he draws only a single in the box score, charge up a "boot" to some one.

The major league records contain two such happenings. One of them is charged against the American League, the other against the National.

When such a thing happens confusion must arise between the batsman and another base runner. It is questionable who should really be charged with the "bone."

Years ago in a game at Washington, Harry Niles, then with the Boston club, hit a long fly to right field. There was a runner on first at the time.

The runner on first was of the opinion that the ball would be caught. He played it safe by merely going half way to second, thus preventing a possible double play if the ball was snared.

Niles was positive the ball wouldn't be caught. He tore around the bases at full speed and passed the runner originally on first, midway between first and second.

That act of course automatically retired Niles, yet he continued on his way to the plate and by a great slide beat the return throw. He believed he had made a home run, yet in reality it was only a single.

Recently in a game at Philadelphia, Toporcer of the St. Louis Cardinals was sent up as pinch-hitter. There was a runner on first at the time. He drove the ball over the right field fence. The runner on first being in doubt only went half way to second. Toporcer passed him. Here was a drive that entitled him to a home run, yet by, his act in passing a preceding runner, he nullified the homer to which he was entitled, merely receiving credit for a single.

CAN MATTHEWS DUPLICATE WONDER ELEVEN?

BY N.E.A. SERVICE

MOSCOW, Idaho, July 29.—There may be another "wonder football team" in the Pacific coast conference this fall, providing R. L. (Matty) Matthews maintains the record he has built up as a football coach in the last eight years.

Matthews has been signed as head football coach and athletic director by the University of Idaho. He has the job of getting a squad in shape for eight stiff games this fall, with the whole Pacific coast expecting miracles of him.

All of this because in six years as football coach of Willamette University at Salem, Oregon, with barely enough available players to fill the eleven positions and provide a pair of subs, he has repeatedly won the Northwest non-conference title. Last year, as freshman coach at the University of Washington, Matthews developed a team that won the first-year title for the Pacific coast, and this spring his varsity baseball team won Washington the conference title.

Matthews' success as a football mentor follows an equally successful career as a football player—one in which he was picked for sectional all-star teams for four successive years.

Back before the three-year rule and before Gil Dobie came to Washington, Matthews, as a freshman, starred for the University of Washington, and was named on the All-Northwest team. The next year he went to Notre Dame. In his three years there, he was picked each season for the All-Western eleven, twice as an end and halfback in his senior year.

LEAGUE MARKED TIME

Only One Twilight Game Went to Decision This Week—Many Deadlocks

Little progress in the Twilight league schedule for the remainder of the season has resulted from this week's games, only one of which reached a satisfactory conclusion. On Tuesday night the Centralvilles scored a victory over the Broadways. Wednesday evening the Highland Daylights and K. of C. went seven innings to a draw. Thursday night the K. of C.-Centralville game was postponed on account of rain and lack of players, both first basemen, remaining at home through fear of rheumatism. Last night a 6-inning, 1 to 1 game between the Massachusetts and the Y. M. C. I. brought an end to an almost fruitless week.

The postponed games to be played after the termination of the league season on August 13 have been augmented by the results Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. At present the list stand: Centralvilles vs. Y. M. C. I., Centralvilles vs. Knights of Columbus, Broadways vs. Y. M. C. I., K. of C. vs. Highland Daylights, Centralville vs. K. of C., Y. M. C. I. vs. Massachusetts. Fair weather must prevail, beginning Monday, if the scheduled and postponed games as well are to be played before the resumption of standard time.

The week has given the fans entertainment every night, despite the lack of conclusive results. In Tuesday night's game the Centralvilles and Broadways put over a most exciting sixth inning. Centralvilles came first, and with the assistance of four hits, one of them a home run by young Cawley, and an error, counted four tallies. Then came the Broadways, still confident, regardless of their five run handicap, that they could beat the Centralvilles any old time, as they have done all season to this point. With a base on balls, an error, an infield out and three singles they scored four times, bringing themselves within reaching distance of the goal. Another tally by the Centralvilles, however, told the story, and sent the horde of Acre rooters home disappointed.

Wednesday night was even more interesting, when the Highland Daylights and Knights of Columbus played seven innings of gilt-edge baseball to a 5-5 block. Also, with the Daylights leading in the first by four runs, the "Caseys" fought an up-hill battle, reaching the Highland Daylight level in the fifth after a hard struggle. The more strenuous attacks of the Knights in the sixth and seventh seemed to promise victory if the game were prolonged.

On Wednesday evening came the comedy exhibition on a rain-soaked diamond by the Centralvilles and K. of C., with a large number of dampened but heroic fans on the sidelines. The spectators saw little baseball but lots of comedy, and were satisfied.

Friday night's game was little better than the average, if as good. Both teams played listless ball, with Johnny Souza furnishing the only diversion. Johnny seemed to think he was in a regular ball game, for he nearly turned himself inside out in enveloping a long fly.

Next week's schedule looks good, and it is hoped that it may be carried out, without rain interference. Nothing else will be recognized. The schedule follows: Monday, Centralvilles vs. Y. M. C. I.; Tuesday, Broadways vs. K. of C.; Wednesday, Massachusetts vs. Y. M. C. I.; Thursday, Centralvilles vs. Highland Daylights; Friday, Broadways vs. Massachusetts.

ISKANDER TOYS WITH FIELD IN FAST PACE

GREENFIELD, July 29.—Rain cut the racing short here yesterday at a very interesting stage, too, when in three tries the favorite, Native Judge, had failed to get to the front in the 2.20 trot. The Arlington entry, Ed Mac, with the amateur, Fred Tobey, driven, won the first heat in 2.13¼. Carville D the second in 2.13.. and Helen Scott the third in 2.14¼.

When the struggle is renewed today, Carville D will be missing as a standstill break left him on the wrong side of the distance flag in the heat won by the four-year-old daughter of Peter Scott, 2.05, and Helen Worthy, 2.08¾.

The Attleboro midget was beaten only a head in the third mile and is still fancied by his following.

Before the postponement, the Athol bearcat, Iskander, pleased the large crowd of local admirers by toying with his field in the Weldon $2000 stake. The son of San Francisco, 2.07¾, and Owaissa, 2.06¾, was more impressive than in his other six victories.

Iskander's miles in 2.07½, 2.08, 2.08¾, are even more credible than they appear in cold figures, for Sunderlin in the first heat never had him nearer the pole than third horse place and never in the race was he in next to the rail.

Rather inclined to loaf when in front, Sunderlin touched him with the whip coming through the stretch the third heat and his response made game old James Albert seem to have come to a sudden stop.

Iskander so overtopped his field that the speculation was on second money winner. James Albert was the popular selection and the Hartford contingent was well rewarded by having Will Crozier place Harry D. O. next to the winner twice.

The Brusie stable was favorite in the 2.14 trot with the expectation that the Windsor wizard would win with the Boston gelding Monte Velo. The "stable" made good. Jack Kingsley winning with Harvest Gloam owned by J. M. Wixtead of East Douglass. The white face mare was considerably the best for two heats, but landed the third because Kingsley could give his charge a whole lot of help in a driving finish in which Peter Pfaff was so near to winning that the judges' decision was questioned by many.

The closing card will be the unfinished 2.20 trot, free-for-all pace, 2.11 trot, 2.24 pace and 2.18 trot.

CANADIAN TEAM WANTS TO PLAY DAYLIGHTS

The Prus baseball club, one of the strongest teams in eastern Canada, is to make a tour of New England next month, and the manager in a letter to Louis Lord, manager of the Highland Daylights, leaders of the Lowell Twilight league, states that he would like to bring his team to the Spindle city for a game. His team is a very expensive one, as all players are on a salary. The team plays four or five games a week. Manager Lord will take the matter under consideration.

PRIZE WINNERS NAMED

Donal H. MacLean Wins First Award in "What's Wrong" Contest

The winners of the "What's Wrong" contest, which has been conducted in The Sun for the past two weeks, by Frank Ricard, the Central street jeweler, were announced today. Donald H. MacLean, 13 years of age, and a pupil at the Charles W. Moroy school, won first prize. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. MacLean of 16 Osgood street. Young MacLean is a very popular young fellow and typical of the American youth, is a devotee of the great national game.

The second prize went to a well known young lady of St. Patrick's parish, Miss Esther Flannery. She is the daughter of Mrs. Annie Flannery, 19 Lombard street, and is 18 years old. She has been an attendant of the Notre Dame academy and is also a lover of the great American game, her answers showing real thought and intelligence. The third prize went to Thomas Creegan, 73 Third street, while fourth place was won by Earl Ouellette, 87 South street.

About 200 answers were received and the judges had a difficult task choosing the winners, George "Lefty" Tyler, former big league pitcher; Michael Mahoney, former big league umpire and one who knows the game from A to Z, and "Wally" Lyons, the well known Twilight league umpire, were the judges of the contest.

It was also interesting to note the large number of answers received from young ladies. Many amusing answers were received. Here are a few: Number 4 cartoon showed Alexander, the pitcher, pitching left-handed. Naturally, what was wrong was that Alexander is a right-handed pitcher. One young fellow answered this by saying, "a ball player never has a name on his suit with his name on it," while another insisted that "Christy Mathewson was the player pictured." Although at the outset of the contest it was stated that you were to determine what was wrong with the play or figure pictured, one young fellow answered the last cartoon, number 12, by saying that "the dollar sign was wrong and the umpire said "You're out," when he should have said "You are out." Many other amusing replies were received that kept the judges in good humor. The four winners will receive their prizes by calling at Ricard's store, 123 Central street.

HERE ARE THE WINNERS!

1st—Donald H. MacLean, 15 Osgood street.
2nd—Esther Flannery, 19 Lombard street.
3rd—Thomas Creegan, 73 Third street.
4th—Earl Ouellette, 87 South street.

Honorable Mention

John J. Neeson, 213 Cross street.
John F. Graves, 46 Arlington street.
R. J. Quinn, 614 Gorham street.
Mary Moran, 11 Middlesex place.
Vera O'Brien, 605 Gorham street.

RICHARDS WINS NEW YORK CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK, July 29.—Vincent Richards of Yonkers won the metropolitan tennis singles championship from Howard Kinsey of San Francisco on the Crescent Athletic club courts, Brooklyn, yesterday, 6—2, 6—4, 6—3.

Richards led off with service in the first set and from the start he dazzled his Californian opponent with a series of brilliant drives. The national junior champion took the first three games of the set without difficulty.

Kinsey rallied in the fourth game and brought into play some of the strokes which he successfully used against the Brooklyn veteran, Howard Voshell. With chop strokes he succeeded in getting the fourth and sixth games on his service, but lost the set on errors.

The points—first set:

Richards	4	7	4	1	4	1	4	4	—29—6
Kinsey	1	5	2	4	2	4	1	0	—19—2

Kinsey started the second set with a rally which forced Richards to an uphill fight. With the Californian leading 2—0 and 4—3 on games Richards uncorked a speedy assortment of service and returns and finished out the set with three consecutive games.

Richards swept through to victory in the third set outgeneralling his western rival and employing his famous volley with decisive effect.

Point scores of the second and third sets:

Second set:

Richards	3	0	4	5	3	4	3	4	4	6	—36—6
Kinsey	5	4	2	3	5	2	5	0	0	4	—30—4

JACKSON GRATTAN STEPS ALONG AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, O., July 29.—Rain interfered with the closing program of the Grand Circuit at Driving park yesterday, a heavy shower falling when the horses were scoring for the first heat, causing a delay of two hours, the final heat of the day being paced at dusk.

The feature was the 2.06 pace, which was won by the Good Time stable stallion, Jackson Grattan, his fourth straight victory this season. In spite of the heavy track, he paced three heats faster than 2.04, with Edna Early the contender each time. He was a $100 to $50 favorite over the field. In the four races he has won this season, he has not been beaten a heat.

The local driver, "Spec" Erskine, had a field day, winning two races, with Signal Peter, the second choice. He won the 2.10 trot without trouble, and with Arnold Frisco, the favorite, he landed first in the 2.14 trot, the gelding being much the best of the field.

Erskine drove Charley Sweet in the 2.06 pace and in turning to score for the final heat, came into collision with Parker Boy. Erskine was thrown to the track, but luckily got off with a severe bruising. Charley Sweet circled the track once before being stopped and was then drawn.

The half-mile track star, Jakie O'Connor, was favorite for the 2.10 pace, but after winning the first heat, was beaten by the Tennessee mare, Lady Heir.

It was announced by Judge Chester Stands that Walter Cox had requested the judges to take no action in the case of Charley Valentine, who struck Cox and his mount McGregor the Great with his whip at the finish of the final heat of the 2.08 trot on Wednesday. Stands further announced they had placed the offending driver on probation.

The stables were shipped to Toledo last night, the next meeting opening in that city on Monday.

Members, John Bartt and Michael J. Monahan. Two initiations were also recorded at last night's meeting and a large amount of routine business transacted.

GATH IN FIRST PLACE

Popular Second Sacker of Broadways Leading Condon by 3000 Votes

Young Gath, the speedy second baseman of the Broadways, who has been holding third place for the past month or more in Ricard's Most Popular Twilight League Player contest, wiggled into first place good and proper this week. With over 8500 votes coming in this week for Gath, and but 4400 for Condon of the "Caseys," it gives the former a 3000 vote lead.

Although Gath has been gaining steadily each week, it comes as a surprise to find him passing Condon, who has held first position for over a month. Souza of the Massachusetts, retains third place, almost 13,000 votes behind Gath. This week's record of votes received is without doubt the largest of the contest to date and as predicted at the outset, the contest is going bigger and better than the remarkable contest conducted by him in The Sun, last year. This contest is conducted exclusively in The Sun, the vote coupons being published each night on the sporting page. Forty-three players out of a total of over 60 that have been in the contest to date, received votes this week showing that interest in the contest is not waning a particle and the boys at the end of the list are receiving votes each week just as well as the fellows at the top.

The contest has three weeks to go. August 13 is the end of the Twilight league season and also the finish of Ricard's contest. Remember, boys, a lot of interesting things can happen in these coming three weeks. Who knows who will be leading next week? It's up to you to make the contest as interesting as you can. Remember, too, some player is depending on your support, therefore send your votes in early and often. There's a vote on this page tonight. Have you cut it out yet?

DINNER-DANCE AT NASHUA COUNTRY CLUB

In connection with the annual New Hampshire state golf championship now being played over the links of the Nashua Country club, the hostess club last evening entertained with a dinner dance, that was enjoyed by scores of club members and friends, including a number from Lowell. Among the guests were Jesse Guilford, national amateur champion and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ouimet.

The dinner-dance was enlivened by a splendid cabaret entertainment that fitted in nicely with the other tournament features.

Jim Hendry, Nashua pro, is the moving spirit of the tournament and labored from morning until late afternoon yesterday getting the big entry list away in pairs from the first tee. He handled his job well and the result was a minimum of confusion and crowding on the course.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The St. Peter's Cadets will play the St. Columba's team for the second time this season on the South common Sunday. The Cadets won the first game and are confident of trimming the St. Columba's again.

The Young Tigers would like to play any 10 or 12 year old team. Answer through this paper.

COBB LEADING LEAGUE BATTERS

Detroit Team Topping All Clubs in Hitting With an Average of .307

CHICAGO, July 29 (by the Associated Press).—Throwing a left and punch into the Detroit Americans, which is being felt by every American league club, the veteran Tyrus Cobb, Tiger pilot, excelling his every past performance at the bat, today is out in front of all American league contenders for 1922 hitting honors, and is leading his mates convincingly in the close pennant race. Tyrus is showing his men how to hit, and this has carried him past George Sisler, St. Louis star, for the batting honors of the league, which he lost to Speaker and Sisler in the past two seasons.

Cobb, in his last six games cracked out 13 hits, better than two a game, and boosted his mark from .405 a week ago to .418, while Sisler, who led the batters with an average of .416 a week ago, dropped to second place with an average of 404. He was able to acquire only six hits in as many games. The averages include games of Wednesday.

The Georgia Peach has instilled a fighting spirit into the Tigers with the result that they are topping all the clubs in team batting with an average of .307, while the St. Louis Browns are next with .301.

Sisler continues to lead in total bases with 225, his 155 hits including 27 doubles, 11 triples and 7 homers. He failed to increase his stolen base record, but is showing the way with 34 thefts.

Clarence (Tillie) Walker, the slugging outfielder of the Athletics, bagged another homer and is leading the home run cloisters with 24, Ken Williams of the Browns being the runner-up with 23, with Babe Ruth tagging along with 17.

Other leading batters for 60 or more games:

Schang, New York, .357; Speaker, Cleveland, .356; Heilmann, Detroit, .348; Tobin, St. Louis, .347; Bassler, Detroit, .347; Ed Miller, Philadelphia, .347; Meusel, New York, .345; Blue, Detroit, .338; Witt, New York, .333.

There was practically no change in the relative standing of the batters in the National league. Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals, who has been setting the pace, added one point to his mark of a week ago, and tops the list with an average of .398. Ray Grimes, the slugging first baseman of the Chicago Cubs, maintained his mark of a week ago, .363, and moved up to second place, displacing the veteran Jake Daubert of the Reds, who dropped 11 points, but is holding third place with an average of .360.

Hornsby bagged two more homers and is leading all major leaguers with a total of 27. He also crossed the plate five times in the last six games, and has taken the lead from Max Carey of the Pirates, as the best run-getter. The St. Louis star crossed the plate 80 times, while Carey scored 79 runs. Carey, however, increased his lead for the stolen base honors by three thefts, bringing his total to 27.

Other leading batters for 60 or more games: Hollocher, Chicago, .359; J. Johnston, Brooklyn, .357; Higbee, Pittsburgh, .354; Duncan, Cincinnati, .347; L. Miller, Chicago, .346; Schultz, St. Louis, .341; Carey, Pittsburgh, .338.

THE TEXTILE SITUATION

One of the worst features of the textile conflicts which cause so much unemployment in this and other cities is, that on either side the battle seems to be waged by an organization that represents not a single city nor even a single state, but all of New England, if not a greater area. If our local trouble were not on either side dependent upon the settlement of others elsewhere and with which we have nothing to do, it might be readily adjusted. But the mills of Lowell are holding out for the out because if they yielded, the mills of other cities might be forced to make similar concessions. Thus it appears to us, that the combination of mills on one side stands for the 20 per cent cut and the United Textile Workers of America stand with equal firmness against any reduction of wages.

Thus we find Chairman Hanley stating that the order is to strike against a reduction of any kind and this strike order will be in force until such times as the corporations yield or make a satisfactory compromise. But the corporations that run the mills are determined not to yield; and hence until the fatuity of this policy and this widespread conflict be acknowledged and remedied, we can hardly hope for the restoration of industrial peace in Lowell.

The situation in Lawrence is practically the same. The strikers, like those of Lowell, are willing to arbitrate; but the millmen refuse to budge, despite the fact that they are losing heavily and that the long period of idleness will injure their business to an extent that cannot be overcome in years of normal business. In Lawrence several of the mills wanted to break away from the combination, but they were finally prevented and hence all the mills of that city are still united in an effort to starve the operatives into submission. It is very foolish business, a fact which the mills of Lawrence and Lowell will ultimately discover.

THE PRESIDENT'S APPEAL

President Harding in reply to a telegram signed "J. Clove Dean, chairman of the Railway Employes Publicity Association," the authenticity of which Mr. Gompers denies very strongly, urges the return of the strikers and also makes clear his position as one of absolute fairness between the roads and the companies, but emphatically in favor of industrial peace and the protection of the public against the industrial paralysis and suffering which a prolongation of this strike would entail.

The president endeavors to remove all misapprehension as to the supposed use of force or the rumored drafting of men for military service or to take the places of the strikers. He advises Mr. Dean to urge the strikers to return to work and accept the decision of the Railroad Labor board "until you and I and everyone else interested in American welfare may join in asking the rehearing on any question concerning which there is reasonable doubt about the correctness or the justice of the decision made."

That promises a revision of the board's decision and should receive the most serious consideration of the strikers. They should not expect the president of the United States to get on his knees to them. Their cause will be strengthened by compliance with the president's request. They will lose public sympathy if they try to use their power in such a way as to set at defiance not only the president but the authority of the government and the people.

The president has made this proposition in good faith and in all fairness. We believe the strikers will serve their own cause best by acting favorably on the president's appeal and pledge that the whole case shall be reopened and any possible mistake corrected.

Mr. Gompers interposes to say that this man Dean, if there be any such person, has no authority to speak as he did; but if he is not what he represented himself to be, that is not the president's fault. Because the author drew a rebuke from the White House by sending a rather impudent telegram to the president, Mr. Gompers may be excused for repudiating such action as representing the strikers. Whether the author of the telegram had the right to assume such authority or not, is of little difference now. He has brought from the president a statement that should hasten a settlement by convincing the men who are out, that they will make a grave mistake if they prolong the struggle so as to further tie up the business of the country. New and definite propositions are understood to be ready for submission that promise an early settlement of the strike, perhaps within the coming week.

THE KU KLUX VICTORY

The defeat of Senator Culberson in the Texas primary by the candidate endorsed by the Ku Klux Klan has attracted attention throughout the country. Senator Culberson belongs to one of the leading families of the state, but for some time past has been disabled so that he has been unable to conduct a political campaign in his own behalf. He has to be carried in and out of the senate and can do little more than vote in a feeble way for or against the measures brought forward for decision. It is not certain, therefore, that the Ku Klux Klan has won such a victory as the defeat of Senator Culberson would indicate. The Ku Klux candidate, Earl B. Mayfield, was opposed not only by Culberson but also by James E. Ferguson, both of whom were strongly opposed to the secret society.

Inasmuch as Mayfield did not receive a majority of the votes cast, another contest will be held on Aug. 26 as the final round of the primary under the Texas election law. The combined anti-K.K.K. vote exceeded that of Mr. Mayfield, so that the latter may be defeated in the final contest. Nevertheless, the defeat of Culberson in Texas adds to the alarm in the republican party, following, as it does the reverses in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Iowa, North Dakota and Nebraska. It was hardly to be supposed that the Ku Klux Klan could win such a victory in Texas despite the fact that it flourishes in California, Oregon and many of the southern states. Arizona and Kansas have shown their Americanism by open opposition to this secret organization, whose members dare not appear without masks in any of their public functions. Their principles call for the suppression of certain religious denominations, the oppression of the negro and the exclusion of foreigners. Nevertheless, it is alleged that a large proportion of the membership is of foreign nativity or descent. The organization makes the mask an indispensable feature of its appearance and in this it resembles the highway robber or the burglar who goes forth by night on his mission of plunder; and in either case those who follow these criminal practices are fully as respectable as are the members of the Ku Klux Klan, who call upon heaven to witness that their aims are pure and holy and then go forth to commit outrage and murder.

VOTED THE WOOL TARIFF

The republican leaders in the United States senate have adopted the tariff of 33 cents a pound on raw wool despite all the protests that had been offered and despite the fact that the tariff commission and other leading experts proved that it would add from $2.60 to $5.20 to the price of an ordinary suit of clothes. The republicans are becoming desperate owing to the delay in the passage of the tariff bill as they realize that the country is disgusted with their performance and the absence of practical results from their two years in office.

Senator Lodge defended the high tariff on wool as best he could, and under his direction the amendment offered by Senator Lenroot for a tariff of 60 per cent. ad valorem on wool was defeated. Senator Walsh of this state presented arguments that were simply unanswerable, but the republicans had the votes and as one of their senators asserted, it made no difference what arguments were presented or how unjust or monstrous the schedules were shown to be, the majority would vote for them under the party whip.

It appears, therefore, that the tariff bill with some of its worst features will be enacted at some time within the next three months and then will come the question of passing the bonus; but on that matter it is probable that the republican leaders will prefer to "pass the buck" to the president, who has promised to veto the measure if sent to him for approval.

The sentiment throughout the country is rapidly turning against the republican party with the result that in all probability the big majority of 1920 will be wiped out and a democratic victory recorded in the fall elections. This will probably include the defeat of Senator Lodge, who has been on the unpopular side on practically every important question that has come before congress since President Harding assumed office.

FIVE-CENT FARES PAY

Detroit's municipal street cars appear to be running along profitably on the five-cent fare. In June, the city line made a clean net profit of $98,000. The municipal ownership profit in Detroit was a net gain after paying all operating and maintenance expenses and after meeting the interest requirements on bonds and the instalments on the sinking fund for the ultimate payment of the old Detroit Union Railway lines.

Detroit is not the only five-cent fare town that has a street railroad really paying its way. The five-cent fare is coming back all along the line, and we may expect a return to the old nickel tariff here in Lowell in the near future. Traffic in the five-cent fare cities is rapidly increasing. The nickel is "popular money," and the people appreciate a good car service and patronize it liberally and regularly when it costs but five cents to ride freely from one section of a city or town to another.

Prosperity will return to the street car lines only when they reduce fares and thereby "bait" their wares for patronage. In the case of Detroit, with its now successful five-cent fare system, no wonder the former private owners of these lines fought all the way to the supreme court to prevent the mayor from carrying out his municipal ownership pledges. Even Charles E. Hughes, now secretary of state, was hired by the big traction interests to help in that battle against the people, but it was a losing fight, and in this case, at least, municipal ownership has thus far been successful.

TRESPASSING AVIATORS

Aviators in Pennsylvania have been fined for trespass in having flown over the farm of a man named Grube, who insists that he owns the air and space over his farm and can prevent aviators from using it. The development of aircraft will bring new laws defining the rights of property owners and the privileges of aviators. If an aviator can be fined for flying over a man's land, the fact will offer a serious obstacle to the progress of aviation. Possibly a minimum height will be fixed so that there will be no dread among the owners of property underneath.

GASOLINE STOCK

Stocks of gasoline, held in storage, total about 850,000,000 gallons. It is a staggering figure, but it is only 82 gallons for each American auto.

How long would 82 gallons last you?

A good many of the statistics that are floating about nowadays are almost terrifying in their size. To grasp their real significance, remember that they are for a big country and a big population. For instance, 325,000,000 meals are eaten daily in the United States—but that's only three for each of us.

SOLITUDE PENALTY

Martin Smith, a "lifer" at Sing Sing, drops dead of heart disease. He had served 14 years of his sentence. During that time he never had a visitor at the prison. There is tragedy for you, greater than any created in the imagination of Eugene Sue or Maupassant.

The criminal's greatest penalty is loneliness—compulsory solitude. In jail or out, he lives under cover, his soul traveling through life alone without that priceless joy—human companionship and exchange of confidences.

ITALY'S RECOVERY

Italy has recovered nearer to normal conditions than any other European country, reports Robert S. Bradley, chairman of American Agricultural Chemical Co., after a long tour abroad.

He found London serious, rather depressed, with business dull. France is pictured as semi-hypnotized by Uncle Sam's pocketbook.

JOCKEY PAGE

Barney Page, Australian jockey, who has ridden 1600 winners, says horse racing is coming back strongly in his country.

This is largely due to Australian sporting rules that keep jockeys from coming in contact with the public.

Horse racing, "the sport of kings," was killed in America by money corruption, and the honest sportsman suffered with the crook. Anyone who doubts that dishonesty leads to disaster has only to watch the rise and fall of sports.

ATTACKING LODGE

Not for many moons has such a scathing article been written in reference to Senator Lodge as that which appeared recently in the New York World from "A Looker On in Washington." It reviews the senator's record and with cutting irony proclaims the absence of any constructive measure except the Force bill, which failed of passage. After reading it, even some of the senator's worst enemies would be inclined to cry out for less excoriating treatment of the hoary senator.

COST OF LIVING

It costs 55 per cent more to live now than in 1914, says the foremost price expert, the National Industrial Conference board.

If you have a record of what you made in 1914, compare it with what you are making now. If the gain is less than 55 per cent, you have lost ground financially. All on the law of averages, of course. The natural increase of earning power as a result of experience, also good or bad luck, may disturb the workings of the law of averages—in individual cases.

THE VETERINARY

Horse doctors are growing scarcer, having been driven out by autos, reports County Clerk Donegan, of New York City.

The garage mechanic is the modern veterinary. At times, each man has to be his own mechanician.

Having tinkered with an obstinate engine, you will agree that the auto is subject to more diseases than the horse, and harder to cure. As a piece of mechanical near-perfection, man's ingenuity has never been able to create anything equal to Dobbin.

RUM THEFT

Two liquor yeggs who stole 30 cases of whisky from the home of Charles Greer are sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary by Magistrate O'Brien, of Fort Arthur, Ontario.

In Canada, that means seven years—to a day. People who go to jail up there usually "stay put," no monkey-business.

FALSE ALARMS

Ed Howe, our greatest country editor, observes that America is running too strongly to false alarms. A petty difficulty frequently masquerades as a crisis. After running ourselves out of breath, following the fire engines, we usually find that it is a small blaze or a false alarm.

This tendency toward false alarms is a natural result of the public nervousness that follows every big war. And generally the things we fear most are imaginary. Time will cure.

THE BOLL WEEVIL

The boll weevil destroys 20 per cent of the 1922 cotton crop and the loss is at least $300,000,000. So estimates the department of agriculture.

When this insect first crossed the Rio Grande and invaded our country from Mexico, about 25 years ago, it could have been curbed and probably driven back entirely by spending a few million dollars.

Delay is more costly than blunder.

SEEN AND HEARD

Every shocking flapper is followed by a gang of shock absorbers.

With 14 women candidates, the next house of representatives may have more than one speaker.

If beer and light wines do come back, will it be proper to say that prohibition died with its bootleggers on?

If they dig this new tunnel under the English channel, Henry Sullivan and Charlie Toth can stop trying to swim it.

Is That All?

"How do you like your new publicity agent?" we asked.

"O, he's wonderful!" cried the movie star, beaming with enthusiasm. "We've been robbed twice, and our house burned, and our auto wrecked, and I've been in a cyclone, and had my life threatened by an anonymous enemy since we employed him."

A Thought

Write the vision and make it plain on tables, that he may run that readeth it. For the vision is yet for the appointed time, but at the end it shall speak and not lie; though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come and not tarry. Habakkuk 2:2-3.

There is not any benefit so glorious in itself but it may be exceedingly sweetened by the manner of conferring it.—Seneca.

That's Telling 'Em

An English newspaper is printing choice bits of broken English as overheard by its readers. Two examples follow, which are considered the most amusing: A coffee-room waiter, who said he was Swiss, replying to a guest ordering breakfast: "Tongue is no more, chicken never vas. How you like your eggs, boilt, tight or loose?"

The other concerns an enraged Portuguese, who turned upon his opponent and spat out: "If I did know ze English for ze box, I would blow your nose, by damn, I am."

A Word, a Day

Today's word is recalcitrant.

It's pronounced re-kal-si-trant, with accent on the second syllable.

It means—kicking back, kicking against anything, rejecting vehemently, obstinately noncompliant, showing repugnance or opposition, refractory.

It comes from a combination of the Latin prefix "re," signifying, among other things, back or backward, and the Latin word "calcitrare," to kick; hence, to kick back.

It's used like this—"The recalcitrants on both sides, have blocked all plans thus far, looking toward settlement of the rail and mine strikes."

Explain, Please, George

Eileen was annoyed; she felt the family honor had been badly stained. It was Dora's fault, so she spoke to her about it.

"It's no use denying it, Dora. Although it was too dark for me to see who it was, I distinctly saw some man kiss you in the garden."

Dora was modern and didn't appreciate her sister's argument.

"I don't see why," she said, "I've often seen George kiss you."

"O, that's different. I'm engaged to George. I allow nobody but him to kiss me."

"Exactly," said Dora. "I allowed nobody but George to kiss me!"

Ballade of Mrs. Grundy

I'd gladly look in siren eyes
If siren eyes were not taboo;
Gladly I'd hear their songs and sighs
And dare their worst enchantments too.
I'd live the gay life, entre nous.
If only I could have my way.
There's much that I desire to do—
But what would Mrs. Grundy say?

I want to whisper loving lies
To Amaryllis and to Prue.
I think 'twould be a sweet emprise
With these fair maids to bill and coo,
And ditto with some other few.
I could so joyous be and gay
If there were naught to rack or rue—
But what would Mrs. Grundy say?

To dance and play my spirit cries:
Rapture and revel are its due.
Prudential maxims I despise
Within my soul as much as you.
I hate to have my whole life's hue
A sober and a somber gray.
I'd like to join a pirate crew—
But what would Mrs. Grundy say?

L'Envoi

O Priestess of the Laws of Blue,
I am a victim of your sway!
I yearn to drink and smoke and chew—
But what would Mrs. Grundy say?
—Thomas Lomax Hunter.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Recently at Staunton, Va., the birthplace of ex-President Wilson, an auction was held at which the autographed picture of President Harding drew the sum of $46, while that of Mr. Wilson drew only $26. This happening recalls the saying that "a prophet is without honor in his own country."

The cooking classes conducted at various playgrounds throughout the city are producing fine results. The canning season is now on and the children are receiving first-hand information as to the best method of procedure. I saw some very fine jars of beets, wax beans, string beans, blackberries, plums, strawberries and huckleberries that the children of one playground had preserved. On certain days this class has a feast, with all the eatables cooked by the members of the class. The popovers and muffins they make are delicious and are worthy of more experienced cooks. The children are very much interested in the work and spend as much time as they can in the classroom and they are learning very quickly.

The despatch and thoroughness with which the job on the Central street bridge was completed brings to my mind the fiasco that was supposed to be a finished job on the Centralville bridge. It is a familiar sight to those crossing the latter bridge to see workmen repairing the new bridge. The board of public service only recently decided that more work must be done there in order to keep the bridge in good shape during the winter. What a pity that the company that did the Central street job did not get the contract for the other bridge.

If there is any friction between the supervisors of the playgrounds and the teachers of sewing or domestic science, the fault lies with the officials in charge. The playgrounds are under the supervision of Supt. Kernan, and the teachers, as they should be, under the direction of the school department. These different departments may have conflicting views as to the importance of their respective functions, but the best results can be attained only by proper co-ordination of the activities of both departments. The system contemplates a combination of play and instruction, which some of the supervisors may not fully understand or appreciate. As Supt. Molloy states, there is no friction that cannot be easily remedied.

POSTMASTERS NAMED

ATTACK WOOL SCHEDULE

Both Sides Participate—Sen. Walsh Says Industry Needs No Protection

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Assaults on the wool schedule of the tariff bill were continued yesterday from both sides of the senate, with proponents striking back vigorously and winning out on each of the three roll calls taken during the seven hours' session. Discussion was so extended that committee amendments in one paragraph were disposed of, but the senate was ready for a vote on another paragraph at the finish, and leaders were hopeful, but not at all confident, that consideration of the schedule could be completed tomorrow.

Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, created something of a stir early in the day by asserting that there was unintentionally concealed protection in the schedule for manufacturers of woolen cloth.

Onslaughts from the democratic side were made by Senators Walsh, Massachusetts, Simmons, North Carolina and Pomerene, Ohio.

Senator Smoot of Utah, in charge of the bill for the committee majority, declared the protective duties proposed were necessary to keep the woolen industry alive.

Replying to Senator Smoot's argument, Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, said the defense of the suiting cloth rates had failed to give information supporting their position, adding that their only answer to the tariff commission's facts, statements of disinterested persons and the fact that there were no imports was "the waving of two little pieces of cloth," by Senator Smoot.

Arguing that the woolen industry did not need high protection, Senator Walsh presented in some detail figures concerning the American Woolen Co., showing, he said, that the company's pre-war record of profiteering was during the war period entirely eclipsed.

SHOPPING WITH NEWLY WEDS OF TODAY

Are the newlyweds of today as sensible and as artistic as those of years gone by, when bobbed hair and rolled stockings were unheard of, as were flying machines and radiophones?

Lowell furniture dealers come to the front and answer "Yes" to both questions, and even add to the strength of their assertions by saying that the newlyweds of today are even more sensible than those of years ago by, while the present generation is much more advanced in the channels of art than grandpop and grandma ever were.

One of the first things a newly married couple thinks of is furniture for "The Love Nest."

The Good Old Days

In the good old days newly married couples in a furniture store would ask to be shown gaudy gay plushes, spindle backed chairs and other fancy pieces. Now they choose with care in most instances and demand comfort, as well as beauty.

A conversation held recently with one of the oldest clerks in a local establishment brought forth the information that in the olden days a couple would come into the store and throw themselves on the mercy of the clerk, more or less. The clerk in return proceeded to unload upon them about twice as much furniture as they could possibly get into their home. In passing, the clerk said that this used to be considered good salesmanship, but that it was not done any more, principally for the reason that the customer was every bit as smart as the clerk.

Continuing, he said that now the young people seem to be educated to a point where they know just about what they want. In summing up this part of his talk, the veteran said that the young people seem to be educated to a sense of what is fitting and proper.

He averred that this had been particularly noticeable with young men since the war. They saw a great many things and places that they never would have visited, beautiful and artistic things that broadened them and broke through their provincialism. The young women, on the other hand, are becoming more conversant with such things through various women's agencies which try to instil in them the truth, that what is artistic and beautiful may also be comfortable.

If anyone has any idea that the life of a furniture clerk is a dull one he need only to talk with one and listen to just a few of the ordinary incidents of his daily routine, particularly to those of the clerk who specializes in newlyweds. His experiences are as amusing, as tragic and as varied—as those of any clerk that comes in touch with the public.

The June bride rush is about over now so that the specialists in this line are having a rest after an especially busy season.

The clerk has to be a father, a confessor and a judge all rolled into one. He has an opportunity to give a lot of fatherly advice besides dealing directly with his business. One clerk told of a young couple who visited him recently ready to fit out a four-room flat. The bride snapped at the newly elected lord of the household (that is, in public, not private) that she "didn't like this" and "she didn't like that," and what she liked and he didn't.

The experienced clerk had been through the same ordeal before and knew what to expect as to the outcome. He drew them both to a settee, and with one on either side of him, told them of the few things he had learned in his 17 years of experience. When they both gave in on certain much-discussed points he sold them a large quantity of furniture and threw in a present to boot.

The clerks say that the young bride of today can give the mother-in-law tips and that her judgment is much better than the elder person's. For the most part Lowell newlyweds seem to be careful and sensible in picking out furniture for their homes, and seem to be an improvement on the people of a generation ago.

BOY KICKED IN ANKLE DIES

NEW YORK, July 29.—Accused of kicking a boy in the ankle, from which blood poisoning and death followed, Isadore Hyman, 43, was held in $2000 bail on suspicion of homicide.

The boy, 13 years old, was kicked during a quarrel last month. Ten days ago he was taken to a hospital, suffering from blood poisoning and he died.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

ADVENTURE

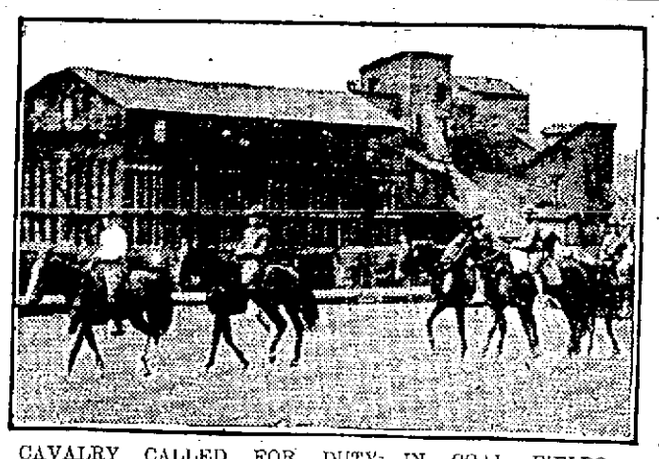

He lived within a village
Where life had not a thrill,
Where nothing ever happens
And nothing ever will;
Yet every day he wakened
With undiminished vim,
Believing that Adventure
Would somehow come to him.

He was a home-kept plodder,
Bound close by family ties,
Who could not seek the open road
Or roam beneath strange skies;
Yet still within his bosom
He kept the fancy sweet
That some day he would meet Romance
Upon the village street!

Though one day and another
Were very much the same,
Within his eyes that eager hope
Burned with a joyous flame;
And though his joints grew creaky,
And though his hair turned gray
He knew—he knew Adventure
Was coming down the way!

His great Adventure found him;
Death came and took him hence
To roam tremendous spaces,
To seek vast firmaments;
Because no blighting circumstance
His hope and faith could shake
His soul hobnobs with Boone and Scott,
With Frobisher and Drake!

All people do not believe in all signs.

There are a few signs which are necessary and valuable in pointing the way to the best.

Just as the autoist wants signs that will keep him on the best roads, so does a prospective purchaser want guiding signs to quality and the best that his money can buy

For Instance, when you see a "LOWELL-MADE ICE CREAM" sign, or the sign of any of the following, you are being guided to the best ice cream, and being urged to help LOWELL by buying a LOWELL product.

FIRE AT LAKEVIEW PARK

Lunch Cart and Store at Willow Dale Entrance Destroyed

Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed a lunch cart and store at the Willow Dale entrance of Lakeview Park. The buildings were owned by Charles Delaney and the business therein was conducted by William Pollard. Both buildings were a total loss.

The fire was first noticed by bathers about 4 o'clock, when smoke was seen coming from the lunch cart. A gasoline tank on the cart was ignited and the flames spread rapidly in several directions. Fanned by a breeze from the lake they jumped to the store at the corner and for a time threatened the Fox food shop across the road.

Fire apparatus from Dracut was called and a bucket brigade formed by persons nearby did valiant work in saving the Fox store. The fire-fighters realized that the Delaney buildings were doomed and after removing an oil tank from the store, centered their efforts on the building across the road.

The possibilities of a serious conflagration were easily seen as the land in the immediate vicinity of the buildings is thickly wooded and once or twice flames actually did get into the pine branches but were quickly snuffed out. Although there was a breeze from the lake it was not strong enough to sweep the fire out of control.

WAS EASILY EXCITED

Nervousness often results from malnutrition. The blood does not supply the elements that the nerves require and they become inflamed. At the same time there are often other evidences that the blood is thin such as paller, indigestion and a general feeling of listlessness. In such cases a tonic is required which will make the blood rich and red.

Mrs. Ralph B. Haskell, of No. 14 Cedar street, Portland, Me., says she felt tired all the time and did not have a bit of strength. "I had a nervous trembling feeling in my stomach," she says, "and felt shaky all over. My heart fluttered, I had pains across the small of my back and a dull ache all day. My hands and fingers were often numb. Medical treatment gave me only temporary relief.

"It was through a friend that I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in a few days after I began taking them I noticed my strength coming back. The trembling sensation went away and I did not feel so shaky. As my blood began to circulate better the numbness ceased. Where before I had been nervous and sleepless, my nerves are now strong and I sleep well. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a fine remedy."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists. Price sixty cents. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free booklet on nervous disorders.—Adv.

CHILDREN ENJOY OUTING AT CAMP

Over 300 hundred children, forming a cosmopolitan group, were the guests of the International Institute of the Y.W.C.A. at a picnic held at Nabnassat lake last Thursday afternoon. Eight different nationalities were represented in the group, including Lithuanian, Syrian, Greek, Polish, Portuguese, French, Irish and American.

The children left the institute rooms in Palmer street at 2 o'clock and made the journey to the lake in large auto trucks. On reaching the lake they were the guests of the Y.M.C.A. at their camp. Many of the older children went in for a swim while the younger ones played all kinds of games. A fine basket luncheon was served later, including ice cream and apples. The ice cream was donated by Mr. Short and Mr. Cruickshank, the ice cream cones by the Eagle Confectionery Co., and Thurston & Johnson Co., while the apples were donated by the driver of the Hobson and Lawler truck.

Trucks were furnished through the kindness of the following firms: U. S. Cartridge Co., Cameron Bros., Pratt & Forrest, Turner Centre Creamery, Hobson & Lawler, and Mr. Joseph Conroy.

NEW RADIO APPARATUS

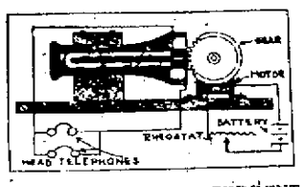

Miniature A. C. Generator Surpasses Buzzer For Code Practice

BY PAUL F. GODLEY
America's Foremost Radio Authority

One of the discouraging things about radio code practice is the tendency toward irregularity of operation of the average high-pitched buzzer.

Such tone irregularities detract the attention of the beginner from the characters being transmitted.

easily can be rigged up from an old magnetic telephone, a toy motor and an iron gear wheel.

The gear should be mounted upon the shaft of the motor so that its teeth revolve very close to, and directly in front of, the pole pieces of the magnetic telephone. For the best results, the gear should be of approximately the same thickness as the pole piece of the telephone receiver. If the tone produced in the windings of the receiver is to be a pure one, the gear should be mounted true on the shaft of the motor.

The provision of a rheostat in circuit with the motor and its battery will enable the control of the pitch of the tone.

The action is as follows:

When two of the teeth of the gear are opposite the two poles of the telephone receiver, the magnetic circuit is completed, through the gear, at which time a maximum of magnetic flow exists.

When the gear is revolved, the resistance of the magnetic flux is greatly increased because of the substitution of air in front of the pole pieces of the telephone magnet. A great change in the magnetic flow is thus brought about.

This change of magnetic flow produces a pulse of current in the coils of the telephone receiver. Each time a tooth of the gear passes the pole pieces, a similar pulse will be registered in the windings of the receiver. It is thus acting as a generator.

Any magnetic telephone may be used in this way, although the watchcase type will give less energy than those larger phones used with the standard telephone instruments.

BRINGS WORLD'S BEST ARTISTS TO HOME

Radio broadcasting may bring the world's best artists to the homes of fans, no matter where they may be.

This can be brought about by the adoption of a new method, of broadcasting concerts and lectures suggested by Peter A. Sensenig, of the Westinghouse broadcasting station in Pittsburg, Pa.

If his plan is adopted, Sensenig says, radio fans in outlying districts of the country could share the pleasures of those in metropolitan districts where the best talent is more easily available. In fact, his system would permit the radio enthusiast to listen in on the world's best singer or most famous lecturer, whether he be in Paris, London, New York or Shanghai.

Sensenig's plan calls for the centralization of all broadcasting stations throughout the world. By international agreement, three different wave lengths would be allotted. There would be a special class of broadcasting for each wave length, according to size and importance.

From a station where the best singer or lecturer can be obtained, the voice would be sent out to other broadcasting stations not only on the same continent but across the sea. Each broadcasting station would transmit the voice it picks up from the central station, for the benefit of the radio fans in its district, and would also act as a relay station for transmission into more distant territory.

European countries that there is a Radio is spreading so fast in possibility of seeing this system inaugurated within a few years.

Commercial radiophone messages are already being flashed across the ocean to various points in Europe.

MEN ENTOMBED IN MINE ARE RESCUED

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., July 29.—Fire discovered in a mine of the Midway Coal Co., near Ward, 10 miles northeast of here, yesterday noon, imprisoning four men in the shaft for 12 hours, still was burning early today, while company officials were preparing to seal the shaft.

Three of the men trapped in the mine, Milo McGowan, general manager, William Forth, a pumpman, and Tom Kenkelly, a foreman, were rescued last night, while Harry Laughlin, an inspector of the mine, was taken unconscious from the shaft at midnight. It was said that the fire was an outburst of smoldering flames sealed up last February.

WOOL THE ALL-ABSORBING TOPIC IN STATE POLITICAL CIRCLES

Soldiers' Bonus and Prohibition Relegated to Background as State Campaigns Gather Impetus---Candidates Being Queried on Their Stands on Wool Tariff---Many Favor Ad Valorem Duty

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 29.—The soldiers' bonus and prohibition, which many political observers thought would be the outstanding issues of the coming election, have taken a temporary eclipse. Wool is the subject of all absorbing interest in political circles. Every politician, especially those who aim at a Washington office are talking wool, wool, wool. Even "Gene" Foss who wants to stay right here in Massachusetts as governor is wooling it.

The wool situation started from several angles. In the first place it was known that Senator Lodge was going to defend wool schedules, sometimes called "republican," in Washington. This gave the rival of the senior senator a fine chance to attack him. In the second place the wool interests queried all candidates on their stand on wool tariffs. This brought another torrent of words. Then department stores began advertising the fact that blankets, suits, overcoats and other goods containing wool would be advanced in price when wool tariffs were arranged—that made the average man and woman start inquiring about wool.

Messrs. Whipple, Gaston and Walsh, democratic candidates for the United States senate, have stated that they prefer an ad valorem duty on wool. If any at all, rather than a specific duty. Joseph Walker, republican candidate against Lodge at the primaries, also wants wool tariff adjusted so that the average and poor man will not suffer at the hands of the rich.

Just what is an ad valorem duty and a specific duty? Before you understand the first thing about this important angle of the political fight you must know. Mr. Walker has supplied us with the following definition, which is extremely lucid:

"A 'specific' rate is a duty of so many cents a pound regardless of the value of the wool. An 'ad valorem' rate is a duty of a certain per cent. of the value of the wool.

"Thus the value of certain grades of coarse long South American wool is about 16 cents a pound (scoured). A specific duty of 33 cents on such wool amounts to over 200 per cent. ad valorem. The value of certain grades of fine Australian wool is about $1.20 per pound. A specific duty of 33 cents a pound on such wool amounts to only 27 cents ad valorem. This clearly demonstrates how a specific duty discriminates against the low priced wools in favor of the high priced wools."

While Lodge in the senate defends high wool tariffs as necessary to protect the industry, all of his rival candidates at home, both republican and democratic, clamor for an ad valorem duty, which they claim will protect the poor man who buys clothes of the less expensive grades of wool.

How will the thousands of voters feel about the protection of the wool industry in Massachusetts when they get to the polls? How will they feel to the supporters of the various wool tariffs? Will the voters think that there is a wool industry here essential to the state that should be highly protected?

One paper in Boston, Independent, declares: "The woolen schedule has always been a sinister one. The manufacturers have almost invariably gotten more than their share out of the tariff through throwing sops to the western sheep raiser. In trying to help the shepherd congress has generally gone the limit. But the duty favoring the raiser of sheep has always been a joke. After being 'protected' for so many years there are fewer sheep now in the country than there were a generation ago. The farmer raises sheep mainly for mutton and the wool is only incidental. But the manufacturer tries to make the wool the main feature as the packers are now doing with hides.

Bounty Is Preferable

"It would be much cheaper and more effective protection for congress to vote a bounty each year to the sheep-raiser than to impose the high tariff on the general public."

We do not quote the above as necessarily our personal opinion. We quote it to show that the wool question and the attitude of candidates thereon is a vital one in the coming elections.

While clothes may, or may not, be higher the coming year through wool tariff schedules, one thing is sure; rents will not be higher. They will decrease. The figures on the renting and general housing situation, issued this week by the commission on the necessaries of life, were very carefully prepared and they were made conservative so as not to inspire too great confidence in the rent payer.

Little Real Estate Speculation

There is little speculation in real estate at the present time in Massachusetts. House ownership by dwellers is doing much to solve the rent hogging situation. In the industrial centers where rents are now highest there are the greatest building booms so that with many new buildings rents in the course of the next year must fall.

The commission in all this communique points to "another year" before there is a decided drop in rentals. As a matter of fact, the commission has informed your representative that this drop may come within considerable less than a year. This information should be of the greatest value to persons this spring who are asked to sign leases and otherwise make provisions for living quarters. A word to the wise, etc., may save many a dollar if taken seriously by the tenants.

Whipple's Campaign

The campaign of Sherman L. Whipple for the democratic nomination for United States senator is certainly well handled in the Worcester district where it is in charge of Charles Campbell. Campbell, who is an attorney, has for many years been associated with Senator David I. Walsh. He was a most valuable asset to the junior senator in handling the Worcester district in the Walsh campaign. In fact his first interest in politics was in the campaigns of Walsh for lieutenant governor and for governor. Campbell has never been an office seeker, only once asking the suffrage of voters. That was when he was elected a delegate to the democratic national convention on the Walsh anti-League of Nations platform. He went to Frisco as "Dave's" pal; in fact he occupied the same suite at San Francisco with Walsh.

Harold Wilson Again

Harold D. Wilson, former prohibition agent, whose raid at the Quincy House, will not be forgotten in the coming campaign, has been putting in a good word for Joseph Walker, the candidate for the republican nomination to the senate. Although the Walker forces are, of course, glad of a good word from Mr. Wilson as from anyone else, it should not be understood that Wilson is a regular Walker speaker. Walker is out for liquor law enforcement; that pleases Wilson. Moreover, Wilson has absolutely no use for Henry Cabot Lodge—and he's willing to work for anyone who will help defeat the senior senator.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Spanish Jade," with David Powell Feature for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A thrilling, delightful production of sunny Spain and Spanish life, "The Spanish Jade," will feature the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday show at the Merrimack Square theatre. The second big feature will be "The Wife Trap," a drama of modern life with Mia May a new star, in the feature role.

For tomorrow, Manager Nelson has arranged another of his characteristically excellent Sunday programs. The leading attractions will be "A Trip to Paradise," one of Bert Lytell's most entertaining films, and Eugene O'Brien in "Clay Dollars." There will be several other shorter features.

One of the most popular players of the American screen is David Powell, who is the featured star in "The Spanish Jade," the leading attraction for the first part of the week.

The story of "The Spanish Jade" is fashioned somewhat along the lines of the adventures of the famous Don Quixote. A young girl having been sold by her dissolute father to a rich roue, flees and in her flight is aided by a young adventurer with a big heart but a slim purse. A young American also assists her and in a fight the rich roue is killed. The American is accused and the girl offers to sacrifice her own life to save him. How she is prevented from doing this and the manner in which the romance is brought to a happy culmination make a photoplay that is distinctly worthwhile.

Mr. Powell is exceptionally well cast as the young adventurer and the rest of the cast is wholly adequate.

If a woman marries for money without love and then through a sense of fairness and gratitude does all in her power to make her husband happy, can she be blamed for still having a lingering affection for the man she really loved before her marriage? Such is the intensely powerful theme underlying Mia May's Paramount picture, "The Wife Trap," which will be the second big attraction Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss May has an entirely different role in this picture, one which will elevate her to a high position among the players of the screen. As the wife whom her jealous husband subjects to several cruel tests, she will undoubtedly win the sympathy of all women and the admiration of all men. And the manner in which she works out her own destiny in order that her child may face the future with courage and respect provides a thrill rivalled only by the ever-famous "Madame X."

A special attraction for the first part of the week will be a film entitled: "How to Make a Radio Set for 60 Cents." This film won first prize at the National Radio contest and is well worth seeing. A comedy and the International News will complete the bill.

It will pay you to get The Sun classified adv. habit.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS—BUILDING NOTES

Start Small and Then Grow

Basing their figures on general price averages rather than specific costs in any one community, the Curtis Service Bureau, Clinton, Ia., designers of this house, say the cost would be in the neighborhood of $5300. This price would include wiring, plumbing and heating. Probably local estimates would not be far from this figure.

One of the chief things to consider if you wish to build economically, is the size of the house. It is just as uneconomical to build too small a home, as too large. It involves probable remodeling later—which is often rather unsatisfactory, as well as relatively more expensive—and it also involves irritating and inconvenient crowding before the remodeling is finally done. It is best to plan for probable future needs. If possible, without involving a burden of unused space in the meantime.

The home pictured here solves the problem admirably. The two bedrooms upstairs need not be finished off at first, and you would still have a complete and desirable five-room home on the first floor. This makes it an excellent plan for those who expect to build at once, and therefore want a home that is not too large for now, but which will fill their needs for many years to come.

Very often a downstairs bedroom and bathroom are a great convenience especially where there are children or elderly people in the family, or in cases of illness. It is unusual to find a plan in which these rooms are so well arranged for privacy from the rest of the house, and for pleasantness, as they are here. Being at the back of the house, they are undisturbed by the noise of the street, and may be shut from view and intrusion from the day portion of the house. Both have a cross-circulation of air. The smaller has, in addition to its clothes closet, a built-in tray case, which economizes space in the room. Two upstairs bedrooms, another bathroom and a large dressing room supplement these downstairs bedrooms. These are reached by means of an open stair, in the corner of the living room.

The living room and the dining room occupy the entire front of the house, connected by French doors. Both are light, pleasant rooms. Space is provided for the china, silver and linens in the dining room by corner cupboards of attractive design. The kitchen is located centrally, just to the rear of the dining room, but in front of the bedroom, so that it is but a step from any room on the first floor. This is a point the woman who does her own housework—and by far the majority do—will appreciate, and yet which is found in surprisingly few of the plans which are usually submitted to her for approval. A good-sized side porch adjoins the kitchen, suitable for a supplementary work place in summer. One might even serve meals there in the hot weather, unseen from the front of the house, but with a pleasant view of the grassy sideyard. The refrigerator entry and basement step are handy both from the porch and from the kitchen.

When there is a side street or drive at the right of one's lot, the plan may be "reversed," so that the kitchen entry may take advantage of it. The generous front porch is an enticing feature of the plan.

Stucco is shown as the material of construction, though various other materials may be used. Casement windows are most appropriate, on account of the English development of the entire exterior; and contrary to general superstition, casement windows if properly fitted with hardware and frames are just as weatherproof as double-hung windows. In climates where double-hung windows have to be used, they may be substituted in the same size openings without destroying the artistic balance of the exterior, but they should also be divided into small panes, if the best effect is to be secured.

Furniture for this house can be purchased from A. E. O'Heir & Co., in Hurd st., on reasonable terms.—Adv.

Knights Templars Outing

From the old Sun:

"Early this morning to the music of Dick Griffith's National band, the gallant Knights Templars of Pilgrim commandery started away for their trip to Laconia, N. H. where they are to be the guests for the day of Pilgrim commandery of that place.

There were 100 knights in line headed by Sir Walter W. Johnson, E. C. A special train was taken at the Northern depot and stops were made at Manchester and Concord where the local knights turned out to meet the travelers. From Concord to Laconia no stops were made.

"The officers of Pilgim commandery are Sir Walter W. Johnson, E. C., Sir Harry Dunlap, G., Sir Frank K. Stearns C. G., Sir William A. Eastman, prelate; Sir. John C. Blood, S. W.; Sir Herbert C. Taft, J. W.; Eminent Sir Arthur G. Pollard, treasurer; Sir James W. B. Shaw, recorder; Sir Elisha J. Nealo, St. B.; Sir William B. Jackson, Sw. B.; Sir James F. Savage, warder; Sir Willard A. Brown, guard; Sir Edward B. Carney, guard; Sir Morris S. Blodgett, guard; Sir Arthur J. Murkland, assistant guard; Sir William A. Hayden, assistant guard; Sir Alfred P. Nichols, assistant guard; Sir Irvin A. Foote, organist."

St. Michael's Picnic

Says the Sun:

"The rain came down in torrents Saturday afternoon and during the heaviest downfall the cars going to Mountain Rock were crowded with the people from St. Michael's parish.

"The baseball game between the Celtics and the Y. M. C. I. with M. J. Mahoney as umpire, was the leading feature, but the rain stopped the contest at the end of the first inning with the score 3 to 2 in favor of the Celtics."

Mountain Rock was then a popular picnic ground with a zoo containing bears, deer and other animals. Now it is cut up into house lots for summer camps.

ONE KILLED IN KANSAS CITY EXPLOSION

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 29.—Several persons were reported injured and two buildings damaged and set fire last night by an explosion in the down-town district. Plate glass windows in store buildings for a block around were shattered.

First reports were that the explosion ocurred in a restaurant, in which many persons were said to have been eating. It is not known whether all escaped, because the building was demolished by the explosion and took fire soon afterward.

The first fatality occurred when a fireman was killed by an electric wire. Witnesses of the explosion said that it would have been impossible for all of the persons in the restaurant to have escaped. A rooming house occupied the second story of the building.

BITTEN BY FIGHTING DOGS

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 29.—Mixed conditions ruled in today's stock market. Opening prices were mainly higher under the impetus of a renewed demand for rails and some of the favorite industrials, where gains ran from one to 2½ points. Oils, especially Mexican Petroleum, also were strong, with the resumption of the recent buying of high class equipments. Tobaccos, chemicals and rubbers moved to higher ground. Motors were the uncertain features, Studebaker reacting sharply from its early rise of almost two points. Atlantic Gulf also showed recurrent selling pressure. The closing was firm. Sales approximated 300,000 shares.

Pollard is chairman of the arrangements committee.

QUARTERLY DIVIDEND

At a meeting of the directors of the Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust Company, it was voted to pay the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent payable August 1 to stockholders of record July 3rd.

PORTLAND, Me., July 29.—A temporary injunction further restraining the local officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Station Employes from issuing a strike order to members of the Brotherhood in compliance with a vote favoring a strike, was issued today by Judge Clarence Hale of the United States district court. It replaces a restraining order issued by him two weeks ago.

OMAR HELD BY COURT ON SERIOUS CHARGE

In district court today, Sellah Omar, charged with abuse of a minor child, waived examination and was held in $5000 bonds for the superior court. City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney appeared for the defence and Attorney Joseph P. Donahue for the government. Omar was arrested some time ago, and on his failure to appear on a continuance he was defaulted. He was brought into court last Saturday, and continued until today. The child appeared to be about nine or ten years of age.

With the exception of an aggravated case of assault upon members of the detective force liquor cases were in the spotlight for the remainder of the session.

Petrolena Kulikowski, who was scheduled for trial today on charges of assault committed on Inspector John Walsh and Sergt. McCloughry yesterday afternoon, failed to put in an appearance. When it was reported that she was sick, she was ordered to appear in court at once or bail would be defaulted.

The assault occurred when the two police officers went to the Kulikowski house in Bay State court, to search for alleged stolen goods, and were, as they believe, taken for liquor officers. A long struggle ensued, during which time both officers found themselves sorely bested by the woman and her children, large and small, and Inspector Walsh had his thumb bitten. When the uprising had been subdued, the mother and daughter, Authena, were brought to the station and booked for assault, the daughter on Officer Walsh, only.

Louis Joseph, proprietor of a store at 617 Middlesex street, was charged with illegal sale, and was continued until August 21, pending the trial of an appealed case in superior court. Joseph made his fourth bow on liquor charges this morning. On May 9 he was fined $100 for illegal keeping, the store being entered and searched after the officers had witnessed a sale. He said at that time he was selling the liquor for 50 cents a half pint, and had 2½ gallons on hand. Again on June 6 he was in the toils on a keeping charge with evidence secured in a similar manner. After being fined $100 and sentenced to two months in the house of correction he appealed, and this appeal occasioned the continuance this morning. On the aSturday following he paid a fine of $50 for an alleged illegal sale.

Last night, in the process of arrest for the fourth time, he attempted to swallow a marked bill used to secure evidence, and Officer Frank Maloney nearly lost his right index finger attempting to prevent the act. Officer Cooney saved Sergt. Winn from the same fate by choking the man and making him "cough up" the sergeant's fingers.

Sergt. Winn and Officers Cooney and Maloney, assisted by a federal officer whose name cannot be ascertained, made last night's arrest, while Officers Aldrich, A. Killoy, J. F. Lynch and Trudel have handled previous cases on April 9. In the same [illegible] Kilel was caught by Officers Aldrich and Killoy in the act of violating the prohibition enforcement laws, and was fined $100.

Edward J. Campbell, charged with illegal keeping and maintaining a liquor nuisance, and an employee, John J. Spellacy, charged with the liquor nuisance offence, appeared on continuance from yesterday. Attorney D. J. Donahue made an earnest appeal for his client and Campbell was fined $100 on the illegal keeping charge and $100 and two months in jail on the nuisance charge. An appeal was taken on each count, and bonds were set at $600. Spellacy was acquitted of all responsibility.

George Bartley, whose still in Billerica set fire to his house yesterday, was in for illegal keeping and was continued for three weeks under $300 bonds.

Officer Vinal of Chelmsford, had two liquor cases. In the first, Joseph Simonds was charged with illegal keeping in a camp he is said to have bought on the Groton road. Mr. Vinal said he had found 50 odd bottles of liquor in the cellar and buried outside. A fine of $100 was imposed and later the case was continued until Monday for sentence.

Andrew Broka, another resident of Chelmsford, was in for keeping. Officer Vinal said he had had the place under his eye as a common nuisance and had caught the man last Sunday. The man admitted that the officer had the goods on him and was fined $150. He had no money, he said, and was taken downstairs to await relief.

A raid by Liquor Officers J. F. Lynch and Isidore Trudel, under the supervision of Sergt. Winn, at 9.30 this morning, resulted in the appearance in court, on a charge of illegal keeping, of Ellen Lowe of 397 Middlesex street. When the officers pounced upon the place they found five gallons of "shine" and a quantity of empty bottles and jugs. The case was continued until next Saturday.

John and Blanche Markon were charged with illegal sale of liquor and in the unavoidable absence of the man, the trial was continued one week.

Wilfred Fadden pleaded guilty to illegal keeping and paid a fine of $100.

Michael Kazanina, for assault with a dangerous weapon, was continued until August 10, that his alleged victim may recover and come into court.

John F. Cronin pleaded guilty to committing a battery and paid $50.

On a charge of drunkenness, Wilfrid Frenette was sentenced to three months in the house of correction and suspended for a year.

Two Strikers Wounded

CHICAGO, July 29.—Two striking Illinois Central shopmen were wounded in a fight between 75 strikers and a squad of deputy United States marshals at the Burnside shops today. The trouble started, according to the deputies and the mob leader, said to be Clifford Bailey, a striker, shouted: "Let's get him." Morgan shot Bailey in the stomach and in the ensuing riot another striker was shot in the leg.

Boston Chamber Acts

BOSTON, July 29.—The executive committee of the Massachusetts state chamber of commerce today wired President Harding that in its opinion railroad men who have continued at work and now employes should be retained by the roads.

"The striking railroad men," the telegram asserted, "should accept the decisions of the Railroad Labor board that has been legally appointed to determine fair wages and working conditions, and the striking coal miners should accept arbitration under such plans as the president may recommend."

Arrested For Murder of Salem Boy

SALEM, July 29.—Tony Costello of this city, was arrested today charged with the murder of Henry P. McMahon, the 12-year-old boy whose body was found in a berry pasture near here on July 21. Costello police said told conflicting stories.

Pope Asks Soviet to Sell Treasures to Him

COPENHAGEN, July 29.—A report received here today from Moscow says that Pope Pius has asked the soviet government to sell him the treasures taken from the Russian churches so that he may restore them.

Fined For Cruelty to Animals

CAMBRIDGE, July 29.—Edward Bushman of this city was fined $50 in district court today after he had been found guilty of cruelty to animals. The police charged that when Bushman left home for a vacation he left a cat with three kittens locked up in the house with nothing to eat. The cat died and neighbors who heard the crying of the kittens complained.

Free Staters Fail to Enter Limerick

LONDON, July 29.—No national army troops have as yet penetrated the town of Limerick, which for weeks had been completely controlled by the irregulars, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Nenagh today. The people of Limerick and immediate vicinity are reported to be in a terrible plight, without coal or gas and with food supplies running so short that starvation is threatening them. All railway and wire communications are cut off and the only way to reach Dublin is by boat to Liverpool and back by the same means to Dublin.

LOWELL RAILROAD MEN WILL GO TO CHICAGO

Strikers of the Boston & Maine car shops in Billerica will be represented at a conference to be held in Chicago next Tuesday, by the following members of the executive board of the Boston & Maine System federation, who are also executive board members of Division 2, which includes all railroad crafts this side of the Mississippi valley: Chester Severens, Maurice Reardon, W. K. Cleary, Edward McMillan and Frank Gorman.

The delegates are all from Lowell and their mission in the western city will be to confer with International President Jewell of the Railway Employes' department. The purpose of the conference, it is said, is to discuss the three propositions recently submitted by President Harding in an effort to bring the railroad strike to a close. While the craftsmen will be holding a conference in Chicago, the railroad officials will meet at Washington.

Members of the press committee of the Billerica strikers stated this morning that their delegates have been instructed to reject any proposition which has to do with the elimination of seniority rights. It is not believed that anything will result from the conference.

Members of the strike committee are now concentrating their efforts on the arrangements for the big dance, which will be conducted at the Knsino next Wednesday evening. The affair will be given for the benefit of the strike fund and members of the various crafts are busy selling the 3000 tickets that have been printed.

The committee announced this morning that it has received a donation of three hats from the New England Hat shop, which will be given as prizes to members selling the largest number of tickets.

Special meetings for the machinists and carmen were held this forenoon in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex st. and business pertaining to the international organization was transacted. On Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a mass meeting of the federated crafts in the Colonial theatre, the principal speaker to be W. K. Cleary, general chairman of the federated crafts.

MAYOR APPROVES LOANS TOTALLING $55,000

Mayor Brown today vetoed the $50,000 loan for additional fire apparatus, which was authorized by the city council at a recent meeting. The veto was signed this morning and sent to the office of City Clerk Stephen C. Flynn shortly before noon. He did not, however, veto the $25,000 macadam loan or the $30,000 sewer loan which were also authorized by the city council at the $220,000 meeting, as previously he had said he would do.

It was only yesterday that the mayor took the three orders from his desk and handed them to City Solicitor Tierney with instructions to prepare veto measures for each one. He took time to explain to Mr. Tierney his reasons for each veto.

At that time he said the main reason for his action was that he thought the departments had plenty of money to carry on work. Today he gave as his reasons for signing the measures that he thought the departments might need the money before the year was out.

While he placed his stamp of disapproval upon the fire apparatus measure he said this morning that he would approve a loan for an order to install a new alarm system here. He estimated that an up-to-date system would cost not less than $110,000. He said he would approve of a loan of $50,000 this year to go towards the new project.

LOWELL COAL RECEIPTS HALF OF NORMAL

Due to the coal strike, Lowell has received only 15,000 tons of anthracite coal during the months of April, May and June, according to Fuel Administrator John M. O'Donoghue. Ordinarily the city receives 10,000 tons a month, so that at present the city is getting only one-half of its necessary allotment. The coal year begins April 1, and at that time there were 17,000 tons of anthracite coal at hand throughout the city. Since that time shipments have been received that have increased that amount to 35,000 tons. The greatest shortage is in the stove and nut sizes.

Mr. O'Donoghue says that he anticipates no shortage here as the prospects of the strike being settled by the government in a short time are bright. There is a supply of pea and buckwheat sizes available at present and he suggests that it might be well to put in a stock of these sizes of coal, rather than to wait, in order to offset any emergency that might arise. He also says that it is possible to mix soft coal with the hard and obtain very fine results from such a mixture. He offers this suggestion so that the people might conserve the supply they have in their homes.

TWO MEN DROWNED

Went to Aid of Men Who Had Answered Call for Help of Two Girls

HIGHLAND LIGHT, July 29.—Albert Hale of Middletown, Conn., and Arthur Severance of Whitman, were drowned off the beach here this afternoon when they went to the assistance of two men who had answered the call for help of two girls who had ventured beyond their depth.

The girls were Miss Marion Roffman of Hudson and Miss Alice Small of North Truro. When they called for help, Arthur Ferguson and a Dr. Elliott, both of Boston, went to their aid. A strong undertow was running and Ferguson and Elliott had difficulty in making their way to the girls. Hale and Severance then plunged into the breakers.

Coast guardsmen who had put out in a boat succeeded in saving the young women and Ferguson and Elliott. Hale and Severance, however, had been swept out to sea.

PIGS IS PIGS SAY THOSE WHO LIVE NEARBY

People who live in the neighborhood of the Chelmsford Street hospital are dissatisfied with the maintenance of a city piggery. In that locality and through Councilor Arthur B. Chadwick today filed a petition with the board of health seeking to have the alleged nuisance removed.

The petition was signed by 300 people who claim that the odors emanating from the piggery were most offensive and not conducive to good health.

It develops that a number of years ago, the piggery was established when there were but few houses in its neighborhood. Since that time a number of houses have been built and the section is thickly populated. While there were only a small number of pigs in the piggery at first, there are nearly 200 of them kept there at the present time, one for each petitioner.

The petition will be brought up before the Monday meeting of the board of health and it is probable that it will reach the city council in the near future. The city owns some land farther out and it is suggested that the piggery be removed to it.

JOHN BALONIS WILL TEND STILL NO MORE

Shortly before noon today members of the liquor squad paid a visit to an empty tenement at 46 Abbott street, and found John Balonise tending a 16-gallon still, with three gallons of shine already manufactured. A quantity of empty jugs and bottles, 200 gallons of mash, 50 pounds of sugar, a couple of chairs and a lunch in a closet were also found in the tenement. The tenement runs through to an empty store in Lawrence street, and has been under suspicion for some time.

John, who makes his home in Elm street, saw the officers coming when it was too late. He ran and locked the front door and refused them admittance, but "Jack" Lynch and Isador Trudel kicked the door off its hinges. Balonis was found endeavoring to disconnect the still.

The man's story runs quite smoothly. He says according to the officers, he is in partnership with another man and is supplying the goods at $3 a gallon. He makes 2 gallons each night or early morning, his usual working hours being from 1 to 5 a. m. Saturday moring, however, is an exception, and thereby came his downfall. On this one morning of the week he gets up a supply for his partner to last over the week end, working until nearly noon. His visitors today were Officers Aldrich, A. Killoy, J. F. Lynch, Trudel, under the supervision of Sergt. Winn, and Federal Officer Harry Holt.

LAWRENCE POLICEMAN GUILTY OF ASSAULT

SALEM, N. H., July 29.—Police Officer Patrick McKenna of Lawrence, Mass., was found guilty of aggravated assault in the municipal court today and was fined $200 and sentenced to one year in the Portsmouth jail, the jail sentence to be suspended, on payment of the fine. Police Officer Patrick F. Ford of Lawrence and Thomas Maguire of that city, were each fined $20 and costs, being found guilty of assault and battery. All of them, involved in a shooting and fist fight between two automobile parties at Hampshire Roads, early in the morning of July 18, appealed.

Five others involved, William Milne of the police officer's party, and Amherst Macartney, George O'Brien, John J. Purcell and Joseph Young of Lawrence, the party in the other car, were found not guilty of assault.

JURY STILL OUT IN OBENCHAIN CASE

LOS ANGELES, July 29—The jury in the second trial of Mrs. Madalynn Obenchain for the alleged murder of her sweetheart, J. Belton Kennedy, a young broker, at Beverly Glen still was undecided early today after having had the case since 4 p. m., yesterday.

The five men and seven women who at 10 o'clock last night retired to rooms prepared for them immediately above the courtroom were reported at that time to stand six to six on a verdict.

While the jury was deliberating, Mrs. Obenchain declared she was confident of acquittal but that the strain was severe.

ROME, July 29.—Two million lire recently sent from the vatican for Russian relief came from an American source, according to some of the newspapers here. It is believed the donor was a New York financier who in forwarding the funds to the pope stipulated his name should not be divulged.

Adventures of the Twins

HOW MRS. FROG L EARNED A LESSON

"THAT SO?" SAID DR. SNUFFLES. "WELL, WELL! I'LL HAVE TO GIVE YOU SOME LEG MEDICINE"

Nancy and Nick overheard Mrs. Robin Frog talking to Mrs. Frog down by the pond.

Mrs. Robin was saying:

"Oh, don't be disappointed about your children, Mrs. Frog. Mine were born without a single feather—bald as door-knobs, my dear! But I went to Dr. Snuffles and he gave me some drops and in three weeks my children were beautiful."

"Oh," said Mrs. Frog eagerly, "do you think it would do my pollywogs any good, Mrs. Robin? Really, I'm almost ashamed of them. They haven't a leg to stand on and, mind you, they've actually got tails like lizards."

"Well," said Mrs. Robin, "I have half a bottle left and you're welcome to it, I'm sure."

The Twins slipped away and told the fairy doctor all about it.

"H'm," said that gentleman thoughtfully. "It's bad business for people to take other folks' medicine! I'll have to give her a little lesson."

Next day Dr. Snuffles presented himself at Mrs. Frog's door and asked about the pollywog children.

"They're fine, thank you," said Mrs. Frog, "only their legs don't grow very fast."

"That so?" said Dr. Snuffles. "Well, well! I'll have to give them some leg medicine. I gave Mrs. Robin's children some feather medicine, and you ought to see them now!"

"Feather medicine!" shrieked Mrs. Frog. "Was that feather medicine she gave me? Goodness! They'll have feathers all over them! Oh, doctor, what shall I do?"

Then Dr. Snuffles kindly, but firmly, gave her a piece of his mind. He told her what not to do thereafter. And that was not to borrow medicine from a neighbor.

Also he said to let her pollywogs alone and they'd grow all the legs they needed and lose their tails as well.

Which they did.

FOUR KILLED IN AIRPLANE WRECK

One American Among Victims of Air Disaster Near Hamburg, Germany

Four Victims When Picked Up Were Found to Have Skulls Crushed

BERLIN, July 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Four persons, one of them an American passenger, R. G. Murrill, of Charlotte, N. C., were killed in the wreck of the German postal airplane which crashed near Bolzenberg, not far from Hamburg, yesterday. The other victims were Albert Baurigan and Senor Cozevergara, Spaniards and Pilot Von Bertram.

The airplane, No. 159, with only these four occupants, left Berlin for Hamburg shortly after 1 p. m. The accident, which happened two hours later, occurred as the plane was flying through a thick cloud over a heavy pine forest. The four victims when picked up were found to have had their skulls crushed. The machine was demolished.

This is the second accident that has occurred on this same route within a fortnight, one of the company's machines having capsized near Hamburg recently, killing Pilot Von Richthofen and injuring two passengers.

BOY SERIOUSLY HURT

William Shea, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Shea of 19 Richmond street, was struck and seriously injured in Lawrence street yesterday afternoon by an automobile truck owned by the Bay State Baking Co. and operated by Thomas O'Loughlin, a minor, living at 117 Crosby street. It is claimed that the driver did not stop after he had struck the Shea lad and was not apprehended by the police until evening, when he called at headquarters.

The Shea boy is at St. John's hospital with a serious head injury that may develop into a skull fracture, a puncture of the stomach and a broken arm. It was said today that he has regained consciousness and that his youthful vitality may pull him through. His name still appears on the dangerous list, however.

O'Loughlin, the operator of the truck claims that he did not stop after the accident because of fear based upon the fact that he did not possess a driver's license.

The accident occurred in Lawrence street near Scripture's laundry. Shea was playing nearby with companions and O'Loughlin claims that he ran out into the street, in front of his truck, from behind another automobile. He claims he was unable to avoid striking him.

The police were notified of the accident and its circumstances and made efforts to locate the driver of the machine. In the early evening, however, O'Loughlin called at the station with Peter Donnelly, of 609 Gorham street, the regular driver of the truck and the latter informed the police that while he was at his home, the O'Loughlin boy drove away in the truck to deliver a few orders and put up the machine in the garage. He also stated that the boy did not disclose his identity after the accident because he did not possess a license and feared arrest. O'Loughlin was not formally arrested, but was told to appear in court today.

WHIST FOR BENEFIT OF ST. MARIE'S CHURCH

The grounds at the home of Mrs. Anna de Lamotte at the corner of Salem and Whiting streets last evening were the scene of an open air whist for the benefit of the proposed new St. Marie's church in South Lowell. The affair was conducted by a committee of parishioners headed by the pastor, Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I., and was a pronounced success.

There were over 200 guests present and all spent a most enjoyable evening. The early part of the evening was taken up with whist, the program being presided over by Maxime Lepine and at the close of the games, which were played on small tables laid on the spacious lawn, suitable prizes were awarded the winners.

While the judges were tabulating

REV. G. OUELLETTE, O.M.I.

the points scored during the game, a varied entertainment program was given, those participating being the Zouaves' orchestra of Notre Dame de Lourdes' parish, Wilfrid Jacques and Prof. L. N. Guilbault. In the course of the evening two refreshment tables located on the lawn did a thriving business, the tables being in charge of Misses Florida and Esma Sylvestre, Leona Lebel, Eva Parent, Gertrude Perreault and Florence Damboise.

At the close of the evening interesting remarks were made by Rev. Fr. Ouellette, who took occasion to thank the large gathering for their co-operation and financial assistance toward such a worthy cause as the erection of a new church, and he also extended his thanks to Mrs. de Lamotte for the free use of her grounds. In behalf of the women of the parish, Fr. Ouellette presented Mrs. de Lamotte a large bouquet of bowers as a mark of appreciation for the services rendered the parish.

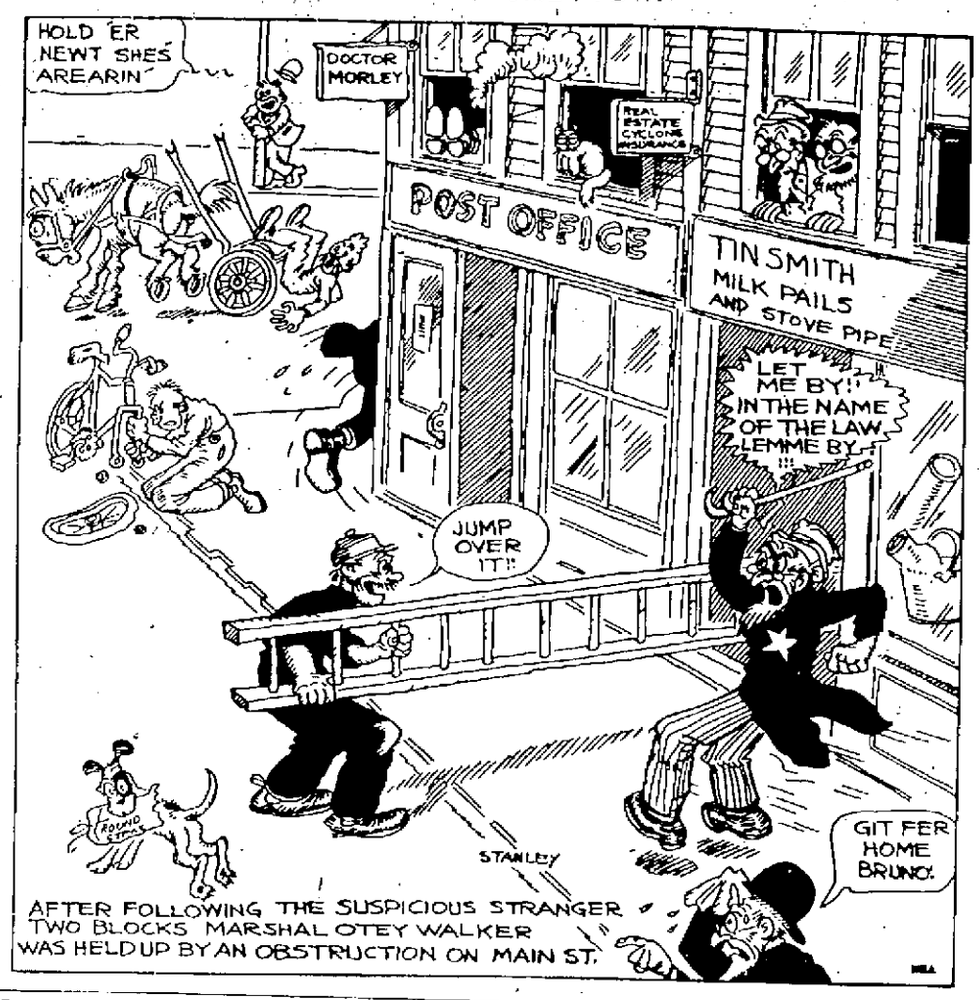

The drawing of the statue of St. Anne, a prize given in connection with the admission tickets, took place, the winner being Miss Cecil Sauvageau. The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I., Mrs. Denis Perreault, Mrs. A. G. Metivier, Mrs. Ferdinand Pronovost, Mrs. William Parent and Mrs. Alfred Damboise. Mr. and Mrs. Zotique Sauvageau were in charge of the ticket booth on the grounds.

MAYOR QUIET ON BOARD OF ASSESSORS

If the mayor has any board of assessors in mind, which he contemplates sending into the city council at its next regular meeting, he is keeping the matter to himself. When asked today if he was going to send in the names of Messrs. Achin, Dwyer and Hogan, he replied that he had nothing to say upon the matter and that all such stories were nothing more than rumor as far as he was concerned.

It was then called to his attention that friends of Albert Dargeron were working in his interests for the mayor's nomination. To this question the mayor also replied that he had nothing to say.

According to a member of the city council, a large French organization is not in favor of Mr. Achin's name being sent to the council by the mayor, but is strongly in favor of having His Honor send down the name of Mr. Bergeron. This member of the council said that he wasn't sure whether either man would be able to muster enough votes to get by.

WILL RESIGN AS CLERK

George F. Toye Plans to Leave District Court Office in October of This Year

Confirmation was given today by George F. Toye, assistant clerk of the district court, of the rumor that he is to resign his position within a few months and return to the practice of law, which he left some few years ago to become ex-Mayor Thompson's secretary; later replacing Edward L. Trull as assistant clerk when the latter was promoted to the position of clerk left vacant by the death of James F. Savage.

October, rather than September as stated in the rumor, is the month in which Mr. Toye intends to sever his connection with the local court. He intended keeping the matter to himself until a much later date, but on telling a few close friends of his decision he found that the report was becoming more and more widespread. Hence, his confirmation of the story today.

Those who have known of his intention have been busy, apparently, selecting his successor, who will be appointed by the justice of the district court. Raymond Bourgeois, acting assistant clerk of court and a favorite with those who visit the clerk's office, and James T. O'Hearn, formerly well known here as an attorney and said to be backed by local contemporaries, are the two candidates most prominently mentioned to succeed Mr. Toye.

AGED COUPLE TO WED TOMORROW

DANBURY, Conn., July 29.—General Stillman F. Kneeland, and Mrs. Eastman Johnson of New York city, who came here five days ago to obtain a marriage license, returned from Pittsfield, Mass., last night and announced that the wedding probably would take place tomorrow morning. The couple were refused a license when they came here because of a Connecticut law which makes it necessary for non-residents to wait five days before the papers can be issued.

The couple left this city when the news of their intended marriage became known and went to Pittsfield, ostensibly to avoid notoriety. While there, Gen. Kneeland said they bought a large tract of farm land where they expect to end their days. Both the general and Mrs. Johnson are more than 70 years old.

OUTINGS HELD AT NEARBY RESORTS

Five truck loads of employes of the Merrimack Chemical Co. of Wilmington passed through Lowell about 9.30 o'clock this morning, en route to the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro, where the annual outing was held. Dinner was served at the grounds, followed by the usual program of sports and games.

The employes of the Houghton and Dutton store of Boston held their annual outing at Silver lake today. The merry party arrived at the lake about 10 a. m. this morning, and swimming and other athletic events were enjoyed by all. The trip from the Hub was made by electric cars.

DEMORALIZATION IN GERMAN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, July 29.—Extreme demoralization was shown in German exchange in this market today, the mark falling to 16½ cents a hundred the lowest quotation ever recorded here. This represented an overnight decline to almost two cents a hundred. The normal, or prewar, price of the mark was 23.8 cents each.

Disappointment over a delay in the settlement of the reparations question, together with troubled state of the German domestic situation, are believed to be responsible for the further depression. The advance in the German bank rate yesterday was also regarded as indicative of the acute financial strain in that country.
